ALEX G. SPANOS

Owner

In his early years, Alex Spanos worked day and night, seven days a week in his father's bakery. His growing family was struggling to make ends meet on $40 a week. In 1951, at the age of 27, the time came for Spanos to make the toughest business decision of his life – to stay in the family business or strike out on his own.

More than 57 years later, Spanos is the founder of one of the leading real estate and development companies in the building industry. He is the founder of A.G. Spanos Companies, one of the nation's largest family-owned construction companies, and his commitment to quality and integrity are imprinted in the daily operation and management of the San Diego Chargers as well as the 10 companies that are wholly owned and managed by the Spanos family.

REALIZING A DREAM

The success of the A.G. Spanos Companies has allowed him to pursue many dreams, including owning a National Football League team.

"I always believed in the pursuit of one's dreams," Spanos said in announcing his intention to buy the team. "For me, it has been a lifelong goal to own an NFL team. In buying the San Diego Chargers, I've been able to realize a dream." On Aug. 1, 1984, the dream became reality.

Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to his oldest son, Dean, in 1994 and it was with great pride in 2006 that Alex decided to step back from the team altogether and become a full-time fan. He enjoys watching sons Dean and Michael along with grandsons A.G. and John guide the Chargers organization to success.

A MODEL BUSINESS

Spanos has made family part of his formula for business success. The A.G. Spanos organization, including the Chargers, is a family-run operation. Son, Dean, serves as president-chief executive officer of the Chargers and president-vice chairman of the Spanos corporate organization. Son, Michael, manages the construction and development activities of the company and is the executive vice president of the Chargers. Dean's two sons – A.G. and John – both hold positions in the Chargers' front office. His daughter Dea's two sons, Dimitri and Lex Economou, are both working for A.G. Spanos Companies. Dimitri works in land acquisitions for the Southern California division and Lex heads the construction division in Denver, Colorado. In addition to the Chargers, the Spanos companies comprise of the following: A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; AGS International Corporation; A.G. Spanos Securities Corporation, A.G. Spanos Ventures and The Spanos Corporation.

GIVING BACK

Spanos' community spirit and generosity have paid countless dividends worldwide.

The Chargers Community Foundation was created and funded by Spanos in 1995 and has delivered more than $8 million to "help San Diego build on its strengths by supporting individuals, activities and organizations that work to make the city a better place to live." It focuses on youth and education and is a major source of community support in San Diego.

Spanos has always been a strong supporter of high school sports in San Diego. He annually sponsors the CIF San Diego Section football championships, allowing the games to be played in Qualcomm Stadium. His backing of the San Diego High School Sports Association and the San Diego County high school all-star football game led to the game being named the Alex Spanos All-Star Football Classic in 1993.

Spanos led the effort to bring Super Bowl XXXVII to San Diego in January 2003. It marked the second time in five years that Spanos had delivered the Super Bowl and focused the world's attention on San Diego. Spanos is credited for using his influence with the NFL and its owners to land Super Bowl XXXII for the City of San Diego, played Jan. 25, 1998. Each game brought close to $300 million to the regional economy.

His leadership also was instrumental in bringing the 1996 Republican National Convention to San Diego, another financial coup for the city.

Here are just a few of the notable gifts from Spanos and the Foundation to San Diego:

- The Foundation's first contribution was a $1.5 million donation to kick off the $6.5 million fundraising effort for the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum.
- In 1998, Spanos announced the creation of the Brooke Humphries Heart Fund in honor of retiring quarterback Stan Humphries. Spanos made a six-figure contribution to San Diego Children's Hospital in Brooke's name. Stan's daughter Brooke underwent major surgery at the hospital to correct a heart birth defect.

- Spanos and his family kicked off the week of Super Bowl XXXII in 1998 with major six-figure contributions to both Children's Hospital and the national Christmas in April program.
- In 1995, Spanos' financial support led to the development of a multi-use sports facility for the Pacific Beach community and the students of Kate Sessions Elementary and The Bishop's School. The Alex G. Spanos Sports Fields were dedicated in 1997.
- In 1994, he kicked off a fundraising telethon for the San Diego Olympic Training Center with another six figure pledge and a challenge to the local community.
- Spanos built the state-of-the-art Alex G. Spanos Athletic and Recreation Building at the University of California-San Diego.
- Children's Hospital benefited as did San Diego County Easter Seals when he served as chairman of their telethons. He also chaired the Loaned Executive campaign drive for United Way/CHAD.
- Following the completion of the national World War II Memorial in Washington D.C., Spanos made it possible for more than 145 WWII vets and their families from Northern California to take a trip to visit the Memorial. Operation Freedom Flight, as it was called, raised $225,000, including nearly $100,000 from Spanos.

In 1998, Spanos generously gave separate $1 million donations to four different institutions in California. His support to his alma mater, the University of the Pacific, improved the stadium, athletic facilities and residence halls for the entire student population.

A similar contribution to Sacramento State's athletic facilities enabled the university to host the 2000 Olympic track and field trials. The same support also went to rebuild the Samuel N. Hancock Christian School, a private school in an urban area of Stockton. In 1997, he gave $1 million to the American Red Cross to help flood victims in Northern California and helped raise an additional $1 million.

Other notable efforts by Spanos include spearheading a 1991 campaign during the Gulf War crisis that raised more than $4.5 million for the USO, the most successful fund-raising event in its history. He also contributed $1.5 million to Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo in 1993 to build a theater for the college that was later named the Alex and Faye Spanos Theatre. He also was the founder and driving force behind seven biennial fund-raising dinners benefiting assorted children's charities, including San Diego Children's Hospital and Health Center, and each dinner neared or topped $1 million.

HONORED FOR GENEROSITY

Organizations across the country and around the world have honored Spanos often for his generosity.

This offseason, Spanos was awarded the Medal of the Commander of the Order of Honor by the President of the Hellenic Republic, Mr. Karolos Papoulias. The honor came in recognition of his assistance and humanitarian contributions to his country of heritage, Greece. Spanos' contributions in support of Greece are endless. Most recently, the list includes a $1 million pledge to the Greek Fire Relief Fund established by the Archdiocese. His financial support also has gone to the country's earthquake relief effort, educational community in the form of scholarships and grants to improve schools, build a new library, and numerous projects focused on the promoting and honoring the rich history and traditions of Greece.

Also this offseason, Spanos was honored by the NFL Alumni with the Order of the Leather Helmet Award for his "substantial contributions to professional football."

Spanos and his wife Faye were appointed by President George W. Bush to the Presidential Delegation to the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. They were joined on the Delegation by Former President George H.W. Bush, Mrs. Barbara Bush, The Honorable Thomas Miller, U.S. Ambassador to Greece; Ms. Barbara Bush, Ms. Jenna Bush and Ms. Chris Evert, former tennis champion. In 2007, he was awarded the medal of Commander of the Order of the Phoenix by the Government of Greece for his many contributions to that country.

In 2004, Alex and Faye also were awarded honorary degrees of Doctor of Humane Letters at the commencement exercises for Hellenic College/Holy Cross. That same year Alex also received a Doctor of Humanities from Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo.

Father Nicholas Triantafilou, President of Hellenic College, notes that "Faye and Alex Spanos represent all that is good about our Greek American heritage and Orthodox faith. At the center of their more than five decades together is the love, respect and honor which they have for each other, their family, their church and the great community in which they live."

Spanos has received many of the nation's and San Diego's most prestigious honors for his commitment to community and humanity, including the Horatio Alger Award, the Ellis Island Medal of Honor, the Gloria Swanson Humanitarian Award, the Grand Cross of Honour by the Supreme Council of Scottish Rite, and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai Brith's National Distinguished Community Service Award for devotion to community and concern for others. Son, Dean, earned the unique distinction of becoming a second generation recipient of the Ellis Island Award in 2002.

Alex has received many of San Diego's top honors for his generosity, including awards given by the Greater San Diego Chamber of Commerce, the San Diego Convention and Visitors Bureau and the San Diego Boys and Girls Clubs.

HIS STORY

These acts of caring demonstrate the commitment of a man who has carved a remarkable career in business and whose dedication to family and community has been an inspiring example for others.

Spanos outlined his lifelong credo of giving back in his autobiography, Sharing the Wealth: My Story, a compelling, first-hand account of the events and decisions in his life that became his basic fundamentals for success. As he reveals in his book, he feels it's a duty and privilege to share his secrets of success.

In the book's foreword, Rush Limbaugh says: "You are about to race through a marvelous and riveting account of a distinctly American life in which the concepts of 'failure' and 'can't' do not apply...Be prepared to be dazzled, informed, entertained, and challenged....This is a book that will change your life forever and for the good."

Spanos was born in 1923 in Stockton, California. He developed his tireless work ethic early, starting at age eight in his father's restaurant, rising before dawn to help prepare pastries before attending school. In 1951, Spanos borrowed $800, purchased a truck and set out on his own.

He began his own catering business and later began investing in real estate. In 1960, he formed the A.G. Spanos Construction Company.

Another side to this complex man was revealed with the help of his close friend Bob Hope. Spanos displayed an entertainer's talent and flair when he lived a childhood dream and danced on stage. Together, Spanos and Hope sang and danced on numerous occasions both in the United States and abroad.

Spanos' acquisition of the Chargers culminated a lifelong interest and involvement in sports. He earned varsity letters in swimming and diving at the University of the Pacific in Stockton and later distinguished himself as an amateur golfer. Spanos was the first person ever to be on the winning team in both the Bob Hope Desert Classic in Palm Desert (1977) and the Bob Hope British Pro-Am (1980).

Alex and his wife, Faye, are celebrating 59 years of marriage this year (Aug. 22). The couple has four children – Dean, Dea (Mrs. Ron Berberian), Alexis (Mrs. Barry Ruhl), and Michael – 15 grandchildren and their first great-grandson born this year. They maintain residences in Stockton and Palm Springs, California, and Tarpon Springs, Florida.

DEAN A. SPANOS

President – Chief Executive Officer

In 1994, Alex Spanos appointed his son, Dean, as President and Chief Executive Officer of the San Diego Chargers. That season turned out to be one of the most memorable in Chargers' history as the team advanced to Super Bowl XXIX.

Under Dean's leadership, the Chargers have reclaimed the mantle as one of the elite teams in the NFL. The past four seasons have seen the Chargers win 48 games, including two playoff games and three AFC West titles while enjoying 30 consecutive regular season and postseason sellouts at Qualcomm Stadium. It's the third-most wins in the NFL over that span.

Spanos has overseen the effort and provided the resources to keep the young and talented roster intact. As of June 2008, 40 of the team's key veterans had been signed or re-signed to new contracts through at least the 2009 season. This continuity, combined with one of the League's youngest and most talented rosters – including 14 players who have earned Pro Bowl berths – points to a bright and winning future for the team.

Dean has spearheaded the effort to make Chargers games the most enjoyable in the NFL, acknowledged in 2006 when the Chargers were named the League's most fan-friendly team by FansVoice.com.

Spanos' personal relationship with San Diego has played a key role in the team's success. Dean and the Spanos family are recognized as one of pro football's most philanthropic families and one of Southern California's most active and caring contributors. His unending financial and emotional support of youth sports and education is unmatched in San Diego.

Spanos' commitment to San Diego and the team is clear. He has dedicated years of effort and millions of dollars to develop a plan to give San Diegans a modern football-only stadium and secure a home for their football team. His leadership of the team and passion for San Diego is undeniable. The reason for this heartfelt bond is clear: Dean has proudly called San Diego home since the day he moved his family to the area in 1984.

DUAL PRESIDENCIES

When his father purchased majority interest in the team on August 1, 1984, Dean became the man behind the scenes for the Chargers while serving as president of all Spanos corporate entities and vice.

Alex turned over the day-to-day operations of the Chargers to Dean in 1994 and in 2006 decided to step back from the team altogether and become a full-time fan, leaving Dean to serve as president of both the Chargers and all Spanos corporate entities. He oversees all business and football operations of the Chargers and also plays a prominent role in League affairs, serving on the NFL's Business Ventures, International and Legislative Committees.

Dean has been working in the family-owned apartment construction and land development business for 35 years. He shares the responsibility with his brother, Michael, for all construction operations nationwide and all financial matters relating to the acquisition and development of projects for the Spanos organization.

CONTINUES TRADITION OF GIVING

In addition to running the football organization, Dean has continued the long-standing tradition of community service and support made famous by the Spanos family and the Chargers.

"My family and I are proud to be a part of the San Diego community," said Spanos. "I'm very fortunate to be in a position to help the people who have been so supportive of the Chargers over the years."

In March 2000, he announced the creation of Chargers Champions, an education and fitness initiative of the Chargers Community Foundation benefiting San Diego County students and schools. Since its inception, 175 outstanding high school juniors have been selected for their outstanding leadership and awarded $7,000 tuition scholarships and laptop computers. Chargers Champions also makes a strong commitment to improving the health of the County's children by providing grants up to $75,000 for physical fitness improvements on school campuses.

This commitment of scholarships and grants exceeds $400,000 annually and $3.5 million over the past nine years.

To date, Spanos' brainchild has provided funding for more than 50 health and fitness projects in local schools, including 15 weight rooms/ fitness centers, eight outdoor playing fields/tracks, 14 fitness trails and a myriad of other projects and programs dedicated to improving the health of San Diego's kids.

Local student athletes received a giant boost in 2000 when the Spanos family and Chargers Community Foundation supplied the initial funding to organize the first-ever freshman football and girls volleyball programs in the 16 San Diego City high schools. This major public-private partnership provides more than 1,000 extracurricular opportunities annually for students.

Youth football in San Diego has known no greater champion than Spanos and the Chargers. Most recently, Spanos' financial support made possible the creation of a new Challenger Division for San Diego's Palomar Pop Warner League. This devotion to youth football led the national organization of Pop Warner to name the Chargers the 2007 Pop Warner NFL Team of the Year.

And the Chargers Community Foundation has helped local deserving organizations over the past 13 years to the tune of $8 million, not counting the many personal contributions by the Spanos family.

Last year when wildfires ravaged San Diego County for the second time in five years, Spanos jumped to the forefront with the single largest donation — $1 million to aid affected families and the recovery effort. He made an identical $1 million contribution immediately following the wildfires that hit the community in 2003. Spanos and the team also collected additional funds for the San Diego Fire Relief Fund, adding another $500,000 to the total in 2003.

Dean also is a strong supporter of San Diego's Police, Fire and Sheriff's departments, providing more than $600,000 in grants and direct assistance in just the last few years. Thanks to Dean's generosity, Critical Communications Centers have been upgraded and new horse patrol trailers and mobile command units for the Police department have been purchased. Wildfire fighting gear has been purchased as has other fire fighting equipment for local agencies. In response to an increase in child abduction cases, Dean hosted and paid for critical law enforcement training classes for the Sheriff's department.

Dean continues to be a major force in the San Diego business and civic communities. He is a major contributor to Children's Hospital, Boys & Girls Clubs of Greater San Diego, Star/Pal, Huntington's Disease Society of America, San Diego State University Campanile Foundation, University of San Diego and the San Diego Police Foundation.

A huge economic benefit to the community came in 1998 when Dean and Alex Spanos secured Super Bowl XXXVII for the City of San Diego. It marked the second time in five years that the City of San Diego enjoyed the huge financial windfall from hosting a Super Bowl. Super Bowl XXXVII in January 2003 brought more than $300 million to the San Diego economy.

COMMUNITY HONORS

Community honors come frequently to Dean and his wife, Susie.

Last year the local Salvation Army named them as their Most Valuable Philanthropists.

Spanos was honored in 2006 with an appointment by President George W. Bush to be a Member of the Board of Trustees of the John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts.

"I am honored that President Bush has entrusted this position to me," Spanos said. "I look forward to playing a role in supporting the nation's most prestigious arts center."

Dean had the unique distinction of being a second-generation recipient of the renowned Ellis Island Medal of Honor in 2002, 16 years after his father was similarly honored. He was also inducted into the DeMolay International Alumni Hall of Fame in 2002. DeMolay International is an organization dedicated to preparing young men to lead successful and productive lives.

Also in 2006, Dean was the honored recipient of the Golden Achievement Award from the Boys & Girls Clubs of San Diego. This recognition was given for Dean's contributions to the Boys & Girls Clubs as well as the San Diego community. Junior Achievement of San Diego also honored Dean that year for his community leadership and specifically for his support of youth education initiatives by inducting him into its Hall of Fame.

The Warner Award, the top honor of the national Pop Warner football organization, was bestowed upon Dean for his commitment to youth football and its Little Scholars education initiative in 2005. The San Diego Chapter of the National Football Foundation also has presented Dean with its highest honor, the Distinguished American Award, and in '04, presented him with the Cota Award for community philanthropy and the support of law enforcement. In 2001, the San Diego Hall of Champions Sports Museum presented Dean and Susie with their Community Champions Award, the Hall's most distinguished award. The couple received the Harold Leventhal Community Service Award in 2003, the top award of the Huntington's Disease Society of America, presented by the national board for their generosity.

BUSINESSMAN AND FAMILY MAN

Dean Alexander Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He earned varsity letters in football and golf at Lincoln High School in Stockton. Dean received the Lincoln High Hall of Fame Award, which honors alumni whose contributions and accomplishments are representative of the school. He was recognized for his achievements in the areas of business and athletics. Dean continued his golfing career at the University of the Pacific in Stockton, California. He graduated in 1972 with a degree in business administration. He maintains close ties with his alma mater, having served as a regent at the University.

An avid golfer since his college years, Dean has been on the winning team in five Pro-Am tournaments, including back-to-back wins in 1990 at the Bob Hope Chrysler Classic and the AT&T National Pro-Am at Pebble Beach with partner Hubert Green. He successfully defended his title at the Hope Classic in 1991. Spanos' first win came with Green at the 1985 Bing Crosby Pro-Am at Pebble Beach, where Dean was awarded the "Most Valuable Amateur" trophy for supplying the most help to his professional partner. Later that year, his second win came in the 1985 Senior Players Reunion Pro-Am in Dallas, where he teamed with Billy Casper.

Susie received one of San Diego's most prestigious awards in 2001 when she was honored as a "Woman of Dedication" by the Salvation Army. She also has been named the Woman of the Year by the San Diego Leukemia Society for her philanthropic work in the community. Susie is active in and on the board of many charitable organizations in San Diego, including the Campanile Foundation at San Diego State University and the San Diego Women's Foundation. She also is an advisory member of Las Patronas. Susie has been a driving force in supporting the San Diego Blood Bank and its umbilical cord blood program, helping the Chargers' annual blood drive become one of the most successful in the nation.

Son Alexander Gus (A.G.) is the Chargers' executive vice president-executive officer. He spent the previous five years as the team's director of marketing programs and business development. He is a graduate of the business school at the University of Southern California. Prior to joining the Chargers full-time in 2001, he worked in the NFL Europe office in London and at the NFL office in New York. As a freshman, A.G. attended Tufts University in Medford, Mass., where he was a member of the football team. In high school, he earned six varsity letters as a two-sport athlete (basketball and football) at La Jolla Country Day School.

Son John Dean is the team's director of college scouting. Previously he was the assistant director after serving as a pro and college scout. John has worked in the organization — mostly in the football personnel department — for 11 years. He graduated from Wake Forest University with a degree in business in 2002. He also interned one summer and later worked one year at the NFL Management Council's office in New York. While at The Bishop's School in La Jolla, John earned nine varsity letters in a variety of sports – football, basketball and golf – and played on three championship teams.

EXECUTIVE STAFF

CHERI PEDERSEN
Executive Assistant to the President

MICHAEL A. SPANOS

Executive Vice President

Michael A. Spanos, 48, became executive vice president of the Chargers in 1995. In that capacity, he assists in the financial and management matters pertaining to the team. Michael joins his father, Owner Alex Spanos, and brother, President-CEO Dean Spanos, in steering the direction of the organization.

As executive vice president of the A.G. Spanos Companies, Michael is responsible for the construction and development activities of the organization around the country. He monitors and oversees the office divisions in the states where the company builds and develops. His responsibilities also extend to the areas of property management, land acquisition, as well as to the preparation of all plans for any future direction and growth of the company's construction and land development activities. From the company headquarters in Stockton, Michael travels regularly across the country to monitor and manage building projects in several states.

Born in Stockton, California in 1959, he attended Lincoln High School and graduated from the University of the Pacific, where he earned a bachelor's degree in business administration. In 1989, Michael was appointed to the Board of Regents at the University of the Pacific, where he served for five years. Michael continues to contribute both his time and resources to the development of several projects involving youth sports and education. He and his wife, Helen, reside with their five children in Stockton, California.

A.G. SPANOS

Executive Vice President—Executive Officer

A.G. Spanos was elevated to executive vice president – executive officer in July, 2008 after serving the past five seasons as the team's director of marketing programs and business development.

Spanos oversees all business operations of the Chargers, including all future business planning and development, and all business departments report directly to him. He also represents the organization at all NFL league and ownership meetings.

Spanos has been a leader behind the scenes in the Chargers' front office, spearheading several key initiatives. Currently he is overseeing the team's plans to celebrate its 50th season and the 50th anniversary of the American Football League in 2009, including all marketing, merchandising and promotional opportunities. He is responsible for coordinating all marketing and promotional content and opportunities on the team's official website, www.Chargers.com, while coordinating all integration between the team and the National Football League and developing and directing the organization's vision for new media and growth on the internet. He also works closely with the team's broadcast partners, both television and radio, in coordinating the overall presentation of the team's official shows. Spanos oversees the Chargers' Hispanic outreach program and youth initiatives program while developing an archiving system to preserve the team's video and photo historical collections. He oversees the Chargers Team Store at Qualcomm Stadium and the On-Line Pro Shop on Chargers.com.

Spanos also coordinated and implemented the development of the team's new logo and marks, including the new uniforms unveiled in 2007.

Before joining the Chargers full-time in 2001, Spanos assisted the director of strategic planning for NFL Europe's London office, analyzing market research for the entire league. While working for the team, he also spent one summer at the NFL League Office in New York learning a wide range of league procedures.

Spanos earned a Bachelor's degree in marketing from the Marshall School of Business at the University of Southern California. He spent one summer completing an internship at KFMB-TV as a production manager while he was attending USC. As a freshman, he played football while attending Tufts University in Medford, Mass.

Spanos was born in Stockton, California and is the oldest son of team President Dean Spanos and his wife Susie. He attended La Jolla Country Day School in La Jolla where he lettered in football and basketball. Spanos resides in La Jolla.

MARK FABIANI

Special Counsel to the President

Mark Fabiani joined the Chargers as Special Counsel to the President in April 2002. In his role with the club, Fabiani's primary function is to work with the greater San Diego community to explore opportunities for a new state-of-the-art football stadium in the San Diego region.

Since joining the Chargers, Fabiani and his La Jolla-based firm, Fabiani & Lehane LLC, has taken the lead in working with taxpayers and fans to create a publicly-acceptable solution to the stadium issue. He also has managed the grassroots effort to solicit ideas from the community.

In 2000, Fabiani served as the deputy campaign manager for communications and strategy for former Vice President Al Gore's presidential campaign—the closest presidential election in modern history. Fabiani was responsible for coordinating the campaign's communications and media strategies and tactics, including for the Vice President's post-election Florida vote count effort. Fabiani also served as the campaign's chief spokesperson, appearing daily on national television broadcasts.

Prior to serving under Gore, Fabiani held the position of special counsel to President Bill Clinton from 1994 through the '96 presidential campaign. Fabiani provided legal, communications and political counsel to the President and First Lady of the United States on allegations and investigations of White-water and other related matters. As part of his duties Fabiani produced and communicated the legal, legislative, and political responses to inquiries from the media, Capitol Hill and investigative agencies. In this role, Fabiani also served as the White House's principle spokesperson before the national media, appearing regularly on major news shows.

Fabiani's experience with complex problem resolution also includes four years of service as deputy mayor of Los Angeles and chief of staff to Los Angeles Mayor Tom Bradley. In that post, Fabiani managed political strategy, media relations, policy analysis and an executive staff of 129 for the mayor. Fabiani directed day-to-day interaction between the mayor's office and the media, general managers of city departments, the City Council, and the city's principle private sector companies and public sector institutions.

Fabiani, who graduated cum laude from Harvard Law School in 1982, also has served in senior positions at the United States Department of Justice and the Department of Housing and Urban Development. As a deputy assistant attorney general at the Justice Department, Fabiani was responsible for policy development for the Attorney General. As deputy assistant secretary at HUD, Fabiani implemented the federal government's Empowerment Zone Initiative for urban revitalization.

Fabiani's firm, Fabiani & Lehane LLC, provides strategic advice and tactical execution to companies and individuals facing complex financial, marketing, communications and legal challenges.

Fabiani was born in Ellwood City, Pennsylvania. He earned a bachelor's degree in philosophy from the University of Redlands. Mark and his family have resided in the San Diego area since 1996.

A.J. SMITH

Executive Vice President—General Manager
24th NFL Season, 10th with Chargers

Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith has assembled one of the NFL's most talented rosters. Named by Forbes Magazine in 2006 as the NFL's top general manager, Smith has overseen a renaissance in San Diego as the Chargers have won two consecutive and three of the last four AFC West titles. Since President and CEO Dean Spanos named Smith as his general manager in 2003, the Chargers have won 50 games, including a franchise-record 14 in '06.

Smith made one of the shrewdest moves of his career when he recommended that Spanos hire Norv Turner as the Chargers' new head coach following the 2006 season. Turner proved to be an astute hire, leading the Bolts to an AFC West title with a record of 11-5 in the regular season before leading the Chargers to within a game of Super Bowl XLII. The Chargers beat the Tennessee Titans in the AFC Wild Card Playoffs, winning their first playoff game since 1995. A week later, they went on the road for the Divisional round and knocked the defending Super Bowl Champion Colts out of the playoffs.

Before the 2007 playoffs began, Spanos rewarded Smith with a five-year contract extension on Jan. 1, 2008 that will keep him with the Chargers through the 2014 season.

Smith has stockpiled a roster full of Pro Bowl players, including a team-record 11 in 2006. Eight Chargers were selected to play in the Pro Bowl following the 2007 season and a ninth, tackle Marcus McNeill whom Smith drafted in the second round in 2006, was added as an alternate. Recent Pro Bowlers acquired by Smith include draftees Shawne Merriman, Nick Hardwick, Nate Kaeding and McNeill; undrafted free agents Kris Dielman, Antonio Gates and Kassim Osgood; and Philip Rivers, who was acquired in a blockbuster 2004 draft-day trade with the New York Giants. In the trade, Smith selected quarterback Eli Manning with the first overall pick and traded him to the Giants for Rivers and draft picks used to select Merriman and Kaeding. Gates (2005-08), Merriman (2006-08), McNeill (2007-08) and Osgood (2007-08) are all players that have been to multiple Pro Bowls as Chargers.

Besides the Rivers deal, Smith has made several noteworthy trades during his Chargers tenure. Last October with the NFL trade deadline approaching, Smith showed his genius by landing wide receiver Chris Chambers from the Miami Dolphins in exchange for a second-round draft choice. Chambers led the team in average yards per catch in both the regular season and the playoffs and the Bolts went 10-3 with him on the roster. Two other veterans whom Smith and the Chargers acquired via trade played huge roles during the Bolts' playoff run. Tight end Brandon Manumaleuna, acquired in a 2006 draft-day trade from the Rams, started nearly every game and quarterback Billy Volek, traded from Tennessee in '06 as well, took over for an injured Philip Rivers in the Divisional Playoffs at Indianapolis and scored the Chargers' game-winning touchdown.

One of the keys to Smith's success in San Diego has been continuity. Under his watch and heading into the 2008 season, the Chargers have a total of veteran 40 players under contract through at least the 2009 season. Of the Chargers' projected starters coming into '08, including special teams, Smith has all but three – guard Mike Goff, defensive end Igor Olshansky and kick returner Darren Sproles – under contract through 2009 or beyond.

Smith took the reins of the Chargers on April 11, 2003 after his close friend and longtime associate John Butler lost a lengthy battle with cancer.

He quickly earned a reputation as one of the NFL's top evaluators of young talent. Just one full year into the job, Smith was named the NFL's 2004 Executive of the Year by Pro Football Weekly, the Professional Football Writers of America (PFWA), FoxSports.com and CBS Sportsline.com. And in 2006 in addition to his selection as Forbes top NFL general manager, the magazine ranked Smith fourth overall among his counterparts in the four major professional sports leagues in the United States and Canada (NFL, NBA, NHL and MLB).

Smith has made his mark through the NFL Draft, selecting at least one player each year that has gone on to earn a selection to the Pro Bowl during his career. The most recent addition to this list is Antonio Cromartie, Smith's top pick in the 2006 NFL Draft who led the NFL and set a team record with 10 interceptions in 2007. Others earning the same distinction include safety Hanik Milligan, who was selected in the sixth round in 2003 and went to the Pro Bowl as a special teams performer in 2006; center Nick Hardwick and kicker Nate Kaeding, who were both selected in the third round in 2004 and played in the 2007 all-star game; linebacker Shawne Merriman, a first-round pick in 2005 who played in the 2006-08 Pro Bowls, and tackle Marcus McNeill, a second-round pick in 2006 who was originally selected as an alternate, but ended up being added to the roster for the 2007 and '08 all-star games. Additionally, punter Mike Scifres, drafted in the fifth round in 2003, has been a Pro Bowl alternate the last four seasons.

Prior to assuming the general manager's role in San Diego, Smith spent the previous 27 years moving methodically through the ranks of professional football. He worked as a part-time scout, full-time scout, assistant director of scouting, director of scouting and assistant general manager before being promoted to executive vice president-general manager of the Chargers.

Indianapolis Colts President Bill Polian: "In football, A.J. has been there and done that with everything there is to do in the game, going back to the USFL days. He is a quintessential football man."

Baltimore Ravens G.M. Ozzie Newsome: "A.J. learned from Bill Polian (Buffalo). He learned from George Allen (USFL). He's been around successful people, so he's learned the right way to do things."

Smith began his second tenure with the Chargers Jan. 18, 2001 as assistant general manager and director of pro personnel. His duties included monitoring NFL transactions, evaluating pro talent, and handling tryouts and free agent contracts.

Smith has worked in pro football since 1977, including three years in the United States Football League in the early 1980s. He spent 14 seasons (1987-2000) with the Buffalo Bills, joining the team as an area scout in 1987 before being named assistant director of college scouting in 1989. In 1993, Smith became director of pro personnel.

During his tenure in Buffalo, which are referred to as the "Glory Years" in Bills history, Smith worked closely with Hall of Fame coach Marv Levy as the team's assistant director of college scouting. And during that time, Buffalo made appearances in Super Bowls XXV, XXVI and XXVII. Smith was promoted to director of pro personnel prior to the Bills' appearance in Super Bowl XXXVIII.

Smith served as the Chargers pro personnel director from 1985-86. He also held scouting positions with the USFL's Chicago Blitz (1982-83) and Pittsburgh Maulers (1984). He began his NFL career in 1977 as a volunteer part-time scout for the New York Giants under the direction of Jim Trimble and moved on to become a part-time scout for the New England Patriots (1978-1980) and Houston Oilers (1981).

Smith made his start in football as an assistant coach at Cranston West High School in Cranston, Rhode Island from 1971-76. He was the head coach of the Rhode Island Kings of the Eastern Football League in 1976 and an assistant coach at the University of Rhode Island in 1978.

Smith is a graduate of Bishop Hendricken High School in Warwick, Rhode Island. He was a standout on the football and track teams and was inducted into the school's hall of fame in 2003. Smith earned a degree in health and physical education from Kentucky Wesleyan College in 1971. In June 2005, Smith returned to his alma mater for the dedication and presentation of a plaque in his honor, which hangs in the A.J. Smith Weight Room inside the Woodward Health and Recreation Center.

Smith played semi-pro football as a wide receiver with the Attleboro (Mass.) Kings of the Eastern Football League from 1972-74 and had a tryout with the Washington Redskins in 1974. He was inducted into the American Football Association's Minor/Semi-pro Football Hall of Fame in 1990. Smith also taught health and physical education in the Providence (R.I.) junior high school system from 1971-1985.

Smith and his wife, Susan, reside in Sorrento Valley. Smith, who is of Irish descent, was honored by the Irish Congress of Southern California with an invitation to serve as the Grand Marshal for San Diego's 28th Annual St. Patrick's Day Parade in March.

The Smiths have two children, a daughter, Andrea, and a son, Kyle.

Andrea graduated cum laude from Cortland State in New York with a degree in sports management. She was an honorable mention All-America volleyball player for the Red Dragons, who was also named Most Valuable Player of the State University New York Athletic Conference (SUNYAC), team MVP and team captain. Andrea now lives in Los Angeles and is an account manager of premium seating services for AEG, Staples Center and NOKIA Theatre L.A. Live.

Kyle had an outstanding football career at Youngstown State. He was a wide receiver and punt returner who set a school record with a reception in 30 consecutive games. Kyle left the Youngstown, Ohio campus ranked ninth in school history with 101 career catches; 11th with 1,536 receiving yards, and third with 56 punt returns and 377 punt return yards.

As a senior, Kyle was the Penguins' Most Valuable Player and a team captain. Following his senior season, he was invited to play in the 2006 Hula Bowl All-Star Game.

Since leaving YSU, Kyle has been pursuing a professional career. He spent time with the Minnesota Vikings (2006) and Tampa Bay Buccaneers (2007). In 2007, the Buccaneers allocated him to NFL Europa where he played for the Berlin Thunder. He was released by the Buccaneers before the regular season and is currently on the practice squad for the Arena Football League's Arizona Rattlers.

ED McGUIRE

Executive Vice President of Football Operations–Assistant General Manager

21st NFL Season, 11th with Chargers

Ed McGuire was promoted to executive vice president of football operations in 2007. In 2008, he added the role of assistant general manager.

It has been a steady ascent for McGuire, who joined the Chargers in 1998 as coordinator of football operations. McGuire is in charge of all football operations for the Chargers. He oversees player contract negotiations as well as the day-to-day business and administrative operations of the scouting department, coaching department, equipment and video departments, training staff, and strength and conditioning staff.

One of McGuire's key roles involves serving as the chief negotiator for all player contracts. The Chargers have made a concerted effort to re-sign their own players and McGuire has played an integral role in the process. Since A.J. Smith was promoted to General Manager in 2003, the Chargers have worked 31 new deals with their own players. Not counting the Bolts' 2008 rookie class, the Chargers have 13 players under contract through the 2009 season, 16 signed through 2010, six more through 2011 and five through 2012.

One of McGuire's personal career milestones was in 2004, when he negotiated an eight-year contract extension for 2006 NFL MVP and two-time reigning NFL rushing champion, LaDainian Tomlinson. At the time, LT's deal was the largest contract ever signed by a running back in NFL history.

McGuire served as the Senior Manager of Labor Operations for the NFL's Management Council from 1996-98. Prior to that, he was the league's Manager of Player Personnel from 1991-96. He originally joined the NFL in 1987 as a Player Personnel Analyst. Before coming to the NFL, McGuire worked in the personnel department for the United States Football League from 1984-86.

During his tenure in the league office, McGuire became a leading expert on the NFL's salary cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement, created in 1993 between the NFL and the NFL Players' Association.

Born in Riverhead, New York, McGuire graduated with a degree in athletic administration in 1984 from St. John's University in Jamaica, New York. He played football and baseball at Riverhead High School.

McGuire and his wife, Jane, have two children, son Kevin and daughter Shannon, and reside in Rancho Bernardo.

NORV TURNER

Head Coach
24th NFL Season, 3rd with Chargers

February 19, 2007 marked a new chapter in Chargers football when President Dean Spanos introduced Norv Turner as the new head coach of the San Diego Chargers.

In 2007, Turner became only the sixth head coach in NFL history to lead his team to a Championship Game in his first season at the helm. During the regular season, Turner won 11 games for the first time in his coaching career, leading the Chargers to an 11-5 mark. He joined Bobby Ross (1992) as the only coaches in team history to win the AFC West in their first seasons. Turner also became the first Chargers coach since Ross (1994) to win a postseason game. He was 2-1 in the '07 postseason to improve his career playoff record to 3-2. Following the Chargers' Divisional Playoff win over the Colts, Turner was named Coach of the Week by Sports Illustrated.com's Peter King.

Turner delivered one of the best coaching performances of his career in October when he led the Bolts to a 35-10 win over the Houston Texans at the conclusion of the week that wildfires devastated San Diego and forced the team to flee to Arizona for a three-day midweek sabbatical to practice. Following that game, Turner was named Motorola NFL Coach of the Week by voters on NFL.com. Earlier in the season, he was tabbed as the Genius of the Week by USA Today.com following the Chargers' 41-3 dismantling of Denver Oct. 7 at Invesco Field that halted a three-game losing streak.

LaDainian Tomlinson put it best when asked to describe Turner's demeanor during the Chargers' up-and-down season. "He never changed. He never blinked at times when he was getting criticized for different things that were going on. He never made us feel like he wasn't confident in what he could do and what this team could do."

En route to winning the AFC West in 2007, the Chargers defeated all three of their division opponents away from home. It was the first time that happened since 1994 when the Chargers beat the Raiders, Broncos, Chiefs and Seattle Seahawks away from home.

Among the Chargers' achievements in 2007 under Turner:

- Tomlinson won the NFL's rushing title and scored a league-leading 15 rushing touchdowns.
- The Chargers rushed for 2,039 yards and ranked seventh in the NFL in rushing offense.
- The Chargers went 5-0 in December.
- The Chargers scored 412 points in the regular season, their fourth-straight year (2004-07) of scoring at least 400 points. It's the longest stretch of 400-point seasons in team history.
- The Chargers were the NFL's second-highest scoring team in the first quarter (119) and its third-highest scoring in the first half (235).
- In the first quarter of home games during the regular season, the Chargers outscored their opponents 81-0, becoming only the second team in the NFL since 1982 (Tampa Bay, 2001) to hold its opponents scoreless at home in the first quarter. The 81-point scoring disparity in the first quarter at home was the largest in NFL history.
- During the regular season, the Chargers led the entire NFL in touchdowns (nine) and total scoring drives (11) on their first offensive possession of the third quarter. That trend continued in the playoffs as the Chargers scored on their first possession of the third quarter in all three of the team's playoff contests.

When Tomlinson won the NFL's rushing title in 2007, he became the third different running back to win an NFL crown in Turner's 17 seasons as a head coach and/or offensive coordinator. Tomlinson joined Dallas' Emmitt Smith (1991-93) and Miami's Ricky Williams (2002) among Turner's rushing champions.

Known as an offensive mastermind, Turner was the Chargers' offensive coordinator in 2001 and installed the same offense that the team currently runs.

A two-time Super Bowl Champion as the offensive coordinator for the Dallas Cowboys, Turner spent the 2006 season as the offensive coordinator in San Francisco, where he was credited with the development of 49ers' quarterback Alex Smith. Under Turner's guidance, Smith posted a passer rating of 74.8 and he passed for 2,890 yards and 16 touchdowns while completing 58 percent of his attempts. As a rookie in 2005 prior to Turner's arrival, Smith passed for just 875 yards, throwing only one touchdown pass and 11 interceptions for a rating of only 40.8. Smith's 34-point increase in his passer rating from his rookie season to the next is the greatest in NFL history, bettering the previous mark of 33.6 points by Bert Jones of the Baltimore Colts from his rookie season of 1973 to '74.

Turner also breathed life into the 49ers' running game as second-year back Frank Gore had a breakout season. Gore was selected to play in the Pro Bowl after leading the NFC and ranking third in the NFL with 1,695 yards. He scored eight touchdowns and averaged 5.4 yards per carry, highest among the league's top 20 rushers.

During Turner's first season with the Chargers as offensive coordinator in 2001, he was credited with improving San Diego's offensive ranking 17 spots as the Bolts climbed from 28th to 11th in total offense. The 2001 season was Tomlinson's first in the NFL and he finished the year as the runner-up for the Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year Award. LT led all NFL rookies with 1,236 yards rushing, 10 touchdowns and 59 catches. With Turner calling the offensive plays, the Chargers finished the 2001 season with a 3,000-yard passer (Doug Flutie); 1,000-yard rusher (Tomlinson), and 1,000-yard receiver (Curtis Conway) for only the second time in team history.

Turner's 23 years of coaching experience include 10 as a head coach — seven for the Washington Redskins (1994-2000) and two with the Oakland Raiders (2004-05). He spent 13 seasons as an NFL assistant coach, including seven as an offensive coordinator with the Dallas Cowboys (1991-93), Chargers (2001), Miami Dolphins (2002-03) and 49ers (2006).

Turner began his NFL coaching career as an assistant with the Los Angeles Rams in 1985. He coached wide receivers from 1985-86 before adding the responsibility of the team's tight ends from 1987-1990. In Los Angeles, Turner tutored under Offensive Coordinator Ernie Zampese, a disciple of the "Air Coryell" offense. Zampese taught Turner the ins and outs of the offensive system made famous by former San Diego Chargers Head Coach Don Coryell.

Turner blossomed into one of the NFL's top offensive coaches during his three seasons in Dallas. Serving under head coach Jimmy Johnson, the Cowboys won back-to-back Super Bowls (XXVII and XXVIII) following the 1992 and '93 seasons. Turner worked with three Hall of Famers in Dallas: Smith, quarterback Troy Aikman and wide receiver Michael Irvin.

Turner almost single-handedly resurrected Aikman's career in Dallas. In the two seasons before his arrival, Aikman threw 20 touchdown passes while being intercepted a whopping 36 times. In his first season in Turner's offense, Aikman posted the first positive touchdown-to-interception ratio of his career and led the Cowboys to the NFC Divisional Playoff round. Then in 1992, his second year under Turner, Aikman passed for a career-high 3,445 yards with 23 touchdowns and 14 interceptions in leading Dallas to a 13-3 record and its first NFC East title since 1985. Aikman directed the Cowboys to three-straight postseason wins and was named the Most Valuable Player in Dallas' 52-17 Super Bowl XXVII win over the Buffalo Bills. The following year, Aikman completed a franchise-record 69.1 percent of his passes, while passing for 3,100 yards with 15 TDs and only six INTs en route to leading the Cowboys to a second-consecutive Super Bowl win over the Bills. When Aikman was enshrined in the Hall of Fame in 2006, he asked Turner to be his presenter.

In addition to Aikman's success, Smith led the NFL in rushing all three years under Turner, and twice, tight end Jay Novacek led all NFL tight ends in receiving.

Catapulting off his success in Dallas, Turner was named the head coach of the Washington Redskins in 1994. It was his first-ever head coaching assignment. He ended up spending seven years in Washington, leading the Redskins to four winning seasons, including a 10-6 NFC East championship season in 1999, their first division title since 1991. Turner's '99 squad beat Detroit in an NFC Wild Card Playoff game before falling to Tampa Bay in the divisional playoff round. Turner finished his career with a record 49-59-1 in Washington. He was released by the Redskins in 2000 with three games remaining and the team owning a 7-6 mark.

During his tenure in Washington, Turner was a mentor to two Pro Bowl quarterbacks. In 1996, Gus Frerotte became an all-star after passing for 3,453 yards and 12 touchdowns while leading the Skins to a 9-7 record. In 1999, Brad Johnson earned a Pro Bowl nod after passing for 4,005 yards, just the second 4,000-yard season in club history. Johnson led the NFC in passing yards and threw 24 touchdown passes while leading the 'Skins to an NFC East title. Trent Green, who also played for Turner in Washington in 1998, passed for 3,441 yards that season, giving Norv three different 3,000-yard passers in a four-year stretch.

After spending the 2001 season with the Chargers, Turner spent two seasons (2002-03) as the assistant head coach and offensive coordinator in Miami. The Dolphins went 9-7 in 2002 and 10-6 in 2003 with Turner calling the plays. Ricky Williams rushed for a combined 3,225 yards and 25 touchdowns in those two seasons for the Dolphins. He posted the two highest single-season rushing totals in team history, winning the NFL's rushing title with 1,853 yards in 2002 and then going for 1,372 yards in 2003.

Turner brought plenty of offensive firepower to the Bay Area during his two years (2004-05) as the head coach of the Chargers' biggest rival, the Raiders. In 2004, Kerry Collins passed for 3,495 yards and 21 touchdowns, while leading receiver Jerry Porter just missed out on a 1,000-yard season as he caught 64 balls for 998 yards and nine scores. In 2005 though, Collins was part of a unique trio as he, Randy Moss and LaMont Jordan accounted for 3,000 yards passing, 1,000 yards receiving and 1,000 yards rushing. Collins passed for 3,759 yards and 20 TDs, while Moss led the team with 1,005 yards and eight touchdowns, and Jordan rushed for a team-high 1,025 yards and nine scores. Porter just missed out again on a 1,000-yard season, as he accumulated 942 yards and five scores while leading the team with 76 catches.

Turner was born in the Bay Area suburb of Martinez, California, the same city that produced baseball legend Joe DiMaggio. He grew up the middle of five children, all of whom were raised by his mother, Vicky, a single parent. Vicky battled multiple sclerosis, spending the latter years of her life in a wheelchair before her passing in 1989. Vicky steered her sons into sports. Norv's younger brother, Ron, followed in his footsteps, excelling on the collegiate gridiron before entering the coaching profession. Ron is now the offensive coordinator for the Chicago Bears. Like his father and uncle, Norv's eldest son, Scott, has also joined the coaching ranks. A former high school coach in Virginia, Scott accepted a position in 2008 as a graduate assistant for the offense on Dave Wannstedt's staff at the University of Pittsburgh.

In his own playing days, Norv was a quarterback and safety as at Alhambra High School in Martinez. He landed a scholarship to the University of Oregon and earned three varsity letters (1972-74) as quarterback for the Ducks. He spent two of his three seasons in Eugene playing behind former Charger and NFL Hall of Fame QB Dan Fouts. Two of the assistant coaches on Oregon's staff included future NFL coaches John Robinson and George Siefert. In a precursor to the rest of his career, Turner graduated from Oregon in 1975 and spent the following season as a graduate assistant with the Ducks.

In 1976, Turner moved on to the University of Southern California where he spent the next nine seasons as the Trojans' wide receivers coach (1976-79), defensive backs coach (1980), quarterbacks coach (1981-83) and offensive coordinator (1984). In 1980, he tutored what is regarded by many as one of the finest defensive backfields in college football history. It included safeties Ronnie Lott and Dennis Smith, both of whom went on to become NFL first-round draft choices (1981). Also playing in that backfield was Tennessee Titans Head Coach Jeff Fisher, who was selected in the seventh round of the '81 draft. During Turner's nine-year tenure at USC, the Trojans played in four Rose Bowls, winning all four. One of those was a win over Michigan after the 1978 season that capped a 12-1 season and gave Southern Cal the national championship.

Turner and his wife, Nancy, have three children — Scott, Stephanie and Drew. Stephanie is an actress living in Los Angeles and Drew is a freshman at the University of San Diego.

ASSISTANT COACHES

CLARENCE SHELMON
Offensive Coordinator
18th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

After spending 16 seasons solidifying his reputation as one of the NFL's top running backs coaches, Clarence Shelmon was promoted to offensive coordinator in 2007. In his first season manning this new post, the Chargers won the AFC West and advanced to their first AFC Championship Game since 1994. Even with his new position, Shelmon still has a tremendous hand in the Chargers' run game. Once again in 2007, the Chargers rubbed elbows with the NFL's rushing elite, racking up 2,039 yards to rank seventh in the league. It was the Chargers' sixth-consecutive 2,000-yard season. That's the longest active streak of 2,000-yard seasons in the NFL and Shelmon has had a hand in each of them.

LaDainian Tomlinson, who last year won his second consecutive NFL rushing title, and former fullback Lorenzo Neal both were selected to the Pro Bowl following the 2007 season. It was Tomlinson's fourth-straight Pro Bowl and Neal's third. In 17 seasons as both a running backs coach and now offensive coordinator, Shelmon has sent a total of 12 backs to the Pro Bowl. Tomlinson has played in five career Pro Bowls and all five have come under Shelmon's watch.

In 2006, his last season as running backs coach, Shelmon had a front row seat to witness history as Tomlinson was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year. The Chargers set a team record by rushing for 2,578 yards and Tomlinson won his first league rushing title with 1,815 yards. He also set NFL records for rushing touchdowns (28), total touchdowns (31) and points in a season (186), while racking up 2,323 total yards from scrimmage, the sixth-most in a season in NFL history.

Shelmon has several unique coaching techniques specifically geared toward running backs, including a ball-control drill that involves running to three different cones with a football attached to a giant bungee cord.

Prior to his arrival in San Diego, Shelmon spent four seasons (1998-2001) as the running backs coach for the Dallas Cowboys where he worked with Emmitt Smith, the NFL's all-time leading rusher and a future Hall of Famer. Smith played in Pro Bowls following the 1998 and '99 seasons. Under Shelmon's tutelage, Smith accumulated 4,953 yards and in 2002 became the NFL's all-time leading rusher, moving past the legendary Walter Payton. Smith rushed for 1,000 yards or more in each of his four seasons under Shelmon.

Shelmon was the running backs coach for the Seattle Seahawks from 1992-97. During that time, the Seahawks finished among the NFL's top five in rushing four out of six seasons. Shelmon helped running back Chris Warren, the Seahawks' all-time leading rusher, become a four-time 1,000-yard rusher (1992-95) and earn three trips to the Pro Bowl.

Shelmon began his NFL coaching career in 1991 as the running backs coach for the Los Angeles Rams.

He made the jump to the NFL coaching ranks after spending four seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Southern California. During Shelmon's tenure the Trojans made three consecutive Rose Bowl appearances, including a victory over Michigan in 1990.

Shelmon was born in Bossier City, Louisiana. He graduated from Airline High School and played collegiately at the University of Houston. He lettered twice as a running back. Shelmon graduated from Houston with a bachelor's degree in education. He also attended Long Island University where he worked toward a master's degree in guidance and counseling.

In 1999 Shelmon and his wife, Nancy, created a scholarship fund in memory of his mother, Ruby Shelmon. The fund helps pay for the college education of two high school seniors from his hometown.

TED COTTRELL
Defensive Coordinator
24th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

On the same day that the Chargers hired Norv Turner as the team's new head coach, Turner hired his first assistant when he tabbed veteran NFL defensive coach Ted Cottrell to take over as the Chargers' defensive coordinator.

Cottrell has logged 23 seasons in the NFL as a defensive coordinator, assistant head coach, linebackers coach and defensive line coach. He's a proven teacher and leader of winning defenses whose background includes a strong foundation in the 3-4 attacking-style defense that allowed the Chargers to rank fifth the NFL in sacks in 2007. During his career as a defensive coordinator, eight players who have played under Cottrell have recorded seasons with 10-or-more sacks, including Shawne Merriman in 2007, and 13 different players have been selected to play in a total of 17 Pro Bowls, including Merriman, Jamal Williams and Antonio Cromartie in '07.

Cottrell's first season in San Diego was an overwhelming success. The Chargers led the NFL in turnover margin (+24) during the regular season, marking the first time since 1993 that they led the league in that category. The takeaway trend continued in the playoffs where the Chargers' +4 turnover margin ranked second to the Super Bowl Champion New York Giants.

During the regular season, the Bolts led the NFL in takeaways (48) and interceptions (30). It was the first time a Chargers team ever led the NFL in either category. The Bolts' 30 picks were the team's most since 1969. The Chargers scored 128 pts off turnovers in the regular season, second-most in the NFL. San Diego's 48 takeaways in 2007 were the most in the NFL since Baltimore had 49 in 2000. The Bolts' stellar defensive play carried on into the postseason where the Chargers again led the NFL in takeaways (eight) and interceptions (six).

Thanks in part to their prowess in forcing turnovers, San Diego's defense led the NFL in opponent passer rating (70.0) during the regular season. It was the first time the Chargers ever led the NFL in that category. In the playoffs, the Chargers' 76.7 opponent passer rating was fourth-best among the 12 playoff teams.

With Cottrell at the helm of the defense, the Chargers became only the second team in the league since 1982 (Tampa Bay, 2001) to hold its opponents scoreless at home in the first quarter. The Chargers outscored their opponents 81-0 in the first quarter at Qualcomm Stadium, the largest scoring disparity in the first quarter at home in NFL history. It surpassed the previous mark of 79 points, which was set back in 1921 by the Buffalo All-Americans (83-6). Another mark the Chargers set at home was allowing only 10 total touchdowns (rushing and receiving) the entire season, tied with Pittsburgh for the fewest in the league.

Overall during the regular season, the Chargers allowed the NFL's fourth-fewest points (tie) in the first quarter (47) and the third-fewest in the first half (131).

Demonstrating his ability to make key halftime adjustments, Cottrell's defensive unit ended their opponents' first drive of the third quarter with a punt or a turnover 12 times in 16 games, which tied with Miami for the second-highest total in the NFL. That trend continued in the playoffs with the Chargers recording two interceptions and a punt on their opponents opening drives of the third quarter.

Some of Cottrell's most successful seasons came during his six-year run in Buffalo from 1995-00. The Bills posted a 55-41 record, won three AFC East titles and made four trips to the playoffs. In 1995, his first season back in Buffalo, linebacker Bryce Paup led the league with 17.5 sacks and was named the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year.

During Cottrell's three seasons as defensive coordinator (1998-00), Buffalo finished no worse than sixth in the league in total defense. They ranked sixth in 1998 and third in 2000. In 1999, the Bills led the league in total defense, allowing just 252.8 yards per game.

In 2001, Cottrell left Western New York and headed east to join the New York Jets as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator. Although the Jets operated out of the "Tampa 2" 4-3 scheme favored by Head Coach Herman Edwards, New York finished Cottrell's first season ranked second in the league with 39 takeaways and earned a Wild Card playoff berth. A year later in 2002, the Jets started the season 1-4, but their opportunistic defense sparked a turnaround that saw New York return to the playoffs.

In his last coaching stop before coming to San Diego, Cottrell spent two seasons (2004-05) as the defensive coordinator for the Minnesota Vikings. In '05, the Vikings finished fifth in the NFL in takeaways and earned a postseason berth, defeating the Green Bay Packers in a Wild Card contest.

Cottrell enjoyed a four-year professional playing career. He was a seventh-round draft pick of the Atlanta Falcons in 1969 and spent two seasons playing linebacker in Atlanta. He concluded his playing career with a two-year stint with the Canadian Football League's Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

After his playing career ended, Cottrell spent eight years coaching at Rutgers University. In 1981, he landed his first NFL job when Marv Levy hired him to coach linebackers for the Kansas City Chiefs. Cottrell was born in Chester, Pennsylvania. He starred at Delaware Valley College from 1965–68. Ted is married (Kathleen). His son T.J. is a former tight end who went to training camp with the Chargers as a free agent in 2007.

CLANCY BARONE

Tight Ends
5th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Clancy Barone had a very good first season as the Chargers' tight ends coach in 2007. His star pupil, Antonio Gates, was the team's leading receiver and earned another Pro Bowl nod. Gates' nine touchdown catches not only led the Chargers, but were the second-most among all NFL tight ends, while his 75 catches and 984 yards ranked fourth.

Barone arrived in San Diego from Atlanta where he was the tight ends coach from 2005-06 and the assistant offensive line coach in 2004. In Atlanta, Barone tutored another Pro Bowl tight end, Alge Crumpler, who was the Falcons' leading receiver both seasons working with Barone. In those two seasons, Crumpler combined to catch 121 passes for 1,657 yards and 13 touchdowns.

Barone has 22 years of coaching experience, including 17 at the collegiate level. During his college coaching career, 27 offensive lineman who played for him signed NFL contracts. Barone coached five Outland Award semifinalists and three Rimington Award semifinalists.

With Barone serving as the assistant head coach and offensive coordinator at Texas State University in 2003, the Bobcats ranked seventh in the nation in total offense and set 11 school offensive records.

Barone spent three years (2000-02) as the offensive coordinator and offensive line coach at the University of Houston and in 2002 he was named Offensive Line Coach of the Year by the National Offensive Line Coaches Association (NOLCA). The Cougars ranked fifth in the nation in rushing that year and set 17 offensive school records.

Barone was born in San Andreas, California and attended Red Bluff (Calif.) High School, where he was a four-sport star. He went on to play offensive line at the University of Nevada and Sacramento State. Clancy and his wife, Rosie, have three children: Gianna, Stefano and Isabella.

BILL BRADLEY

Secondary
17th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Bill Bradley, a former NFL All-Pro and ball-hawking safety for the Philadelphia Eagles, is back for his second season as the Chargers' secondary coach. The results of his first campaign will be hard to top.

Under Bradley, the Chargers led the NFL in interceptions (30) during the regular season for the first time in team history. The Bolts also led the league in picks during the playoffs with six. The Bolts' 30 interceptions in the regular season were the most by a San Diego defense in 38 years (1969). The Chargers also led the NFL in total takeaways (48) and turnover margin (+24). Where the Chargers' defense was most impressive however was early in the third quarter. Demonstrating their ability to make key halftime adjustments, the Chargers' four interceptions on their opponents' first drive of the third quarter were also a league-high. That trend continued in the playoffs with the Chargers intercepting their opponents on the first drive of the third quarter in both the Divisional Playoffs and the AFC Championship Game.

Thanks in part to their prowess in forcing turnovers, the Bolts' defense also led the NFL in opponent passer rating (70.0) during the regular season. It was the first time the Chargers ever led the NFL in that category. In the playoffs, the Chargers' 76.7 opponent passer rating was fourth-best among the 12 playoff teams.

Bradley's last NFL posts before joining the Chargers were with the Buffalo Bills (1998-00) and New York Jets (2001-03). He was the defensive backs coach for both teams and in Buffalo and New York, he worked on the same staff as the Chargers' current defensive coordinator, Ted Cottrell.

In Buffalo, Bradley's secondary led the NFL in pass defense in 1999 and ranked fourth in 2000. Buffalo made the playoffs following the 1998 and '99 seasons. During two of Bradley's three seasons in New York, the Jets ranked in the NFL's top 10 in pass defense, finishing seventh in 2001 and 10th in 2003. The Jets made the playoffs as a Wild Card team in 2001 and won AFC East in 2002. In 2003, the Jets' defense held the Indianapolis Colts scoreless in a 41-0 AFC Wild Card victory.

Bradley left the NFL after the 2003 season to return to his native Texas and serve as the defensive coordinator at Baylor University. In 2005, Baylor ranked 13th in the nation in pass efficiency and allowed the fewest total yards, rushing yards and points per game by a Bears' squad since 1995.

A native of Palestine, Texas, Bradley was a high school All-America quarterback and defensive back who led his team to the 1965 state title. He went on to a standout collegiate career as a quarterback, defensive back and punter/holder at the University of Texas, serving as a tri-captain as a senior on the Longhorns' 1968 team that finished the season 9-1-1. That '68 team captured a share of the Southwest Conference championship and beat Tennessee in the Cotton Bowl, 36-13. The Longhorns finished the year ranked third in the final AP poll and fifth in the season-ending UPI poll. In his final regular season game against arch-rival Texas A&M, Bradley set a school single-game record with four interceptions in the Longhorns' 35-14 win over the Aggies, a mark that stands as the best-ever by a SWC performer.

Selected in the third round of the 1969 NFL Draft by the Eagles as a punter/player, Bradley went on to earn three All-Pro awards (1971-73) at free safety. In addition to punting, he also saw time as the Eagles' kick returner. Bradley, who led the NFL in interceptions in both 1971 (11) and 1972 (nine), became the first player ever to lead the league in interceptions in consecutive seasons, a feat that has been matched just one time since. Bradley still holds the team record for career interception return yards (536). He also set Philadelphia's single-season marks for interceptions (11) and return yards (249) in 1971. Bradley shares the Eagles' all-time interception record (34) with Eric Allen.

Bradley played in a total of 114 NFL games, spending the 1969-76 seasons with the Eagles and the 1977 campaign with both the Minnesota Vikings and St. Louis Cardinals.

Bradley is a member of the Texas High School, the University of Texas and the Philadelphia Eagles Halls of Fame. He and his wife, Susan, have two children: Matthew and Carissa.

STEVE CROSBY

Special Teams
31st NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Steve Crosby's troops had yet another memorable season in 2007.

Kassim Osgood, a fearless cover man, was selected to his second-straight Pro Bowl. It marked the third year in a row that one of Crosby's coverage specialists earned an all-star invitation.

Punter Mike Scifres was named as a first-alternate to the Pro Bowl for the third time in the last four years after averaging a career-high 46.1 yards per punt. It was the second-highest season average in team history. His 39.6-yard net punting average was the NFL's third best, while his 36 punts inside the 20 were the league's second-best. Due to the combination of Scifres' leg and the Bolts' outstanding coverage units, the Chargers only allowed 29 punts to be returned, the seventh-fewest in the NFL.

Also earning Pro Bowl alternate honors was Darren Sproles, a second-alternate who was the NFL's fifth-leading kickoff returner and its seventh leading punt returner. In the Chargers nationally televised Nov. 11 game against Indianapolis, Sproles became only the ninth player in NFL history to return a punt and a kickoff for a touchdown in the same game.

Long snapper David Binn, who earned his first Pro Bowl nod in 2006, followed it up with another flawless season and kicker Nate Kaeding, who also garnered his first all-star nod in '06, went 24 of 27 on field goal tries to rank fifth in the league in conversion percentage. Rookie linebacker Brandon Siler led the team in special teams tackles and his 23-yard return of a fumbled kickoff Week 5 at Denver gave the Chargers a 14-0 early lead and helped pave the way for an important 41-3 win at Invesco Field that put the brakes on a three-game losing streak.

Following the 2007 season, Crosby was named Special Teams Coach of the Year by Professional Kicking Services, Inc., an independent organization that arranges NFL free agent tryouts for punters and kickers.

Crosby has spent 30 years in the NFL, including three seasons as a player, four as a scout and 23 as a coach. He is among a rare breed of NFL coaches, ranking among the few who can claim to have spent time as a coordinator at multiple positions. Crosby's resume includes stints as both an offensive and special teams coordinator. Another such coach is Bill Belichick, whom Crosby coached with in Cleveland. Belichick has been both a defensive and special teams coordinator himself during his NFL coaching career.

Crosby began his career in professional football as a running back with the New York Giants during the 1974-76 seasons. Following his retirement, he joined the Miami Dolphins, serving as a scout, as well as a special teams and linebackers coach. Crosby was part of the staff that guided Miami to the Super Bowl in 1983.

Crosby also coached for the Atlanta Falcons, New England Patriots, and Cleveland Browns. He is the last NFL position coach to have two running backs rush for more than 1,000 yards in the same season. Earnest Byner and Kevin Mack both surpassed the 1,000-yard mark for Cleveland in 1985.

Crosby was an All-America running back at Fort Hays State in Hays, Kansas. He was twice named to the NAIA All-America team and he was a three-time all-conference performer before being selected by the Giants in the 17th round of the 1974 NFL Draft. Crosby earned Bachelor's and Master's degrees in physical education from Fort Hays State.

Crosby was born in Great Bend, Kansas and attended Pawnee Rock High School. He and his wife, Lisa, have three children: sons Matthew and Jeffrey and daughter Lauren. Matthew is one of the top players on the Baylor University Men's Golf Team. He is also Chief Justice of the University's Student Supreme Court, the first student-athlete in school history to serve on the court. Matt is a political science major, who is also studying Russian. Jeff is currently studying at Palomar College and will attend North Texas University in the fall. Lauren is completing her freshman year at San Pasqual High School and is a member of the school's cheerleading team.

JOHN "JACK" HENRY

Offensive Line
15th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

The Chargers' offensive line is in good hands with Jack Henry leading the group. A veteran coach with 14 NFL seasons under his belt, he and fellow offensive line coach Hal Hunter have developed one of the finest groups in the league today. In 2007, that unit featured a pair of Pro Bowlers in guard Kris Dielman and tackle Marcus McNeill. Henry also helped groom second-year tackle Jeromey Clary into a starter as Clary entered the starting-five for the last five games of the regular season and the playoffs and the Chargers went 7-1 with him in the lineup.

The Bolts' starting line, featuring guard Mike Goff and center Nick Hardwick along with Dielman, McNeill and Clary finished the season with a flurry, giving up only five sacks in the last three games of the regular season and the three playoff games. In 13 of 19 games last season, including playoffs, the Chargers gave up zero or one sacks and their total of 24 sacks allowed, tied for eighth-fewest in the league.

The offensive line also had a big hand in the Chargers rushing for more than 2,000 yards for the sixth straight season and the last two with Henry overseeing the unit. Among the three 200-yard games the Chargers rushed for in 2007, the high-point was a 274-yard rushing day against Detroit on Dec. 16, which was the second-highest single game rushing performance in team history.

A native of Houston, Pennsylvania, just 20 miles outside of Pittsburgh, Henry's first NFL job came with the Steelers under Hall of Fame coach Chuck Noll. Henry coached an offensive line which featured center Dermontti Dawson, who played 13 seasons for the Steelers and was a seven-time Pro Bowl selection.

In 1993, Henry moved across town to coach the line for the University of Pittsburgh before Bobby Ross hired him to coach the Chargers' offensive line in 1996. When Ross and his entire staff were let go following the '96 season, Henry latched on with the Detroit Lions. In 1997, his first season in Detroit, Barry Sanders ran for 2,053 yards and the team ranked second in the NFL in rushing offense. A future star on that offensive line was guard Jeff Hartings, who would go on to become a two-time Pro Bowler as a center and a four-time first alternate.

In 2000, Henry moved south to coach the offensive line in New Orleans. Each of Henry's five years in "The Big Easy," the Saints boasted a 1,000-yard rusher with Ricky Williams reaching the mark in 2001-02 and Deuce McAllister from 2002-04. McAllister became the first back in Saints history to record three-straight 1,000-yard seasons. Among the offense's highlights during Henry's tenure in New Orleans was a 2,000-yard season in 2003 during which McAllister recorded nine straight 100-yard games. Also that season, LeCharles Bentley became the first Saints guard voted to the Pro Bowl since 1987, but he was forced to skip the game due to a knee injury. In 2004, Henry helped guide Bentley's transformation from guard to center and Bentley was voted as an alternate for the Pro Bowl. A year later, Bentley finally got his long-deserved chance to play in Hawaii, starting at center for the NFC in the 2006 Pro Bowl.

Henry played linebacker at Penn State from 1964-65. He transferred to Indiana University, Pa. and played guard for the Indians from 1967-68. Henry was the captain of the school's famed 1968 Boardwalk Bowl Championship team and graduated in 1969. He returned to his alma mater in 1986, serving as assistant director of athletics, associate head football coach and offensive coordinator. In 1997, he was inducted into the school's athletic hall of fame.

Henry and his wife, Carol, have two children: Chad and Jacqueline. Chad is an area scout for the Detroit Lions.

HAL HUNTER
Offensive Line
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Hal Hunter has played a key role in helping to develop one of the finest offensive lines in the NFL today. For the last two seasons he has worked side by side with veteran offensive line coach Jack Henry. In 2007, their unit featured a pair of Pro Bowlers in guard Kris Dielman and tackle Marcus McNeill. Hunter also helped groom second-year tackle Jeromey Clary into a starter as Clary entered the starting-five for the last five games of the regular season and the playoffs and the Chargers went 7-1 with him in the lineup.

The Bolts' starting line, featuring guard Mike Goff and center Nick Hardwick along with Dielman, McNeill and Clary finished the season with a flurry, giving up only five sacks in the last three games of the regular season and the three playoff games. In 13 of 19 games last season, including playoffs, the Chargers gave up zero or one sacks and their total of 24 sacks allowed, tied for eighth-fewest in the league.

The offensive line also had a big hand in the Chargers rushing for more than 2,000 yards for the sixth straight season and the last two with Hunter overseeing the unit. Among the three 200-yard games the Chargers rushed for in 2007, the high-point was a 274-yard rushing day against Detroit on Dec. 16, which was the second-highest single game rushing performance in team history.

Hunter arrived in San Diego with a wealth of experience as a college assistant coach. His last coaching job was at the University of North Carolina where for two years (2003-04), the Tar Heels' averaged more than 150 rushing yards per game. In 2004, UNC averaged 176.3 yards per game and received an invitation to play in the Continental Tires Bowl.

When Hunter was the offensive coordinator at Indiana (2000-01), the Hoosiers ranked in the top 20 nationally in total offense. He helped tutor quarterback Antwaan Randle El, a former Big Ten Player of the Year and first-team All-America who went on to become a second-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers. In Hunter's first season in Bloomington, the Hoosiers ranked seventh in the nation in rushing offense and 12th in total offense. The following year they ranked fourth in rushing and 19th in total offense.

Hunter spent five seasons as an assistant coach at LSU (1995-99) and he was elevated to assistant head coach for his final season in Baton Rouge. At the end of that '99 season, Hunter was named interim head coach for one game after Gerry DiNardo was fired by the school and he led the Tigers to a 35-10 win over rival Arkansas. One of Hunter's star pupils at LSU was offensive lineman Alan Faneca, who went on to become a first-round pick of the Steelers in 1998.

Hunter was born in Canonsburg, Pennsylvania and he was a standout football player and wrestler at Belle Vernon (Pa.) High School. He went on to become a Dean's List student at Northwestern, graduating with a 3.6 GPA while earning a degree in communications. He also played linebacker for the Wildcats in 1978, but a neck injury ended his playing career prematurely. Following the injury, he stayed on with the team, working with the defensive line and serving as a strength coach.

Hunter and his wife, Tracy, have two sons: Hal IV and Andrew.

CHARLIE JOINER
Wide Receivers
40th NFL Season
17th with Chargers

Charlie Joiner, the San Diego Chargers' all-time leading receiver and a member of the Pro Football Hall of Fame, returns to the Bolts' sidelines to serve as the team's wide receivers coach. This is Joiner's 40th season in professional football, including 18 seasons as a player and 22 as a coach.

In San Diego, he'll work with a deep and talented receiving corps that includes veterans Chris Chambers, Vincent Jackson and Eric Parker, along with Buster Davis and Legedu Naanee, both chosen in the 2007 NFL Draft.

Joiner played a total of 18 seasons in the AFL and NFL with the Houston Oilers (1969-72), Cincinnati

Bengals (1972-75) and Chargers (1976-86). He was drafted by Houston in the fourth round of the 1969 NFL Draft as a defensive back and he retired on Jan. 12, 1987 as the NFL's all-time leading receiver with 750 career catches. He was inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 1996. Joiner's final career totals included 12,146 yards and 65 TDs. At the time of his retirement, Joiner's 239 career games played were the most-ever by an NFL wide receiver.

Joiner played 11 seasons in San Diego (1976-86) and finished his career as the team's all-time leader with 586 career catches. A three-time Pro Bowl choice following the 1976, '79 & '80 seasons, Joiner was inducted into the Chargers Hall of Fame in 1993. His 9,203 receiving yards rank second in team history behind only Lance Alworth and his 47 touchdown catches rank third behind Alworth and Gary Garrison. He was selected as the team's Most Inspirational Player seven times and he was honored by the City of San Diego on "Charlie Joiner Day" in 1984 and '86.

Immediately after his retirement, Joiner was named the Bolts' wide receivers coach. One of his star pupils during his five seasons as WRs coach (1987-91) was Anthony Miller, who had a breakout 1,252-yard, 10-touchdown season in 1989 and earned Pro Bowl selections following the '89 and '90 seasons.

In 1992 Joiner was hired as the wide receivers coach for the Buffalo Bills. He would spend nine seasons (1992-00) in Western New York, working with a pair of the NFL's best receivers in Eric Moulds and Andre Reed. During those eight seasons, the Bills went to the playoffs six times, won two AFC Championships and played in Super Bowls XXVII and XXVIII. Moulds had two of the most prolific seasons in Bills history, earning Pro Bowl honors following a team-record 1,368-yard season in 1998 and a 1,326-yard season in 2000. During the '00 campaign, he also set a team record with 94 catches. Reed spent 15 seasons in Buffalo (1985-99), the last seven with Joiner. He is the Bills' all-time leader in receptions (941), yards (13,095) and touchdown catches (86). Reed was selected to three Pro Bowl teams under Joiner's tutelage (1992-94), but did not play in the game following the '93 season due to injury.

Joiner's most recent coaching stop was with the Kansas City Chiefs, spending seven seasons (2001-07) as their wide receivers coach. In 2007 Joiner oversaw the development of rookie Dwayne Bowe, who was the NFL's leading rookie receiver with 70 catches, 995 yards and five touchdown catches. Bowe averaged an impressive 14.2 yards per catch during his rookie season. Bowe and Buster Davis were college teammates at LSU and fellow first-round draft picks in 2007. Joiner's stable of wide receivers in Kansas City also included veteran Eddie Kennison, another LSU grad who racked up back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons in 2004 and '05.

A native of Many, Louisiana, Joiner was a four-year letterman at Grambling State University (1965-68). In 1990, he was inducted into the Louisiana Hall of Fame. Joiner is married, Dianne, and has two children, Jynaya and Kori.

WAYNE NUNNELY

Defensive Line
14th NFL Season
12th with Chargers

Simply put, Wayne Nunnely is one of the best defensive line coaches in the NFL. He's also one of the longest tenured in Chargers history as this season, his 12th in San Diego, will tie him with Joe Madro and Jackie Simpson for the second-most seasons as Bolts assistant. Only Earnel Durden (13 seasons) coached here longer and only Durden, Madro and Nunnely coached in San Diego without interruption. Nunnely has been on the sideline for 176 consecutive regular-season games since joining the Bolts in 1997.

Nunnely's prized lineman is defensive tackle Jamal Williams, a three-time Pro Bowler (2005-07) who is regarded by many as the finest defensive tackle in the game today. Williams excels at stuffing the run and pressuring the pocket. Another of Nunnely's star pupils, Igor Olshansky, had a career year in 2007, setting career highs and leading the defensive line with 69 tackles, 3.5 sacks and three forced fumbles.

Year-in and year-out, the Chargers are among the NFL's best teams at stopping the run. With Nunnely on board, the Chargers have ranked in the NFL's top 10 in both rushing yards allowed per game and rushing yards allowed per carry in seven out of the past 11 seasons. Twice under Nunnely's watch (1998 and 2005), the Chargers led the NFL in run defense. In 1998, the Chargers allowed a team-record 71.3 yards per game and 2.7 yards per carry. The yards per game average was the fifth-lowest in the NFL since the league went to a 16-game schedule in 1978 and the yards per attempts was the lowest average allowed by any team in the league since 1970. The Chargers also ranked first in the NFL in yards per carry in 1999 (3.1) and 2001 (3.3) and in yards per game in 2005 (84.3).

Nunnely's defensive fronts have also left their mark on the team's record book. In his 11 seasons, the Chargers have recorded six of the franchise's 10 best yards per game averages in team history and seven of the top 10 yards per carry averages for a season.

Nunnely's first NFL job was with the New Orleans

Saints. He worked at the Saints training camp in 1994 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship Program and was hired full-time in 1995. In each of his two years in New Orleans, the Saints ranked in the NFL's top five in sacks and sacks per play.

Prior to his ascension to the NFL, Nunnely spent nearly 20 years as a head coach, assistant coach and administrator on the college level. In 1986, he was named head coach at UNLV, a post he manned for four seasons. At the time of his appointment, he was the first African-American head coach on the West Coast and only the fifth in NCAA Division 1-A history. In 1988, he and Cleve Bryant of Ohio University became the first African-American head coaches in NCAA Division 1-A history to coach against one another, with Nunnely's UNLV squad coming out on top 26-18. In 1990, Nunnely served in the administration at UNLV as the Director of Minority Student Affairs. He had played fullback and lettered in track at UNLV for two seasons (1972-73) and earned a bachelor's degree in physical education in 1975. The school's faculty voted him Most Outstanding Male Physical Educator.

Nunnely was born in Los Angeles, California. He played football and competed in track and field at Monrovia (Calif.) High School. He and his wife Velda have three sons: Steven, Channing and Aaron, and a daughter, Amber.

JOHN PAGANO

Outside Linebackers
13th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

With the dynamic duo of Shawne Merriman and Shaun Phillips continuing to dominate on the defensive side of the ball, the outside linebacking corps should have another impressive year under John Pagano.

Last season, Merriman was voted to his third Pro Bowl in as many seasons and the Chargers' outside linebackers combined for 27 of the team's 42 sacks, including a team-leading 12.5 by Merriman and 8.5 by Phillips. Merriman also logged a career-high 96 tackles and led the team with nine tackles for loss.

In 2006, Merriman and Phillips combined sack total (28.5) that outnumbered several teams and as a group, the outside linebackers were responsible for 33.5 of the team's 61 sacks. The Chargers led the NFL in sacks in '06, and their total was the team's highest since 1980. Despite missing four games to suspension, Merriman was selected as a starter for the Pro Bowl and received a host of other postseason honors after setting a career high and leading the league with 17 sacks. His sack total was the second-highest in team history and the most in a season by a Charger since 1992. Phillips, who was in just his first year as a starter, burst out under Pagano's tutelage, recording career highs with 11.5 sacks and 63 tackles.

In 2005, Pagano oversaw the development of Merriman during his stellar rookie campaign. Merriman was named NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year by the Associated Press after leading the team and all NFL rookies with 10 sacks. He also pitched in with seven tackles for loss, second-most on the team, and 54 tackles. The rookie played a huge hand in the Chargers' 26-17 win over the 13-0 Indianapolis Colts, racking up two sacks and three tackles for loss.

The Chargers' 149 sacks over the last three seasons lead the NFL.

Before joining the Chargers, Pagano spent six seasons as a defensive assistant with the Indianapolis Colts (1998-01) and New Orleans Saints (1996-97). He coached the secondary and assisted in all areas of defensive preparation.

Pagano was born and raised in Boulder, Colorado where he was an All-State performer in football at Fairview High School. He played linebacker at Mesa State (Colo.) from 1985-88 and graduated with a degree in business marketing. Pagano's older brother, Chuck, was hired in 2008 to coach the secondary for the Baltimore Ravens. Last season, Chuck was the defensive coordinator at the University of North Carolina. John is a part owner of the Mile High Football Camp in Denver, Colorado, which has served the community for the past 32 years. He and wife Kimberly have a son, Jagger.

JOHN RAMSDELL

Quarterbacks
14th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

John Ramsdell's resume reflects excellence in developing young quarterbacks. In 2006, his first year working with Philip Rivers as a starter, he passed for over 3,500 yards and 23 touchdowns as the Chargers went 14-2 and won the AFC West. Rivers was rewarded with a selection to the Pro Bowl. In his second full year as a starter under Ramsdell, Rivers only passed for 3,100 yards and 21 touchdowns, but he led the Chargers to their second-straight AFC West championship and through the playoffs into the AFC Championship Game. In one of the gutsiest performances in NFL history, Rivers played in the AFC Championship Game with a torn ACL in his right knee.

Ramsdell came to the Chargers from St. Louis where he had similar success with Kurt Warner. A two-time NFL Most Valuable Player and three-time Pro Bowler under Ramsdell, Warner took the Rams to two Super Bowls, including a win over Tennessee in Super Bowl XXXIV. Warner's successor, Marc Bulger, also benefited from working with Ramsdell as he passed for a then career-high 3,964 yards and 21 touchdowns in 2004.

Ramsdell spent a total of 11 seasons with the Rams, serving as quarterbacks coach from 1999-2002 and from 2004-05. He originally joined the team in 1995and spent three seasons as the team's tight ends coach. He also took a one-year hiatus from coaching QBs and coached the team's wide receivers in 2003 with Torry Holt earning a Pro Bowl selection.

As quarterbacks coach, Ramsdell saw the Rams lead the league in passing three straight years (1999-2001). Under his watchful eye, they never ranked any lower than fifth in passing offense, ranking second in 2002, fifth in 2004 and fourth in 2005. In 2005, Bulger finished the year as the league's fifth-leading passer despite missing eight games due to a shoulder injury and in his career under Ramsdell's direction, Bulger recorded three of the top six passing games in team history.

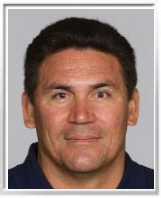

Ramsdell was the only position coach to work with the Rams during each of their first 11 seasons in St. Louis.

Early in his career, Ramsdell logged 19 seasons as a coach on the collegiate level. He spent 12 seasons as an assistant coach at the University of Oregon, during which time the Ducks played in four bowl games, including the 1995 Rose Bowl.

Ramsdell was born in Lafayette, Indiana. He graduated from Manheim Township High School in Lancaster, Pennsylvania and went on to earn a bachelor's degree from Springfield (Mass.) College and a master's degree from San Francisco State. Ramsdell played running back in both high school and college. He and his wife, Brenda, have a son, Christopher, and a daughter, Amy.

RON RIVERA
Inside Linebackers
21st NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Ron Rivera's first year coaching the Chargers' inside linebackers produced solid results. In his first year as a starter, Stephen Cooper led the team with a career-high 179 tackles during the regular season and he added 38 more in the playoffs. Despite missing two games to injury early in the season, fellow ILB Matt Wilhelm finished second to Cooper with 144 stops for the season. The two players also combined to intercept five passes with Cooper snatching a pair and Wilhelm pulling down three.

Rivera's coaching train pulled into San Diego from Chicago where he coordinated one of the NFL's top defenses from 2004-06. En route to an appearance in Super Bowl XLI, Chicago led the NFL with 44 takeaways in 2006, while finishing fifth in the league in total defense and third in scoring defense. In 2005 the Bears won their first of two consecutive NFC North titles and ranked second in the NFL in total defense. In Chicago, Rivera and the Bears ran the "Tampa 2 Defense," a scheme that relies heavily on zone coverage

The list of Bears defensive players that went to the Pro Bowl under Rivera includes linebackers Brian Urlacher and Lance Briggs, safety Mike Brown, cornerback Nathan Vasher and defensive tackle Tommie Harris

Before becoming a defensive coordinator, Rivera spent five seasons as the linebackers coach under one of the most aggressive defensive coordinators in the NFL, Philadelphia's Jim Johnson. The Eagles advanced to the NFC Championship Game in each of Rivera's final three seasons in Philly.

Twice during his tenure with the Eagles, the team finished second in the NFL in scoring defense. In 2001, Philadelphia held all 16 of its opponents under 21 points, becoming one of only four teams in NFL history that can make such a claim. Rivera played a key role in the development of linebacker Jeremiah Trotter, a two-time Pro Bowl selection.

Rivera is a former Bears linebacker who spent all nine of his professional seasons in Chicago. During his playing career, which included a Super Bowl Championship in 1985, Rivera was coached by the innovative Buddy Ryan, the architect of the "46 Defense" which involved blitzing on nearly every down.

Following his retirement, Rivera spent four years (1993-96) as a television analyst covering the Bears and college football for WGN-TV and SportsChannel Chicago. In 1997 he went back to the Bears to work as the team's first defensive quality control coach.

A consensus All-America selection at Cal-Berkeley, Rivera finished his collegiate career as the school's all-time leader in sacks (22) and tackles (336). He also set the school record for single-season tackles for loss (26.5 in 1983). Rivera was drafted by Chicago in the second round of the 1984 draft and played 149 games with the Bears.

Rivera was born in Fort Ord, California. His father was an officer in the United States Army and the family lived in Germany, Panama, Washington and Maryland before settling in Marina, California. He attended Seaside High School where he was a three-sport athlete, excelling in football, basketball and baseball. As a senior, he was honored with the Golden Helmet Award as the top football player in the Monterey Bay League.

Rivera and his wife, Stephanie, have two children, Christopher and Courtney.

KEVIN ROSS
Assistant Secondary/ Quality Control
19th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Kevin Ross' first season as the assistant secondary coach in San Diego was a memorable one. Working alongside Bill Bradley, he and Ross oversaw a Chargers unit that led the NFL in interceptions (30). The Bolts also led the league in picks during the playoffs with six. Their 30 interceptions in the regular season were the most by a San Diego defense in 38 years (1969) and it marked the first time a Chargers defense ever led the NFL in picks. The Chargers also led the NFL in total takeaways (48), turnover margin (+24) and opponent passer rating (70.0).

Ross played defensive back for 14 seasons (1984-97) and was a two-time Pro Bowl pick. He was drafted by the Kansas City Chiefs in the seventh round of the 1984 NFL Draft and made an immediate impact, racking up a career-high six interceptions en route to earning consensus All-Rookie honors. He played 11 seasons in Kansas City (1984-93 and '97), earning Pro Bowl honors following the 1989 and '90 seasons. Chiefs Head Coach Herman Edwards, who was an assistant when Ross played for the Chiefs, called him the "toughest" player that he'd ever coached. Ross' career also included two seasons in Atlanta (1994-95) and one with the Chargers. As a Lightning Bolt in 1996, Ross was named the team's Most Inspirational Player and a defensive team captain. He retired from the NFL in 1997, ending his career with 1,142 tackles, 38 interceptions and two touchdowns.

Upon retirement, Ross returned to his native Camden, New Jersey and spent four years coaching high school football, two at Camden High School (1999-00) and two at Woodrow Wilson HS (2001-02).

In 2002, he went to training camp with the Vikings as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching and Administrative Fellowship Program and in 2003 he was hired as Minnesota's assistant secondary coach. In his first season in Minnesota, the Vikings ranked second in the NFL with 28 interceptions. San Diego State alum Brian Russell tied for the NFL lead with nine interceptions and fellow safety Corey Chavous finished third with eight on his way to a Pro Bowl selection. It was the first time that two Minnesota players recorded at least seven interceptions in the same season and it was the first time since 1998 (Miami) that two players from the same team had as many as eight picks in the same year. In Ross' second season in Minnesota, the Vikings advanced to the NFC Divisional Playoffs and during their Wild Card win over Green Bay, the Vikings intercepted Packers quarterback Brett Favre four times to tie a team playoff record.

Ross was an all-state and all-conference honors linebacker and running back at Paulsboro (N.J.) High School and a four-year letterman at Temple University. He recorded 13 interceptions and 249 tackles during his career with the Owls and he chose Temple despite being recruited to play at Rutgers for Ted Cottrell, who was then the defensive coordinator for the Scarlet Knights.

Ross has three daughters, Celia, Cherrelle and Kassidy, and two sons, Jovair and Kevin, Jr.

OLLIE WILSON

Running Backs
18th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

A veteran coach with 17 years of NFL coaching experience on his resume, Ollie Wilson returns to San Diego after spending the last six seasons with the Atlanta Falcons (2002-07). Wilson originally coached the Chargers' running backs from 1997-01 and in his final season in San Diego, Wilson tutored rookie running back LaDainian Tomlinson, the runner up for the Associated Press Offensive Rookie of the Year Award. Tomlinson had a monster season, setting team rookie records with 1,236 yards, 10 touchdowns and 1,603 total yards from scrimmage. His scrimmage mark was not only a team rookie record, but it also broke Lance Alworth's 36-year old team record for scrimmage yards.

Wilson began his coaching career at the collegiate level, spending the 1974 season as the wide receivers coach at his alma mater, Springfield (Mass.) College, the 1975-82 seasons as offensive coordinator at Northeastern University and the 1983-90 seasons as the running backs coach at Cal-Berkeley. While coaching in college, he participated in the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship Program, spending time working with the coaching staffs of both the Houston Oilers and the Falcons. It helped him land his first full-time NFL coaching gig in 1991 when he was named the running backs coach in Atlanta.

Wilson would spend six seasons (1991-96) with the Falcons during his first stint in Atlanta. He coached three 1,000-yard rushers during that time, including the late Craig "Ironhead" Heyward, who was selected to the Pro Bowl after rushing for 1,083 yards in 1995.

Wilson was hired by the Chargers for the first time in 1997. As a team, the Chargers rushed for more than 1,200 yards in four of his five seasons, including 1,728 yards in 1998 and 1,695 yards in 2001.

Wilson returned to Atlanta after the 2001 season and would spend the next seven seasons coaching the Falcons' running backs. During those seven seasons combined, no team in the NFL rushed for more yards than the Falcons' 13,994. By comparison, the Chargers' 13,157 yards ranked third. The Falcons set several team rushing records under his direction, including single-season rushing yards (2,939 in 2006) and single-season rushing touchdowns (23 in 2002). The Falcons' 2,939 rushing yards in '06 were the ninth-most for a season in NFL history and the most in the league since the Chicago Bears rushed for 2,974 yards in 1984. In 2004, Atlanta rushed for a then team-record 2,672 yards, the third-most single-season yards posted by a team between 1990-04. In a Divisional Playoff game against St. Louis following the '04 season, the Falcons rushed for a team-record (regular season or postseason) 327 yards.

Wilson was born in Worcester, Massachusetts. He played football, basketball, baseball and ran track at Worcester's Doherty High School. He went on to Springfield College where he was an honorable mention All-America wide receiver and earned both bachelor's (physical education) and master's degrees.

Wilson is married to Nadine.

PLAYER PERSONNEL

JIMMY RAYE
Director of Player Personnel
14th NFL Season
13th with Chargers

In April 2008, Jimmy Raye was elevated to director of player personnel. He will oversee both the professional and college scouting departments. In addition, Raye will assist A.J. Smith and Ed McGuire on all player personnel matters. Raye has worked in the Chargers' personnel department for the past 12 years, spending the last eight as the team's director of college scouting. Raye also spent four years (1996-99) as a scout.

He originally joined the Chargers in 1996 after spending the 1995 season as an offensive assistant-quality control coach for the Kansas City Chiefs.

Raye's NFL career began in 1991 when he signed a free-agent contract with the Los Angeles Rams. He spent the entire '91 season on the Rams' roster and later attended training camps with the Chargers (1992) and Houston Oilers (1993).

Raye spent the 1994 season as the wide receivers coach for Irvine High School in Irvine, California. He worked briefly for the Amsterdam Admirals of the World League in April 1995.

Raye played wide receiver at San Diego State (1986-90) and earned a degree in public administration. He finished his career tied for eighth on the school's all-time receiving list with 111 catches.

Raye was born in Fayetteville, North Carolina. He earned All-South Coast League honors as a quarterback and defensive back for the Irvine High Vaqueros. He also played basketball and ran track at Irvine. His father, Jimmy Raye II, is the running backs coach for the New York Jets.

JOHN SPANOS
Director of College Scouting
13th NFL Season
11th with Chargers

John Spanos was promoted to director of college scouting in April 2008 after spending the previous two years as assistant director. In his new role, Spanos will coordinate the team's scouting efforts in preparation for the annual NFL Draft.

Spanos spent the 2003-05 seasons as a pro and college scout, while also working with Ed McGuire in contracts and managing the salary cap.

Spanos first started working for the Chargers in 1995. While in high school, he worked summers as an assistant in the team's football operations office. From 1998-00 he worked under the direction of Executive Vice President of Football Operations and Assistant General Manager, Ed McGuire, who negotiates contracts and is responsible for managing the team's salary cap.

From 2001-03, Spanos served two stints in the NFL's Management Council office in New York, learning a wide range of league procedures. While in New York, he helped review new player contracts and assisted in the League's salary cap reconciliation process.

He earned a bachelor's of science degree in business from Wake Forest University in 2002.

Spanos was born in Stockton, California. He attended The Bishop's School in La Jolla where he lettered in football, basketball and golf and played on three CIF championship teams. Spanos is single and resides in San Diego.

RANDY MUELLER
Senior Executive
23rd NFL Season
1st with Chargers

In April 2008, A.J. Smith added veteran NFL personnel executive Randy Mueller to the Chargers' player personnel staff. Mueller will take on the role of senior executive and he will scout the top player prospects throughout the country and lend his many years of experience to the front office in helping to continue the steady flow of quality players to the Chargers.

Mueller brings 22 years of NFL experience to the Chargers. He most recently served as the general manager of Miami Dolphins, where he spent the 2005-07 seasons.

Previously, Mueller had a two-year stint as the general manager of football operations for the New Orleans Saints. In his first year on the job, New Orleans went 10-6 and notched the first playoff win in franchise history. Following the 2000 season, he was named NFL Executive of the Year by The Sporting News. Between stints with the Dolphins and Saints, he spent three years as an analyst at ESPN.

Mueller began his scouting career in Seattle where he held various positions in the Seahawks' personnel department over a 17-year period. In 1983, he joined the club as a pro personnel assistant; was named pro personnel director in 1990, and was promoted to vice president of football operations in 1995.

A native of St. Maries, Idaho, Mueller played quarterback at Linfield College in McMinnville, Oregon. As a senior, he led his club to a NAIA Division II National Championship and was named MVP of the title game.

Randy and his wife, Lori, have a daughter, Riley.

DENNIS ABRAHAM
Director of Pro Scouting
13th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Dennis Abraham was promoted to director of pro scouting in 2006 after spending three seasons as the assistant director. He joined the Chargers in 2001, spending two seasons as a pro scout. Abraham currently coordinates the procurement of players during the NFL free agency period. He is also responsible for the scouting and evaluation of NFL, CFL and Arena Football League players. In 2002, his role was expanded to include advance scouting of opponents.

Prior to joining the Chargers, Abraham spent five years in the personnel department of the Buffalo Bills, where he was responsible for helping to prepare the defensive game analysis for the team's coaches. Abraham also served as the Bills' training camp coordinator from 1998-2000.

Abraham was born in Buffalo, New York. He attended Akron Central High School in Akron, New York, where he competed in football, basketball and baseball. He continued his football career as a center and tackle at Baldwin-Wallace College in Berea, Ohio where he graduated in 1993 with a degree in sports management.

Abraham and wife Amy were married in 2003. They have one son, D.J.

ADMINISTRATION

JIM STEEG
Executive Vice President–Chief Operating Officer

Jim Steeg, the man responsible for turning the Super Bowl into the world's premiere sporting event, was named executive vice president and chief operating officer for the San Diego Chargers on Nov. 15, 2004.

This year he will take the reigns of another worldly sporting event as he oversees the logistics for the Chargers' Oct. 26 game against the New Orleans Saints in London's Wembley Stadium.

Steeg has been instrumental in the team's success away from the field. He has worked diligently to enhance the fan's game-day experience at Qualcomm Stadium. In 2007, the Chargers were given the NFL's most fan-friendly award by FansVoice.com for excellence in stadium ambiance and parking. Steeg also helped the team make a smooth transition to host training camp at Chargers Park. Steeg has helped develop new and stronger relationships with the team's TV and radio partners; initiated a drive to revamp the team's website; helped create and implement the team's 2007 uniform and logo change, and he's watched the team's revenue streams grow through sponsorships and record sales of tickets, club seats and suites.

In addition to overseeing the day-to-day business operations of the front office, he continues to lend his experience to help the team develop a new, Super Bowl-caliber stadium for San Diego. Over the years he has worked with communities across the country developing new stadiums and stadiums to host the Super Bowl.

In his 34 years with the NFL, including 26 in charge of the league's special events department, the Super Bowl grew from a championship football game to a week-long extravaganza that emphasizes the participation and inclusion of the local game-site community at the business, educational and charitable levels.

Steeg was responsible for all aspects of the Super Bowl including stadium build-out and operations; practice-site preparation; pregame and halftime shows; National Anthem performers; team, media, corporate and fan accommodations; corporate hospitality; television broadcasting; telecommunications; transportation; security; logo design; decorations and signage; ticketing; the NFL Commissioner's Party and the Super Bowl Concert Series. He also oversaw the local community Super Bowl Host Committee.

During his Super Bowl tenure, Steeg implemented many of the Super Bowl's signature events. He created the concept of the NFL Experience. This and many of the other event-related elements that he helped conceptualize have became staples throughout professional and Olympic sports. One such element was the use of Jumbotron video screens within the stadium venue. He also enhanced audio-TV broadcasts throughout the stadium and introduced individual radios featuring the national TV and radio broadcasts at every seat, entertainment plazas throughout the stadium and parking lots, an expansive corporate hospitality village, environmental programs including initiating recycling at stadiums and NFL events, ADA enhancements, children's clothing shops in the stadium, and all-encompassing stadium, hotel and host city decorations. His innovations also include in-stadium promotions, including individual stadium seat cushion giveaways, special pro football trading cards, panoramic cameras, collectibles and unique stadium collection and locker room-only merchandise.

Steeg was the driving force behind the league-sponsored Super Bowl charitable events off the field. These events raised more than $50 million dollars for the host communities over 20 years and impacted thousands of children, thanks to programs such as the NFL's Youth Education Town (YET) Center, the NFL Youth Football Clinic, the NFL Cheerleading Spirit Clinic, the Super Bowl College Lecture Series, "The Taste of the NFL," Habitat for Humanity's "Super Bowl Blitz," "Gridiron Glamour" and the NFL Charities Golf Classic.

Steeg also launched and championed the Super Bowl Minority and Women-Owned Emerging Business Program in the early 1990s, mandating that, whenever possible, the league and its various vendors and corporate clients work with local minority- and women-owned businesses. It was the first-of-its-kind emerging business program in professional, collegiate and Olympic sports.

Beyond his Super Bowl duties, Steeg, whose title was Senior Vice President, Special Events for the NFL, was in charge of a 26-member department. From 1990-95, he organized the American Bowl Games in Berlin, Germany and Barcelona, Spain. His duties also included the Pro Bowl in Honolulu, the NFL Draft, the NFL's entire postseason schedule, the NFL-Sr. PGA Tour Golf Tournament, NFL owners' and all other League meetings and all of the made-for-TV NFL events. These included "The Quarterback Challenge," "The Ultimate Defender," "The Pro Bowl Skills Challenge" and "The Alumni Beach Challenge." Steeg also planned and executed the closing of Times Square in New York and the Mall in Washington D.C., for the inaugural Kickoff Celebrations in 2002 and 2003, respectively.

Steeg has been closely associated with the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio throughout his career in professional football. Most recently, he initiated the renovation and modernization process that culminated in the opening of two new galleries in the spring of 2008. While working at the NFL headquarters in New York, Steeg was the League's chief liaison to the Hall, helping to choreograph all of the enshrinement weekend events. He chaired the NFL's league-wide 75th Anniversary celebration in 1994, which featured the initial wearing of throwback uniforms, and helped organize "Pro Football's Greatest Reunion" in 2000 in which 117 living Hall of Famers returned to Canton. Steeg was among the inaugural class inducted into the Special Events Hall of Fame in 2002.

In 2008, Steeg received the Pete Rozelle Award from the New Orleans Touchdown Club and in 2005, he was recognized as the Celebrity of the Year by the Mad Anthonys, a charitable organization of 275 business and professional people in his hometown of Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Steeg is a member of the San Diego Chamber of Commerce Executive Committee and currently serves on the boards of the United Way of San Diego, the Downtown YMCA of San Diego and the San Diego Hall of Champions. He was the co-chairman of the events committee for the 2008 U.S. Open, played in San Diego at Torrey Pines Golf Course. He has also been a longtime board member of Wake Forest University's Babcock Graduate School of Management, the George B. Young Memorial Scholarship Committee, Hunger Related Events and the NFL Youth Education Towns in Houston, New Orleans and Miami.

Prior to joining the league office in New York in 1979, Steeg was the business manager/controller for the Miami Dolphins from 1975-78.

Born in Boston, Steeg, grew up in Ft. Wayne, Indiana. He received an MBA from Wake Forest University and a bachelor's in political science from Miami University. His wife, Jill, is a senior writer for USA Today. His son, Bryce, 29, is a former college quarterback who graduated from Duke University in 2002. Bryce would continue on to graduate from the London School of Economics in 2003 and Harvard Law School in 2006. He currently works in the law firm of Wilson, Sonsini, Goodrich and Rosati in Palo Alto, California. His daughter, Darcy, 27, is a 2003 graduate of Princeton, who earned a master's of statistics at George Washington University in 2007. Darcy is currently pursuing a P.H.D. in statistics at Cornell University.

JEREMIAH T. MURPHY
Executive Vice President

Jerry Murphy is the top fiscal officer for the San Diego Chargers and the A.G. Spanos organization, including A.G. Spanos Construction, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Management, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Development, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Enterprises, Inc.; A.G. Spanos Realty, Inc.; AGS Financial Corporation; A.G. Spanos Securities Corporation and The Spanos Corporation.

RYON BINGHAM

Defensive Tackle
6-3, 303
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Nebraska
Draft 7A - '04
Alta HS
Sandy, Utah

97

Ryon Bingham had a breakout year in 2007, proving how well he could play when his number is called. Bingham racked up a career-high 58 tackles, played in every game and made the first two starts of his career.

The team rewarded him for his play last December with a three-year contract extension that will keep him in Lightning Bolts through the 2010 season.

The Sandy, Utah native has been a regular in the defensive line rotation for the last two seasons and should continue to see his game ascend in 2008.

Bingham is a true outdoorsman. His hobbies include hunting, fishing and backpacking. It's not uncommon for him and a few friends to take a 2-3 day backpacking trip into Utah's Uinta Mountains to camp and fish in the range's many lakes and streams.

Bingham lives in San Diego with his wife, Danielle, and the couple's young daughter, Kayla. One of the family's favorite places to visit is the beaches of Del Mar and Solana Beach.

Ryon's dad and older brother are both former football players. His dad, Jeff, was a defensive end at Weber State and his older brother, Josh, played defensive end at Southern Utah State.

DAVID BINN

Long Snapper
6-3, 223
15th NFL Season
15th with Chargers

California
Free Agent - '94
San Mateo HS
San Mateo, Calif.

The longest tenured player on the Chargers' roster and the only remaining player from the Chargers' 1994 Super Bowl team, long snapper David Binn is the franchise's all-time leader in games played (223) heading into 2008. Known for pinpoint accuracy, Binn is among the best at his trade. He's a 15-year veteran who joined the Chargers as an undrafted free agent from Cal-Berkeley in 1994 and has spent his entire NFL career in Lightning Bolts. He is also one of the league's most durable players, having missed only one game in his career due to injury during his first 14 seasons. This season, Binn will tie Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts and former tackle Russ Washington for the most seasons (15) with the Chargers.

Long overlooked, Binn was finally rewarded with his first trip to the Pro Bowl after the '06 season when AFC coach Bill Belichick selected him as the conference's "need" player. Binn's accurate snaps have helped the careers of several of the leading kickers and punters in team history, including the team's current duo of Nate Kaeding and Mike Scifres, and past greats like John Carney and Darren Bennett.

In May 2008, Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith rewarded Binn with a new four-year contract that will keep him with the Chargers through the 2011 season.

Binn is also an avid golfer whose pinpoint accuracy with his clubs has allowed him to record a handicap that hovers in the low single digits. He has been invited to compete in golf tournaments around the country. In 1999, he won a trip to Hawaii in a hole-in-one contest sponsored by a local golf venue.

Since his arrival in San Diego, Binn has been a supporter of the local military. In May 2003, he visited the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln at sea as the ship and its crew returned to San Diego from the war in Iraq. Aboard the ship, he was joined by President George W. Bush, who had also flown to the carrier to deliver a speech to the nation declaring an end to the hostilities in Iraq. Binn was photographed with the nation's Commander in Chief. In 2000, he received a special invitation to fly in an F-18 with the Navy's Blue Angels.

Throughout his NFL career, Binn has been one of the Chargers' most active players in the community. In 1998, he started the David Binn Foundation to support environmental education and scholarship programs. The foundation supports several worthy causes including the annual "Teddy Bear Drive to Children's Hospital," in which Binn joins forces with the Coronado Police Department to deliver stuffed animals to young patients.

Binn has visited many interesting places, including Russia, Hawaii, Alaska, Australia, Europe and Costa Rica. His great grandparents on his father's side are Russian emigrants who moved to the United States during the Russian Revolution. During the trip to Russia, Binn visited Red Square, a Russian orphanage outside of Moscow, saw a ballet at the Minsky Theater, and also traveled to St. Petersburg where he visited The Hermitage Museum, one of the largest and oldest art galleries and museums of human history and culture in the world.

A native of San Mateo in Northern California, Binn now makes his home year-round in Pacific Beach. In 2007, he was honored in his hometown when he was elected into the San Mateo County Hall of Fame, joining such stars as NFL Hall of Fame wide receiver Lynn Swann and former San Francisco Giants' slugger Barry Bonds.

At his home in Pacific Beach, Binn owns a Rhodesian Ridgeback named Kingston.

CASEY BRAMLET

Quarterback
2nd NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Wyoming
Waivers (Miami) - '08
Wheatland HS
Wheatland, Wyo.

In April, the Chargers claimed quarterback Casey Bramlet off waivers from the Miami Dolphins. He will compete for one of the team's three quarterback spots.

Bramlet has logged many frequent-flyer miles during his football career. It began as a collegian at the University of Wyoming and continued in the NFL where he spent time with the Cincinnati Bengals, Washington Redskins, Atlanta Falcons and the Dolphins. He also spent time overseas, playing for the Hamburg Sea Devils of NFL Europa in 2007. Coincidentally, while he was in Europe, Bramlet got to play against his younger brother, Corey, another former Wyoming quarterback who was playing for the Amsterdam Admirals of NFLE in '07. Corey followed Casey as the starting quarterback at Wyoming and spent time in 2006 as a free agent with the New England Patriots. The boys' father, Tom, also played football at Wyoming and is now an insurance salesman. Their mother, Jill, is an elementary school principal.

Casey and Corey's youngest brother, Connor, was also a collegiate athlete, starring on the pitcher's mound at Wayne State University in Wayne, Nebraska.

The Bramlet boys grew up in a tight family in Wheatland, Wyoming, about an hour north of the state capital of Cheyenne. Casey grew up playing football, basketball and track, and enjoyed water skiing, wakeboarding, fishing, golfing and snow skiing during summer and winter breaks. Casey graduated from Wyoming with a degree in business administration and is currently working on a master's degree in sports administration.

Casey's wife, Marci, played soccer at Wyoming and she and Casey were married in July 2007 in Jackson Hole, Wyoming. They have a one-year old white Labrador retriever named Bentley.

LUIS CASTILLO

Defensive End
6-3, 290
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Northwestern
Draft 1B - '05
Garfield HS
Garfield, N.J.

Chargers defensive end Luis Castillo, only the second Dominican player to be drafted and start in the National Football League, keeps building an image that goes well beyond the United State and the Dominican Republic.

In March, Luis was one of three NFL players invited to spend a week visiting with U.S. troops stationed at military bases throughout the Persian Gulf. Castillo, Chicago Bears defensive tackle Tommie Harris, Carolina Panthers defensive end Mike Rucker and Sports Illustrated's Peter King visited military bases in Kyrgyzstan and Afghanistan. Castillo kept an internet blog of his travels on Chargers.com and NFL.com. Following the tour, Castillo spent additional time abroad, visiting Egypt and Greece.

The trip overseas was a much-needed distraction for Castillo, who for the second year in a row battled through an injury-marred season. In a Nov. 4 game at Minnesota, Castillo rolled an ankle and ended up missing six games. Almost exactly a year earlier on Nov. 5, 2006, he rolled an ankle against Cleveland that cost him four games of that season. Castillo fought back this season as he did in '06 and collected a sack in a Monday Night Football game against Denver upon his return. He finished the year strong and had a solid postseason, leading the team with two sacks.

Castillo is fluent in Spanish. He was born in Brooklyn, New York and moved to the Dominican Republic with his mother, Maria, when he was a child. They returned to the States when he was 5, and the family settled in New Jersey. Luis returns to the Dominican Republic every offseason where he is revered as a national icon. During his trips to the Dominican, Castillo hosts a youth football clinic and does many community appearances. In 2005, he was honored with the Youth of the Year Award for excellence outside of the Dominican Republic.

Castillo has also emerged as a community leader in San Diego and south of the border in Mexico. This year, he hosted youth football camps in Tijuana and La Paz, Mexico. In July, he was honored with the 2008

Roberto Clemente Award for Sports Excellence for his work in the Hispanic community. Castillo is the host of "Shop with a Charger," a holiday-season event for abused and neglected children, some of whom are homeless as well. Each child who participates in the event enjoys dinner with Luis and his teammates and receives a Holiday Gift Card from WalMart. And last November, Castillo surprised San Diego resident Dave Buckles with tickets to a game after Buckles, the golf superintendent at an area resort, and some of his co-workers helped save more than a half-dozen homes from the wildfires that ravaged San Diego County in October. Castillo, who resides in Poway, was among more than 50 Chargers' players and staff that were forced to evacuate their homes because of the fires.

Luis' mother is his inspiration. She was raised in a small village in the Dominican that had no running water or electricity and few educational opportunities. Today, she runs a multimillion-dollar company in New York that imports hair-care products from her homeland. Luis hopes that he too can emulate his mom's success in the business world. In 2007, he returned to his alma mater and enrolled in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. The four-day program focused on developing and selling a brand and evaluating franchise opportunities. He attended the program with teammate Shaun Phillips.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: First-round pick (28) by Chargers, April 23, 2005…signed five-year contract July 27, 2005.

Jacques Cesaire (SEE-zair) is one of the most versatile players on the Chargers' defensive line. He's a player who can capably defend the run or rush the passer from either side of the line. Cesaire saw action in every game in 2007 and was called upon to start six games. He responded with a career-high 50-tackle season as the Chargers boasted the NFL's seventh-best run defense. Cesaire wreaked havoc against Tennessee twice during the season, racking up a season-high 11 tackles in Week 14 and then recording a sack when the teams met in January in an AFC Wild Card Playoff game.

Jacques has four siblings and his Haitian-born parents are both nurses in his hometown of Gardner, Mass. Jacques' father, Carmy, has had an unbelievable amount of good fortune during his lifetime, twice scratching lottery tickets to reveal that he'd won $1 million. It happened once before Jacques came into the NFL and happened a second time just a couple of years ago. Despite their amazingly good fortune, both of Jacques' parents continue to work.

Jacques' interests include bowling, basketball, shooting pool, playing video games and spending time with his niece, Nadia. He is an investor in the Passion 4 Life vitamin company and Dlush Deluxe Beverage stores.

Jacques is married to the former Jill Murray, his college girlfriend from Southern Connecticut State. Jacques and Jill are both devout Christians and often host bible study sessions and barbecues for teammates and close friends at their home in Scripps Ranch.

Each offseason for the past five years, the Cesaires have returned to Jill's hometown of Groton, Connecticut and participated in the NFL's United Way Weekend. It includes a football camp, as well as school and hospital visits. This year when they returned, Jacques was presented with a community service award from the United Way. He joined some of his counterparts, Will Shields and Matt Birk, among NFL players who have been recipients of the award.

United Way

The Cesaires recently started a nonprofit foundation to benefit the Monarch School in San Diego, a school for homeless teens. Cesaire also contributes to a Chargers' program in which staff members feed the city's homeless every Thursday night. Out of his own pocket, he purchases sandwiches that are distributed to the homeless.

CHRIS CHAMBERS

Wide Receiver
5-11, 210
8th NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Wisconsin
Trade (Miami) - '07
Bedford HS
Bedford, Ohio

Veteran wide receiver Chris Chambers made an immediate impact when he joined the Chargers in an October trade from the Miami Dolphins. With Chambers on the roster, the Chargers went 10-3, including playoffs. He had at least two catches in every game after making the move to Southern California and his 15.9 yards-per-catch average in the regular season and 17.4-yard average in the postseason led the team.

With the Bolts, Chambers played in his first-ever playoff games, debuting with a 121-yard effort in a Wild Card win over Tennessee. Chambers finished the postseason with the third-most receiving yards in the NFL (278) and the sixth-most catches (16).

Chambers spent the first six and a half seasons of his NFL career in Miami, leaving as one of the most prolific pass-catchers in Dolphins history. At the time of his departure, he ranked fifth in career receptions (405), fourth in yards (5,688) and touchdown catches (43), and third in 100-yard games (17). A dual threat because of his speed, Chambers also rushed for more yards (355) than any other receiver in team history.

A very private and reserved individual away from the playing field, Chambers quietly became a community leader in his hometown of Cleveland, Ohio and in South Florida during his six-plus years with the Dolphins. In 2005, Chambers started the CATCH-84 (Children Achieving Through Community Help) Foundation to benefit youth education and athletic programs. The foundation's website is www.Catch84.com. One of the foundation's signature events is a two-day football camp that he hosts each summer at his alma mater, Bedford High School, outside of Cleveland. At the conclusion of the camp, Chris' foundation awards two $2,500 scholarships to campers who excel not only in athletics, but also in academics and community service. In Miami, Chambers helped build houses for Habitat for Humanity, while also participating in the Dolphins' annual Thanksgiving Turkey program. He was also a member of the Dolphins' "All-Community Team" in which he personally donated 20 tickets for every home game to local youth football organizations.

An astute businessman with an eye for talent, Chris and good friend and former Wisconsin teammate Mike Echols, are co-owners of King Ape Entertainment, a music label that represents up-and-coming hip-hop, rock, alternative and club acts. Their current featured artist is "Pryslezz," who just released his first album, "Death of a Man, Rebirth of a King," and his first single and music video, "More Than a Love Song," which features Grammy-winning recording artist Dwele and a cameo appearance in the video from Chambers. Echols actually had a brief stint in the NFL, spending the 2002-04 seasons playing cornerback for the Tennessee Titans. The label has its own website at www.KingApeEnt.com.

Chambers' hobbies include traveling and spending time with his wife and young son, Chaz. Past travels have taken Chris to Costa Rica, Brazil and Hawaii. This summer, the Chambers' traveled to Puerto Rico for a wedding.

One trip that Chambers is looking forward to is the Chargers' Oct. trip to London for a game against New Orleans. He has never been to Europe. As a Dolphin last year, Chambers had planned on accompanying his Miami teammates to London for their game against the New York Giants, but he was traded to San Diego two weeks before that game. He'll finally get his chance to go this year as a member of the Chargers.

SCOTT CHANDLER

Tight End
6-7, 265
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Iowa
Draft 4 - '07
Southlake Carroll HS
Southlake, Tex.

87

Scott Chandler, a fourth-round draft choice in 2007, spent the majority of his rookie season watching from the sidelines and learning the tricks of the trade from veterans Antonio Gates and Brandon Manumaleuna. Heading into his second year, Chandler is eager to put some of his newfound knowledge to the test and contribute in 2008.

The Chargers were fortunate to land Chandler, a tall and long-armed tight end from the University of Iowa. A converted wide receiver with very good hands, Chandler demonstrated big-play ability during offseason practices and training camp as a rookie, repeatedly hauling in deep passes down the field. As a senior at Iowa, 27 of his 44 catches netted first downs, including 12 such catches on third and fourth down plays.

Chandler, whose brother is former Hawkeyes quarterback Nathan Chandler, was the fifth former Iowa tight end to be drafted by an NFL team since 2000. The list includes Dallas Clark, a 2003 first-round choice of the 2006 Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts. Scott and Nathan played together during Scott's freshman season at Iowa in 2003.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Selected by Chargers in fourth-round (129) of NFL Draft, April 29, 2007...signed four-year contract, June 5, 2007.

2007: Saw action during Chargers' 51-14 win over Detroit Dec. 16...inactive for other 15 games plus all three playoff contests.

JEROMEY CLARY

Tackle
2nd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Kansas State
Draft 6A - '06
Mansfield HS
Mansfield, Tex.

Jeromey Clary's career took off in 2007. It was quite an ascent for the former 2006 sixth-round draft choice, who spent his entire rookie season on the club's practice squad.

When the '07 season started, Clary made the squad as a reserve tackle and special teams performer. He was called upon several times early in the season to spell players at both tackle and guard. Then in early December with the Bolts' running game struggling to get on track, Head Coach Norv Turner inserted Clary into the starting lineup to replace a struggling Shane Olivea at right tackle. Over the final five games of the regular season, the Chargers rushed for 880 yards and eight touchdowns, an average of 176 yards and 1.6 rushing touchdowns per game. Not surprisingly, the Bolts went 5-0 during that stretch. With Olivea being released in February, the path has been cleared for Clary, who heads into 2008 as the team's starting right tackle.

As a collegian at Kansas State, Clary was one of the top tackles in the Big 12 Conference. He and Chargers running back Darren Sproles were teammates at K-State. In Jeromey's first season as a starter (2003) as a sophomore, he helped pave the way for Sproles to lead the nation in rushing with 1,986 yards.

Off the field, Clary enjoys spending time with his wife Breanna, playing golf and hanging out at the beach.

STEPHEN COOPER

Linebacker
6-1, 235
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Maine
Free Agent - '03
Wareham HS
Wareham, Mass.

In his first year as a starter, linebacker Stephen Cooper became one of the key cogs in the Chargers' defense.

Unfortunately his second year as one of the team's starting inside linebackers will be delayed. In April, the NFL announced that Cooper will be suspended for the Chargers' first four regular season games for violating the NFL's Policy on Steroids and Related Substances.

In 2007, Cooper led the team with 179 tackles in the regular season and tallied double-digit tackle totals in 13 of the team's 16 regular season games. He also paced the team in the playoffs with 38 total tackles and double digit tallies in two of the team's three playoff games, including 18 against Indianapolis in the Divisional Playoffs.

Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith had a feeling that Cooper was on the fast track to a breakout season and the Bolts inked him to a new five-year deal in 2007 before the season even started. It was quite a climb for a player who originally found his way to the NFL as an undrafted rookie from the University of Maine.

Cooper enjoys playing basketball and spending time with his son, Koby, and daughter, Karis. Stephen is the third-oldest of five children and he often returns to his native Wareham, Mass. to visit his family. Cooper was a quarterback in high school and led Wareham to a Super Bowl championship in 1995. In 2006, the school retired his No. 4 jersey during the Chargers' bye week and Cooper attended the ceremony. As a collegian at the University of Maine, Cooper switched to defense as a linebacker and went on to become the Atlantic-10 Conference's Defensive Player of the Year.

Stephen is the first member of the Cooper family to graduate from college. He has already decided that when the time comes to hang up his football helmet, he would like to pursue a career in teaching and coaching.

ANTONIO CROMARTIE

Cornerback
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Florida State
Draft 1 - '06
Lincoln HS
Tallahassee, Fla.

When Antonio Cromartie stepped into the starting lineup in Week 10 of the 2007 season, his presence made an immediate impact on the team and was felt around the League.

Cromartie, the Chargers' 2006 first-round draft choice out of Florida State, led the NFL with 10 interceptions, becoming only the second player in team history to do so, joining Charlie McNeil (1961). Cromartie became an All-Pro, garnered several votes as the NFL's Defensive Player of the Year and became the first Chargers cornerback to make the Pro Bowl since Ryan McNeil in 2002. Although he started just eight games, his impact was profound. Cromartie recorded at least one interception in each of the last three games and all 10 of his interceptions came in the team's last nine contests.

Cromartie's coming-out party took place in a span of three weeks in late October and early November. On Oct. 28 against Houston, Cromartie scored two touchdowns, recovering an errant punt snap in the end zone and returning an interception 70 yards for a score. They were his first NFL TDs. A week later in Minnesota, Cromartie set an NFL record that will never be broken when he returned a missed field goal 109 yards for a touchdown on the final play of the first half. The following week, Cromartie turned in his crown-jewel performance of the season in front of a national-television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football when he racked up a career-high three picks against Indianapolis' Peyton Manning, the reigning Super Bowl MVP. Cromartie's three picks off Manning, which all took place in the first half, included a one-handed leaping interception that made everyone's highlight reel.

Including the Indianapolis game, Cromartie had three multi-pick games during the season, one shy of the NFL single-season record. Cromartie added two more picks in the postseason and was one of only seven players to intercept multiple passes in the playoffs. He intercepted Manning once again in the Chargers-Colts Jan. 13 Divisional Playoff Game at the RCA Dome and added another a week later against Tom Brady in the AFC Championship Game.

Antonio left Florida State after playing just two seasons in Tallahassee. His collegiate career started with great promise as he was one of only a handful of true freshmen to letter in 2003. He delivered another solid season in 2004, earning first-team All-ACC honors despite starting only one game.

The reason Cromartie left school early was because in 2005, while preparing for his junior season during a voluntary workout, he injured his knee while defending a pass in a one-on-one drill. The injury required surgery, forcing him to sit out the entire season. After the injury, Antonio worked diligently in his rehabilitation and exceeded the medical timetable that the doctors and trainers had set for him.

Antonio was planning to return to Florida State for the 2006 season, but days before his team played in the 2006 Orange Bowl, he got a phone call from his mom, Cassandra, informing him that she'd been diagnosed with breast cancer. With his mom facing a life-threatening illness, and a young son at home, Cromartie decided it was best for his family if he were to leave Florida State and make himself available for the 2006 NFL Draft. The Chargers are glad that he did and they demonstrated it by making him the 19th pick in the first round.

Antonio grew up in Tallahassee so it was only natural that he enrolled with the hometown Seminoles. Interestingly, he had never been to a game at FSU's Doak Campbell Stadium until he was recruited by Florida State.

As a way of giving back to the community in which he was raised, Cromartie recently started The Bam Bam 13 Foundation in Tallahassee. The goal of the nonprofit foundation is to help youth reach their dreams by offering unique programs, resources and opportunities. In April, Cromartie hosted a Celebrity Weekend, which included a youth football camp at his alma mater, Lincoln High School. The camp was attended by several of Cromartie's Chargers' teammates, including Marcus McNeill and Cletis Gordon.

Cromartie comes from a very athletic family. His brother T.J. played wide receiver at Michigan State. Their cousin is former Major League outfielder Warren Cromartie, a career .281 hitter who played 11 seasons with the Montreal Expos and Kansas City Royals. Another cousin, Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie recently finished his college career at Tennessee State University and was chosen by the Arizona Cardinals with the 16th pick of the first round in April's NFL Draft. Antonio is often compared to another very talented athlete, former Florida State and NFL cornerback and return specialist, Deion "Prime Time" Sanders. The two are close friends and speak frequently throughout the year.

While Antonio's superior speed and athleticism have tricked a few people into thinking that he could fly, he had the chance to take flight with some of the nation's best in March when he received a special invitation to fly in an FA-18 Hornet with the U.S. Navy's Blue Angels from their base in El Centro, California. Cromartie stayed awake during the entire 45-minute flight, which saw his FA-18 exceed speeds of 800 mph while the gravitational pull neared 6 Gs.

Cromartie got married in June, tying the knot with the former Rhonda Patterson in Atlanta.

Cromartie enjoys spending time with his children, Alonzo, Karis, Antonio, Deyjah and Jaden. His hobbies include playing basketball, watching movies and collecting trading cards. He estimates that his collection numbers around 2,000 pieces and one of his best cards is that of Chargers Hall of Fame quarterback Dan Fouts. Cromartie also spends time looking after his four dogs: Noah, Bear, Serena and Diamond.

BUSTER DAVIS

Wide Receiver
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Louisiana State
Draft 1 - '07
Walker HS
New Orleans, La.

Wide receiver Buster Davis, the Chargers' top pick in the 2007 NFL Draft, gained valuable experience as a rookie. He benefited from working alongside a pair of proven veterans in Chris Chambers and Vincent Jackson.

Davis, who played collegiately at LSU in one of the nation's top football conferences, was unshaken as a rookie. He started his first-ever game on NBC's Sunday Night Football against the three-time Super Bowl Champion New England Patriots and a week later caught his first NFL touchdown pass in Green Bay's Lambeau Field.

A tireless worker, Davis spent the summer before his senior season at LSU running routes and catching passes from Peyton and Eli Manning at the annual Manning Passing Academy in Thibodaux, Louisiana.

Davis experienced many highs and lows during his collegiate career in Baton Rouge. The highs included winning a National Championship as a freshman in 2003; the ritual walk down "The Hill into LSU's Tiger Stadium, and his first-ever live game action as a redshirt freshman in the '03 Southeastern Conference opener against Georgia.

The lows included enduring the destruction and devastation that ravaged the South when Hurricane Katrina hit just before his junior season was set to begin in 2005. Katrina forced the relocation of a home game against Arizona State, and it pushed back the Tigers' next home game against Tennessee to a Monday night, a game that Davis will remember for the rest of his life. It was the first major sporting event in the state following the Hurricane. He will also remember having 14 of his family members staying in his Baton Rouge apartment as their New Orleans' homes were either badly damaged or destroyed. Following the devastation, Davis lent his time to the relief effort, unloading trucks and helping collect clothing donations at the school's Maravich Assembly Center.

Davis' hobbies include fishing, baseball, video games and watching old war movies.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Selected by Chargers in first round (30) of NFL Draft, April 28, 2007...signed five-year contract with Chargers, July 25, 2007.

2007: Made first-career start Week 2 at New England and helped keep third-quarter touchdown drive alive by drawing 37-yard pass interference penalty on 3rd-and-7 play...caught first-career touchdown pass (nine yards) in Lambeau Field on Sept. 23 against Green Bay Packers...TD catch helped Bolts get within three points (17-14) late in first half...helped extend first-quarter touchdown drive Week 6 vs. Oakland with 18-yard catch on 3rd-and-2 play...11-yard catch on third-and-eight play helped sustain TD drive on opening series of third quarter vs. Detroit Dec. 16...helped set up Chargers' first touchdown in Jan. 13 AFC Divisional Playoffs at Indianapolis with 18-yard catch on third-and-eight play.

COLLEGE: Finished career as school's seventh all-time leading receiver with 141 catches and 2,107 yards...only seventh player in school history to eclipse 2,000 career receiving yards...caught pass in 35-straight games to close out career...scored seven touchdowns as receiver and one on punt returns...second-team All-Southeastern Conference return specialist as senior...redshirted in 2002...played at LSU from 2003-06...arts and sciences major.

PERSONAL: Born in New Orleans, Louisiana...All-America wide receiver at Walker High School in New Orleans...also lined up at split end, quarterback, punter and place kicker as senior...caught 82 passes for 1,171 yards and 16 touchdowns in leading Walker to Class 4A state championship game as senior...runner up for state title as junior...also lettered in baseball.

KRIS DIELMAN

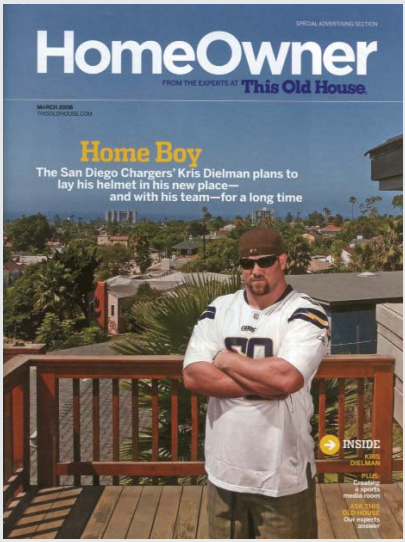

Guard
6-4, 310
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Indiana
Free Agent - '03
Troy HS
Troy, Ohio

68

Kris Dielman's game reached new heights in 2007, earning a place on the 2008 Pro Bowl squad. Fearing he may never get a chance to play in the NFL's all-star game due to a ferocious style of play that often infuriates opponents, Dielman earned the utmost respect of his peers in his selection. It was an enjoyable week as he was joined in Hawaii by the entire Chargers coaching staff.

Dielman's hard-nosed, physical play in the trenches helped set the tone for the NFL's seventh-ranked rushing attack in 2007. The Chargers rushed for 2,039 yards and an average of 127.4 yards per game. It included a 274-yard performance against Detroit in December, the second-most prolific rushing day in team history. In 13 of 19 games last season (including playoffs), the Chargers gave up zero or one sack, and three times the Bolts rushed for more than 200 yards. Dielman was a key asset in pass protection and, according to his coaches, did not give up a sack in '07.

In March, Kris' home was featured in Sports Illustrated in a special advertising section called "HomeOwner."

Dielman had added incentive to play well. An unrestricted free agent following the 2006 season, he passed up a chance to chase riches and start anew in a different NFL city and signed one of the biggest contracts ever awarded to an offensive lineman in team history. He chose to follow his heart and signed a new six-year deal to stay with the Chargers through 2012. Team President Dean Spanos played a key role in the Bolts' push to retain their starting left guard.

Dielman is a throwback. He's tough and nasty, the kind of player opposing defensive linemen don't want to face on a Sunday afternoon. Three hours in the trenches against Dielman is like a 15-round heavyweight title fight. A former defensive lineman in college, Kris made the move to the offensive line shortly after joining the Chargers as an undrafted free agent and he hasn't looked back since.

Dielman moved into the starting lineup in 2005 and a year later he helped the Chargers shatter several offensive records, including points and rushing yards for a season. He and his fellow lineman's play up front also helped LaDainian Tomlinson score an NFL-record 31 touchdowns en route to winning NFL Most Valuable Player honors.

One of the reasons Dielman elected to stay in San Diego is that the 27-year-old Ohio native owns a home on a hill overlooking Pacific Beach. The house offers a stunning panoramic view of San Diego from the La Jolla coast to Mexico. In March, Kris' house was featured in Sports Illustrated in a special advertising section called "Home Owner." One of Dielman's favorite pastimes is riding his beach cruiser along the boardwalk in Pacific Beach and Mission Beach. A regular on the beach scene, Dielman was invited to serve as a judge in the Miss Mission Beach Contest in May.

Another reason he chose to stay is the cadre of friends that he has made in San Diego. Among his closest friends are several San Diego Padres. Dielman regularly attends their games at Petco Park and he even caught a foul ball during a game in 2005.

Dielman enjoys watching NASCAR races, rodeos and ultimate fighting. Dielman is in a Fantasy Racing League with several friends, including teammate Scott Mruczkowski. In March, a group of them traveled to Bristol, Tennessee and sat in the pit area to watch NASCAR's Food City 500 at the Bristol Motor Speedway. Dielman has even met several of NASCAR's top drivers, including Jimmie Johnson, Dale Earnhardt, Jr. and Clint Boyer.

TIM DOBBINS

Linebacker
6-1, 246
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Iowa State
Draft 5 - '06
Glencliff HS
Nashville, Tenn.

51

A fearless competitor who's become a solid contributor on special teams, Tim Dobbins' 12 special teams tackles in 2007 tied for third on the squad. Dobbins is a compact and powerful inside linebacker that the Chargers selected in the fifth-round of the 2006 NFL Draft. While his defensive reps have been limited, Dobbins has become one of the team's top special teams players.

Off the field, Dobbins is mature beyond his years. Tim and his wife, Amanda, have two daughters, Timera and Anna. His hobbies include working out, bowling, golf, pool, skydiving, white-water rafting and riding dirt bikes. He also enjoys watching movies with his family, particularly action films. Though he no longer maintains his collection, as a child Tim collected coins with his grandmother, the late Mary McKinney.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fifth-round draft choice (151) by San Diego, April 30, 2006...signed four-year contract with Chargers, July 25, 2006.

2007: Logged extensive playing time and recorded nine stops at inside linebacker after Matt Wilhelm left contest in first quarter with calf injury...recovered muffed kickoff late in second quarter against Baltimore Nov. 25 as Bolts tacked on late first-half field goal to take 22-7 lead...huge day on special teams Dec. 16 vs. Detroit, forcing fumble and tying Jyles Tucker for team-high with three tackles...recorded FF on kickoff after Chargers scored on opening drive of third quarter...Bolts tacked on field goal after recovering fumble for 44-7 lead...led team with pair of unassisted special teams tackles in AFC Championship Game at New England. 2006: Played Weeks 1-16 and in playoff game, primarily on special teams...tied Matt Wilhelm for team lead with two special teams tackles in Week 2...led squad with two special teams stops Week 3 at Baltimore...added two more ST stops at SF Week 5...led team with pair of special teams stops at Buffalo Dec. 3...logged two special teams stops in Dec. 10 win over Denver...collected two special teams tackles Week 15 at Seattle...scored first-career touchdown when he recovered muffed punt in end zone in Dec. 31 season finale against Arizona...score gave Bolts 24-7 lead in third quarter.

COLLEGE: Two-time All-Big 12 selection at Iowa State, earning first-team honors as senior in 2005 and honorable mention recognition as junior in 2004...Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of Year in 2004...started every game for Cyclones...spent 2002-03 seasons at Copiah-Lincoln Junior College in Mississippi...all-state honorable mention in Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges after 2003 season in which he returned 48-yard interception and 44-yard fumble for touchdowns...finished JC career with 210 tackles, 13 sacks and four interceptions...played at Iowa State from 2004-05...sociology major.

PERSONAL: Born in Nashville, Tennessee...all-state linebacker at Glencliff High School selected to play in 2002 Tennessee-Kentucky All-Star Game in Knoxville...rushed for more than 1,400 yards as fullback...married, Amanda...has two daughters, Anna and Timera.

MALCOM FLOYD

Wide Receiver
3rd NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Wyoming
Free Agent - '04
River City HS
Sacramento, Calif.

80

At 6-5, Malcom Floyd is the tallest member of a deep and talented group of wide receivers. He's shown the ability to make acrobatic catches look routine. Floyd also can stretch the field and gives the Chargers another legitimate deep threat. That explosiveness in making plays downfield led several teammates to christen him with the nickname "M-80."

Floyd's older brother, Malcolm, played wide receiver for the Houston Oilers during the 1994-97 seasons. The elder Floyd is now an elementary school principal in Sacramento.

Malcom's hobbies include playing basketball, boogie boarding at Mission Beach and playing the newest video games. He was an all-conference basketball player in high school and his team won an intramural championship while he was in college at Wyoming.

ANTONIO GATES

Tight End
6-4, 260
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

Kent State
Free Agent - '03
Central HS

About the only thing that could slow down Antonio Gates in 2007 was a big toe.

Gates was his typical outstanding self during the regular season, leading the team with 75 catches, 984 yards and nine touchdowns. Then in the Chargers' playoff opener against the Tennessee Titans, Gates was hit on the ground after a catch and sprained his big toe. He left the game and did not return. Doctors were able to alleviate the discomfort so that he could play in the Divisional Playoffs and the AFC Championship Game, but Gates truly wasn't himself and had to undergo surgery following the season. He's been determined in his rehab and is expected to return at full strength for the 2008 season.

Gates had several memorable games in 2007. Among those that stood out were games against the Houston Texans and Titans. In October when the Chargers hosted the Texans while wildfires were still smoldering throughout scattered regions of San Diego, Gates caught 49 and 31-yard touchdown catches to lead the Chargers to a 35-10 win. On his second TD catch, Gates went over 4,000 yards receiving in just his 68th career game, making him the third-fastest tight end in NFL history to get there. The only two TEs to do it faster were former Bolt Kellen Winslow (58 games) and former Chicago Bear Mike Ditka (67). Then in December when the Chargers faced the Titans in a regular season game in Nashville's LP Field, Gates caught a game-tying touchdown pass with nine seconds left in the fourth quarter and then hauled in a key third down pass in overtime to sustain the game-winning drive.

A four-time Pro Bowler and a three-time All-Pro, Gates' 340 receptions since he came into the league in 2003 are the third most among tight ends. He ranks behind only Kansas City's Tony Gonzalez and Dallas' Jason Witten. Gates' 4,362 yards rank second to Gonzalez, but his 43 touchdown catches lead all tight ends and are tied for the fifth-most among all active players, including wide receivers.

Off the field, Gates has shown San Diegans that he can be a giver as well as a receiver. For the last several years, Gates has served as the honorary chairman for the Shoot to Cure HD, a speed free-throw shooting event that raises money for the Huntington's Disease Society of America. He has also served as the host of a holiday event for homeless teens from the San Diego Center for Children, the Clark Teen Center and the Ronald McDonald House.

Gates' unique route to the NFL is well-chronicled. When he signed with the Chargers in 2003, he had not strapped on shoulder pads since his senior season at Central High School in Detroit. He began his collegiate career at Michigan State under the assumption that he could play both football and basketball. When the school's football coach relented, Gates chose to focus on hoops and decided it was best to leave the East Lansing campus. An up-and-down start to his basketball career sent Antonio bouncing to three different schools before he finally found a home at Kent State. In two seasons for the Golden Flashes, he helped lead the team to back-to-back conference championships and the "Elite Eight" in the 2002 NCAA Tournament. Gates left the Kent, Ohio campus as the school's sixth all-time scorer. Labeled as a classic "tweener" coming out of college and not likely to be drafted into the NBA, Gates opted to give football another shot and that led to his signing with the Chargers.

In the May 2007 issue of Pro Football Hall of Fame Magazine, Gates was listed as the fourth-best undrafted player in NFL history.

Gates still follows college basketball closely and often participates in pickup games in the open gym at nearby San Diego State. In 2005 he attended his first-ever Final Four, traveling to St. Louis to cheer on Michigan State.

Gates enjoys movies and live comedy shows. Last May, he was invited to New York to tape a commercial with actor Bruce Willis for the movie "Die Hard 4." Gates often travels to Los Angeles comedy clubs to watch some of the West Coast's top comedians. Among his favorites are Mike Epps and Alex Thomas.

MIKE GOFF

Guard
6-5, 311
11th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Iowa
UFA (Cincinnati) - '04
LaSalle-Peru Township HS
Peru, Ill.

Mike Goff is a true ironman in every sense of the word. A senior member of the squad in his 11th NFL season, Goff comes into 2008 having started 90 straight games, nearly double the next-closest player on the Bolts' roster. Goff hasn't missed a start in the last five-plus seasons, despite playing a position where players routinely are blindsided and hit from all angles.

Goff has been a steadying force along a line that has helped the Chargers rush for more than 2,000 yards for a team-record and NFL-best six consecutive seasons. It includes a team-record 2,578 yard season in 2006, the same one during which LaDainian Tomlinson was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player after scoring a league-record 28 touchdowns while claiming the first of his two-straight NFL rushing titles.

Goff's steadying presence extends beyond the line of scrimmage. After signing with the Chargers as a free agent in 2004, he immediately assumed a leadership role on the offensive line. He took youngsters like Nick Hardwick and Marcus McNeill under his wing and opened his Pacific Beach home to guard Kris Dielman. And he regularly hosted members of the offensive line and other current and former teammates to his house for dinner. This camaraderie has paid huge dividends as the offensive line has excelled as a unit. In each of Goff's four seasons in San Diego, the Chargers have ranked in the NFL's top 10 in rushing offense, including a No. 7 ranking in 2007 and a No. 2 ranking in 2006.

For years, one of Goff's most recognizable characteristics was his long hair. That was until last summer when he cut his hair and donated it to Locks of Love, a public non-profit organization that provides hairpieces for children under 18 who have lost their hair as a result of undergoing chemotherapy treatments.

Goff's hobbies include traveling, reading, movies, golf and fishing, but his favorite hobby is cooking. Mike learned to cook by watching The Food Network and enjoys having teammates over to the house to sample his many specialty dishes. Since then, they have crowned him with the nickname "Chef." Goff has mastered many culinary specialties, but lists among his favorites: Creole tomato soup with croutons, stuffed jumbo shrimp with crabmeat dressing, lamb chops and pork Wellington.

Goff has competed in several Battle of the Chefs events, including one which served as a fundraiser to help Chef Gavin Kaysen travel to the world finals of the prestigious Bocuse d'Or culinary competition in France. Every Christmas and Thanksgiving, Goff deep-fries a couple turkeys and hams and invites teammates over who are away from their families during the holidays. Mike's travels this year included trips to Australia and Mexico, while past trips include the U.S. Virgin Islands, Aspen, St. Lucia, Thailand and Ireland.

Whenever he's not slaving over a hot stove or touring the globe, Goff helps his father, Lyman, run a trucking business the two own in Columbus, Ohio. Their company hauls outdoor materials, including gravel and bedrock.

Before being drafted by the Bengals in 1998, he posted score of 38 on the Wunderlich intelligence test. It was the second-highest score among offensive linemen tested at the '98 NFL Combine.

CLETIS GORDON

Cornerback
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Jackson State
Free Agent - '06
Amite HS
Amite City, La.

Cletis "Flash" Gordon, a former undrafted free agent from Jackson State, has great speed and athleticism and has become one of the Chargers' top special teams performers. He has a great opportunity to become the Chargers' nickel-back in 2008.

Gordon is the third member of his family to play in the NFL. His older cousin, Alan Ricard, played fullback for the Baltimore Ravens and Alan's younger brother, Lester, plays quarterback for the Jacksonville Jaguars. Cletis and Lester were teammates at Amite High School in Amite, Louisiana. Cletis was the team's star wide receiver and Lester was its quarterback.

Here in San Diego, Cletis isn't the only Gordon in the Chargers' locker room. On occasion, his brother, Kevin, an accomplished barber, stops by the Chargers locker room to offer haircuts for Cletis' teammates and anyone else in the organization in need of a trim.

Gordon grew up in Louisiana, but was a big fan of the Dallas Cowboys. His favorite players were Tony Dorsett and Deion Sanders. As a child, he had an extensive collection of football, baseball and basketball cards.

Gordon enjoys spending time with his family in Amite and his teammates in San Diego. In April, Cletis traveled to Tallahassee, Florida to coach youngsters at teammate Antonio Cromartie's football camp. In May, Cromartie returned the favor, traveling with Gordon to Amite to lend his expertise at Cletis' Flash24 Youth Football Camp. Gordon's first-ever camp in Amite attracted nearly 250 kids, who were put through a battery of football drills at the city's Russell Memorial Stadium. As a child, Gordon worked to save money so that he could attend football camps and he made a pledge that if he made it to the NFL, then he would offer a free camp for kids. He stayed true to his word.

Gordon's hobbies include basketball, golf, watching movies, bowling and shopping. He is also a local spokesperson for Mothers Against Drunk Driving (MADD) and makes regular appearances in San Diego schools to warn youth about the dangers of drinking and driving.

STEVE GREGORY

Cornerback-Safety
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Syracuse
Free Agent - '06
Curtis HS
Staten Island, N.Y.

Another of the Chargers' outstanding special teams players, Steve Gregory has continued to see more time on defense as he enters his third NFL season. A former standout at Syracuse who worked his way onto the Chargers' roster as an undrafted free agent, Gregory's nine special teams tackles in 2007 were the fifth-most on the squad. His ability to play both cornerback and safety make him an asset on defense.

Gregory grew up in Staten Island, New York and his family still resides there. His father, Steve, and stepmother, Judy, are both retired from the New York Police Department, however both were on active duty when the terror attacks of 9/11 struck New York City. His brother, Anthony, also makes his home in New York City, working as a chef at the Four Seasons Hotel in Manhattan.

Steve's hobbies include golf, video games, movies, pool, bowling, darts and poker. He played baseball through high school as a shortstop and center fielder and had tryouts with the New York Mets and New York Yankees before enrolling at Syracuse to pursue a career on the college gridiron.

NICK HARDWICK

Center
6-4, 295
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Purdue
Draft 3B - '04
Lawrence North HS
Indianapolis, Ind.

Nick Hardwick is starting the 2008 season on the mend.

In March, Hardwick was forced to have surgery for a severely sprained right foot that had plagued him since last October. The surgery, which was performed the day he and his wife Jayme were due to leave for a trip to Maui and Australia, typically requires a four to six-month rehabilitation period. Hardwick is optimistic though that he'll be healed and ready to go in time for the season.

Hardwick is a key cog in the offensive line. In addition to his responsibilities as a run blocker, Hardwick plays a huge role in pass protection and calling out the blocking signals for the entire offensive line. He's been a starter since his rookie season in 2004 and the Chargers have rushed for at least 2,000 yards each of those seasons, including a team-record 2,578 yards in 2006. With Hardwick leading the way, LaDainian Tomlinson was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player in '06 and has won the last two NFL rushing titles.

Hardwick's route to the NFL was not a common one. A standout prep wrestler, he enrolled at Purdue intent on wrestling for the Boilermakers. That all changed however after former Chargers QB Drew Brees led the Boilermakers to the 2001 Rose Bowl and Hardwick saw the excitement that it generated on the West Lafayette, Indiana campus. The following fall, he decided to walk on to the school's football team. A year after earning a spot as a defensive tackle on the scout team, Hardwick became the team's starting center and earned all-conference honors. In 2004, the Chargers made him a third-round draft pick and he's been a starter ever since. Hardwick's wife, Jayme, is also a former Boilermaker, having played soccer for Purdue's women's team.

Hardwick still maintains close ties to his alma mater. In 2007, he endowed a football scholarship at the school that will be given annually to a walk-on player who earns a scholarship just as Hardwick did. And this past June, he returned to West Lafayette to receive the Drew Brees Mental Attitude Award, presented by the Joe Tiller/Northwest Indiana Chapter of the National Football Foundation. Hardwick became the fourth former Boilermaker to receive the award. The winner each year is chosen by Brees and recognizes an athlete who exemplifies exceptional mental attitude.

Nick enjoys a wide range of extreme sports including surfing, snowboarding and skateboarding. The 300-pounder often can be seen paddling out on his 10-foot Ace longboard at Tourmaline Street Beach, one of San Diego's premier longboard surfing spots. The Point Loma resident also enjoys skateboarding and rides his long skateboard on the boardwalks of San Diego's beaches. One of many Chargers with an interest in classic cars, Hardwick owns a 1975 Chrysler Cordoba.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Third-round pick (66) by San Diego, April 24, 2004...signed three-year contract July 29, 2004...signed new six-year contract through 2011, June 16, 2006.

MARQUES HARRIS

Linebacker
6-1, 231
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Southern Utah
Free Agent - '05
Grand Junction HS
Grand Junction, Colo.

Marques Harris is one of the many undrafted free agents on the Chargers' roster making a name for himself as a top-tier special teams performer. He is also a valuable situational performer in the team's linebacking corps. Harris has gained national notoriety for celebrating big plays with a back-handspring that has been replayed on highlight shows across the country, including ESPN's SportsCenter.

Harris is highly respected among teammates for his outstanding work ethic and commitment to preparing his body for the rigors of the game.

Harris is just as astute in the classroom as he is on the football field. In March, he and teammate Cory Withrow attended the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business. The three-day program taught NFL players how to evaluate business opportunities, specifically in the sports industry. Harris is interested in real estate and envisions a post-football career in that industry. He currently owns homes in San Diego and Colorado.

Having spent most of his childhood in Colorado, Marques participates in a wide range of outdoor activities, including snowboarding, backpacking, camping and fishing.

When Marques began his collegiate career at the University of Colorado, he became a second generation Buffalo. His dad, Alvin Phillips, played linebacker for the Buffaloes from 1972-76 and his uncle, Chuck Wiman, also played for the Buffaloes in the '70s.

Marques regularly volunteers for community events in San Diego. He got an early start in community service, founding two non-profit organizations while he was still in college. In October 2002, he founded Harris' Kids Inc., an organization to help underprivileged kids who need mentoring, and he later founded a similar organization called Baseline, Inc.

In his spare time, Harris enjoys spending time with family and friends. Teammates Jacques Cesaire and Quentin Jammer are among his closest friends. Last October during the Chargers' bye week, Harris and his wife, Brandy, and Cesaire and his wife, Jill, all went to Los Angeles together to watch a taping of the hit reality show, "The Contender," hosted by former boxing champion, "Sugar" Ray Leonard.

CLINTON HART

Safety

It is often said that good things happen to good people, and Clinton Hart is a perfect example.

To get to this point of his career, Hart traveled down an unconventional path. Now on the cusp of becoming one of the NFL's premier safeties, Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith rewarded Hart for his persistence and perseverance by re-signing him to a new five-year deal in April 2008 that will keep him in San Diego through the 2012 season.

Last season, Hart made his debut as the team's new starting strong safety and turned in his finest season as a pro. He played a key role as the Chargers led the NFL in interceptions, takeaways and turnover ratio. Hart finished the year tied for ninth in the NFL and was second on the squad with a career-high five interceptions, including one on the final play of a Nov. 11 game against Indianapolis that helped the Chargers clinch a victory over the defending Super Bowl Champion Colts. Hart backed up his interception totals with a career-best 109 tackles, which led the secondary and ranked third on the team. He also registered his first sack since 2003.

Interestingly, Hart never donned a helmet or shoulder pads in college. Instead, he was a standout on his school's baseball team. At Sumter South High School in Bushnell, Florida, he played both football and baseball, but after graduating, Hart enrolled at Central Florida Community College to play baseball and stay close to his family.

It seems Hart was always destined to play football. During college, he used to bring a football to baseball practice to warm up his arm. The coaches teased him that he was playing the wrong sport.

In 2000, Hart had a tryout with the Tallahassee Thunder of AFL2 and made the team. Hart earned just $162 per week and had to endure bus rides of up to 20 hours. In 2001, he signed with the Tampa Bay Storm of the AFL and had a breakout season that ended with AFL Rookie of the Year honors.

Hart's success in the Arena League landed him a contract offer from the Philadelphia Eagles in 2002. Once signed, he was allocated to NFL Europe where he played for the Rhein Fire and Amsterdam Admirals. Upon returning to the states, he went to training camp with the Eagles, but was released toward the end of camp. Philadelphia later signed him to their practice squad.

Hart's career took off in 2003 and teams began to take notice of his play. Still with the Eagles, he was called upon in midseason to replace injured Pro Bowl safety Brian Dawkins. Hart filled in admirably and the Eagles went 7-2 in the nine games that he started. After being waived by the Eagles the following season, he was immediately claimed off waivers by the Bolts.

Clinton has not forgotten his roots in Florida. He hosts a youth football camp and donates time and resources to the Webster Sports Complex near his hometown of Bushnell, Fla. He also helped rebuild the roof on the church he and his family attended in Webster.

Clinton has always enjoyed working with kids. He worked as a counselor and recreation specialist at the Marion Youth Development Center in Ocala, Fla.

In October of 2006 Clinton and his wife, Kelli Fuqua, had their first child, a daughter named Lillian.

One of Hart's favorite hobbies is watching DVDs of "Sanford and Son" and the movie "Rocky." He even keeps a statue of Rocky Balboa in his locker. Hart is also an accomplished barber and has a barber's license. In April 2008, Hart opened his own barber shop called The Brickhouse Salon in Ocala.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Philadelphia, Jan. 29, 2002...waived by Eagles, Aug. 24, 2002... signed to Eagles' practice squad, Nov. 19, 2002... re-signed with Philadelphia, Jan. 30, 2003...waived by Eagles, Sept. 14, 2004...claimed by Chargers, Sept. 15, 2004...signed three-year contract with Chargers Feb. 2, 2006...agreed to new five-year contract thru 2012, April 7, 2008.

2007: Tied for ninth in NFL with career-high five interceptions...making his debut as team's new starting strong safety, Hart's nine tackles ranked third on defense and fumble recovery early in fourth quarter led to offensive touchdown eight plays later that gave Bolts 14-3 lead over Chicago in season opener...collected first interception of season off pass tipped by Randy Moss in Week 2 game at VINCENT JACKSON

Wide Receiver
6-5, 241
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Northern Colorado
Draft 2 - '05
Widefield HS
Colorado Springs, CO

Vincent Jackson picked the right time to shine for the San Diego Chargers.

After grinding through a regular season in which he caught 41 passes for 623 yards and three touchdowns, Jackson burst onto the scene in the NFL Playoffs, leading the league with 300 postseason receiving yards. He had at least 93 yards receiving in all three of the Chargers' playoff games, including his first career 100-yard game when he recorded 114 yards and a touchdown in the Bolts' Wild Card Playoff win over the Tennessee Titans. Throughout the postseason, Jackson routinely made huge catches on third down, tying for the league lead with eight third-down catches, good for 152 yards (19.0 avg) and a touchdown.

At 6-5, 241 pounds, Jackson possesses a rare blend of size and speed that often draws comparisons to the league's best receivers. Despite the high praise, Jackson remains humble. He had to work for everything that he earned in life. As a high schooler, "Jax" worked several odd jobs, including cleaning rooms in a Super 8 Motel and selling vacuum cleaners door-to-door. And despite oustanding grades, a solid prep football career and jobs throughout high school, Jackson was unable to attract attention from the state's two biggest schools, Colorado or Colorado State.

As a collegian at Northern Colorado, Jackson became a two-sport standout, excelling in football and basketball. He rewrote most of the school's football records; was a two-time All-America, and became the highest NFL draft choice in school history. On the hardwood, Jackson played two seasons for the Bears and earned All-Independent League honors as a junior when he led the team in points and assists.

Jackson is happy to call San Diego home after spending much of his childhood in Louisiana. His father, Terence, was an Army medic and the family moved often. Jackson's family also lived in Phoenix, Arizona and Grafenwoher, Germany before settling in Colorado Springs.

This summer, Jackson passed along his experience as an NFL wide receiver at a football camp that he hosted for kids of all ages at Westview High School in San Diego.

Cornerback
6-0, 204
7th NFL Season
7th with Chargers

Texas
Draft 1 - '02
Angleton HS
Angleton, Tex.

Quentin Jammer, the veteran leader of the Chargers' secondary, has quietly become one of the NFL's top all-around cornerbacks. While his play doesn't always make the highlight reels, Jammer is as solid as they come and week-in and week-out he is called upon to go toe-to-toe with the NFL's best receivers.

With Jammer manning the left cornerback spot, the Chargers' defense led the NFL in opponent passer rating (70.0) in 2007. It marked the first time the Chargers ever led the NFL in that category. The secondary's stellar play continued in the playoffs, where the Chargers' 76.7 opponent passer rating was fourth-best among the NFL's 12 playoff teams.

Quentin and his wife, Alicia, are very active in the community. They oversee the Jammer Family Foundation, which has partnered with the San Pasqual Academy, a first-of-its-kind residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. Jammer officially announced this partnership with the Academy last year at the Foundation's "Building Futures 2007" event. The Jammers intend on making "Building Futures" an annual event. Last year's inaugural event was held at the Crosby Golf Club in Rancho Santa Fe. The Jammer Family Foundation's goal is to provide support and activities that will allow San Pasqual students to grow, succeed and experience the joy of being a child by helping to form relationships between peers and the community. The Foundation already hosts annual Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners for students of the Academy. In addition, Jammer has invited players from the Academy's football team to be his special guests at Chargers training camp practices and he hosts 20 students from the school at each Chargers home game in partnership with the Chargers Community Corner.

Quentin and Alicia have two sons. Their youngest, Kaleb, was born in February on Valentine's Day and their oldest, Kaden Matthew, was born in March 2006.

The Jammer family enjoys vacationing in Mexico and spending time with family and friends in both San Diego and their native Texas. They like to entertain and often host other members of the Chargers' secondary at their home for barbecues.

NATE KAEDING

Kicker
6-0, 187
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Iowa
Draft 3A - '04
West HS
Iowa City, Iowa

A Pro Bowler in 2006, Nate Kaeding has earned a reputation as one of the NFL's best young kickers. He comes into 2008 off another outstanding season, one where his 24 of 27 (.889) success rate on field goals was fifth-best in the NFL.

Kaeding turned in a courageous performance in the 2007 AFC Championship Game. Despite playing with a fractured left leg, he hit all four of his field goal tries against New England on a day when the game-time temperature was just 23 degrees and winds of 17-22 mph lowered the wind-chill to a bitter nine degrees.

Since being drafted by the Chargers in 2004, Kaeding has hit on 91 of 105 field goal tries in the regular season, an 86.7% conversion percentage that is the NFL's fifth-highest over the last five seasons. Just as impressive is his team-record streak of 175 consecutive made PATs that dates back to the '04 season. Though he has not yet made 100 field goals, the criteria for the team's all-time record, Kaeding's field goal percentage (.867) is much higher than that of the top two kickers all-time in team history, John Carney (.816) and Rolf Benirschke (.702). Kaeding should make his 100th field goal early in the 2008 season.

Kaeding is an avid golfer and frequently tees off with fellow special teamers David Binn and Mike Scifres. Several years ago, Kaeding transferred his golfing experience onto the football field, enlisting the services of a local golf professional to videotape and analyze his leg swing. The golf pro attends offseason workouts with Nate to film him while he is kicking. After each session, the two review the tape to help Nate improve on his kicking mechanics.

Kaeding is still renowned in his native Iowa City where one local restaurant, Bob's Your Uncle Pizza and Cafe, named a pizza after the former Hawkeye standout. The Nate "Kato" Kaeding pizza is decked out with sausage, pepperoni, mushrooms and onions.

Each year, Kaeding returns to Iowa City to host a football camp with several former Iowa Hawkeyes, including Chargers teammate Mike Goff and Oakland Raiders tackle Robert Gallery. Kids who attend the camp receive instruction in football, soccer and basketball, all sports in which Nate excelled during his prep career at West High School.

Nate is married to the former Samantha Gervich. Their first child, Jack, was born in May. Samantha is a substitute teacher in San Diego. Nate too has a long-standing interest in education. He earned a teaching certificate in secondary studies from Iowa and completed the Character Education Certification Program at the University of San Diego. That program is designed for educators to enhance their knowledge and ability to assess character education in schools and communities.

An admitted movie buff, Kaeding has his own internet blog where he reviews films for www.corridorbuzz.com, an online magazine that provides arts and entertainment news and reviews for the Cedar Rapids/Iowa City Corridor.

BRANDON MANUMALEUNA

Tight End
6-2, 288
8th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Arizona
Trade (St. Louis) - '06
Narbonne HS
Torrance, Calif.

It's rare that an NFL team can boast about possessing the best blocking tight end in the game and the game's best receiving tight end. The Chargers can make such a boast.

Brandon Manumaleuna (MAH-noo-mah-lee-oon-ah) and Antonio Gates give the Chargers a great one-two punch at tight end. While the two differ in size and speed, both make a huge impact in Norv Turner's high-powered offense. And it doesn't hurt that Manumaleuna is an extremely versatile player who has lined up at tight end, fullback, H-back and wide receiver, in addition to playing special teams during his career.

The 6-2, 288-pound Manumaleuna is as agile and shifty as he his big. And while he doesn't catch as many passes as Gates, Manumaleuna is as sure-handed as any of the Chargers' pass catchers. Having a tight end who is a dependable blocker and a good receiver is a key component of Turner's offensive system. For the fifth-year in a row, Manumaleuna recorded double-digit reception totals and in each of his two years with the Chargers, San Diego's offense has rushed for more than 2,000 yards.

Manumaleuna joined the Chargers in 2006 after General Manager A.J. Smith pulled off one of the biggest steals of the draft, shipping a fourth-round pick to the St. Louis Rams in exchange for his services. Right away, Manumaleuna became a key cog in the Chargers' offense, scoring touchdowns on three of his 14 catches, and helping to block for a running game that netted a team-record 2,578 yards and an NFL MVP award for LaDainian Tomlinson.

Brandon's off-the-field hobbies include playing basketball and spending time with family. Brandon is a second-generation NFL player. His father, Frank, played linebacker for the Kansas City Chiefs from 1979-1981. Frank also played at UCLA in the early 1970s. Brandon showed early signs of following in his father's footsteps. As a 12-year-old, he won the NFL's Punt, Pass and Kick Competition before a 1992 Los Angeles Raiders game at the Coliseum.

BRANDON McKINNEY

Defensive Tackle
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Michigan State
Free Agent - '06
Chaminade-Julienne HS
Dayton, Ohio

Brandon McKinney's size, strength and versatility make him a valuable part of the Chargers' defensive line. The big man with the big heart will play with an angel by his side this year as Brandon has had to cope with the untimely death of his mother, Diane McKinney, earlier this year. A former social worker in his native Dayton, Ohio, Diane helped mold Brandon into as fine a young man as you will find inside of an NFL locker room.

Last year in 2007, McKinney's second professional season, he saw time at both nose tackle and defensive end. When Pro Bowl nose tackle Jamal Williams was bothered by injuries late in the season, McKinney stepped up his game. He posted a career-high six tackles in Dec. 9 win at Tennessee and had three stops in each of the Bolts' last three regular-season contests.

A former undrafted free agent, McKinney split time between the practice squad and the active roster as a rookie. The former Michigan State Spartan has benefited from working under veteran defensive line coach Wayne Nunnely and is expected to continue to provide valuable depth in 2008.

McKinney lives in Chula Vista in the home of teammate Marcus McNeill. His hobbies include spending time with family, basketball and video games.

Following in the footsteps of his parents, Brandon was a sociology major in college. He enjoys working with kids, and while a student at MSU, he helped run an on-campus summer day program for kids 12-18 years old. While his mother was a social worker, his father, Timothy, is the state director for Dayton's Urban League.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed two-year contract with Chargers as undrafted rookie, May 8, 2006... waived, Sept. 2, 2006...re-signed to practice squad, Sept. 4...signed to active roster, Nov. 11, 2006... signed one-year contract, March 25, 2008.

2007: Inactive Weeks 1-2...saw extensive action at defensive tackle and collected season-high six tackles at Tennessee Dec. 9...started final two games against Denver and Oakland...recorded tackle for loss among three stops against Raiders...inactive for all three post-season contests. 2006: Spent Weeks 1-8 on practice squad...signed to active roster Nov. 11 and saw reserve action Weeks 9-12, 15-16 and in AFC Divisional Playoff game vs. New England...inactive Weeks 13-14...saw extensive action in season finale against Arizona after Jacques Cesaire left game injured.

COLLEGE: Started two-and-a-half seasons at defensive tackle for Michigan State Spartans...finished career with 93 tackles, 2.5 sacks and six tackles for loss... second-leading tackler on defensive line with career-high 42 stops as junior in 2004...received medical redshirt in 2003 while recovering from foot injury... played at Michigan State from 2002-05...earned degree in social science.

PERSONAL: Born in Dayton, Ohio...PrepStar All-America and two-time Associated Press all-state selection at Chaminade-Julienne High School in Dayton.

Tackle
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Auburn
Draft 2 - '06
Cedar Grove HS
Ellenwood, Ga.

The only thing bigger than Marcus McNeill's smile is his talent. Two years into his NFL career, the former Auburn Tiger has been to two Pro Bowls and is starting to hear his name mentioned among the best left tackles in football.

McNeill earned his second trip to Hawaii in February following a strong sophomore campaign in which he helped running back LaDainian Tomlinson capture his second-consecutive NFL rushing title. McNeill's long arms and quick feet help him keep pass rushers at bay as he is served with the crucial task of protecting Philip Rivers' blindside.

The Chargers stole McNeill in the second round of the 2006 NFL Draft. While McNeill undoubtedly possessed first-round talent, it was reported that he was slowed by a lumbar spinal injury in college that would most likely limit him in the NFL. The Chargers were confident in their medical research and their diligence has paid off. In his first two seasons, McNeill has yet to miss a start or practice during the regular season.

McNeill's rookie season in 2006 was one for the storybooks. He helped the Bolts rush for a team-record 2,578 yards and according to the coaches grading system, allowed only two quarterback sacks in 494 total pass plays during the season. More often than not, Tomlinson found running room behind the 336-pound McNeill.

More honors came pouring in during and after the '06 season for the Bolts' behemoth tackle. In September, he was named the NFL's Offensive Rookie of the Month and at the end of the year, his Pro Bowl selection was accompanied by several All-Pro and All-Rookie honors.

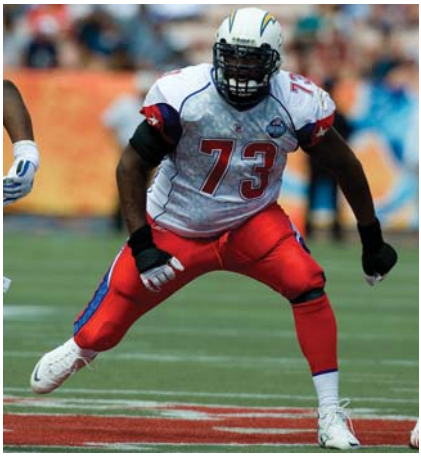

McNeill's first trip to Hawaii was unique. He became just the third rookie offensive lineman in NFL history to earn Pro Bowl honors, joining Richmond Webb (1991 Pro Bowl) and Chris Hinton (1984 Pro Bowl).

Off the field, McNeill enjoys spending time with his family in Decatur, Georgia. The easygoing McNeill particularly likes to spend time with his father, James, who was his high school coach at Cedar Grove High School and now teaches and coaches at Cedar Grove Middle School, and his mother, Leola, who is a nurse and a Colonel in the Air Force Reserves at Dobbins Air Force Base in Marietta, Georgia. He also likes to watch his nephew, Marquez, ride his four-wheeler.

Marcus makes his home locally in Chula Vista where his house-mate is Chargers defensive tackle Brandon McKinney. Marcus' hobbies include playing basketball, bowling and watching movies. This offseason, McNeill started his own charitable foundation called "Mac's Miracles." In April, he put his bowling ball to good use, hosting a bowling fundraiser in Decatur to benefit the foundation. Proceeds from the foundation will go toward youth fitness programs in and around Decatur.

SHAWNE MERRIMAN

Linebacker
6-4, 272
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Maryland
Draft 1A - '05
Frederick Douglas HS
Upper Marlboro, Md.

In just three seasons, Shawne "Lights Out" Merriman has become one of the NFL's preeminent superstars. In 2007 he earned his third Pro Bowl invitation in as many professional seasons and he continued to strike fear in opponents as one of the game's most lethal defenders.

While Merriman takes pride in all facets of his game, getting to the quarterback is his specialty. Despite regularly facing multiple blockers, Merriman still managed to finish tied for sixth in the NFL with 12.5 sacks in '07, and among linebackers, only Dallas' DeMarcus Ware (14) had more.

Merriman has recorded at least 10 sacks in each of his three NFL seasons and he's already among the most prolific pass rushers in Chargers history. With 39.5 career sacks, including an NFL-leading and team record-tying 17 in 2006, Merriman enters the 2008 season with the eighth-most sacks in team annals. He needs just four more to move into a tie with Leroy Jones for seventh all time.

It is said that sacks come in bunches and Merriman certainly likes to collect them that way. In 42 career games, the Maryland product has recorded two or more sacks 11 times and the Chargers have gone 10-1 when he does.

Merriman is a workout fanatic who spends countless hours in the gym. He has incorporated boxing into his exercise regimen and trains at the Boxing Club of La Jolla. Shawne's uncle, Henry "Sugar Poo" Buchanan, boxes professionally and is one of the nation's top up-and-coming super middleweight fighters with a professional record of 16-1 and 11 wins by knockout. As part of Merriman's offseason cardiovascular training, it is not uncommon to find him running the hills of the famed Mulholland Drive in Los Angeles.

The question Merriman is most often asked is where the nickname "Lights Out" originated. He was given that moniker during his sophomore season in high school after knocking out four players in the first half of a game. Merriman was such a ferocious hitter in high school that his coaches didn't even allow him to participate in contact drills with his teammates. On his right forearm is a tattoo of a light switch in the off position and the words "Lights Out," and his Mercedes G500 has the "Lights Out" logo emblazoned on its headrests and floor mats.

Merriman still maintains close ties with his alma mater. He bought new uniforms, a whirlpool and other equipment for the Douglass HS football program after he signed with the Chargers. He also speaks regularly to Eagles' Head Coach J.C. Pinkney, who was an assistant coach when Merriman played at the school. In 2006 during the Chargers' bye week, Douglass High School retired Merriman's No. 44 and he attended the ceremony.

Despite all of the notoriety that comes with being a first-round draft choice and a Pro Bowler, Merriman has not let go of his past and the tough upbringing that he endured as a child. Several times when money was tight for the family, Merriman found himself living in one of the many homeless shelters in Maryland and the District of Columbia. He knows how important

In February, Merriman was asked to wave the green flag to signal the start of the Auto Club 500 in Fontana, California. Photo: Auto Club Speedway those shelters can be and has contributed his own earnings to support homeless shelters in San Diego. His main devotion is toward the San Diego Salvation Army and the Alpha Project. Last summer, Merriman hosted a weekend of activities surrounding the Lights On Comedy Jam and in December he hosted the Lights On Bowl at the Poway Fun Bowl. The two events helped raise more than $200,000 for the Salvation Army and the Alpha Project. Both organizations paid tribute to Merriman in 2007 for his support of the homeless.

Merriman's work in helping the homeless extends his native Maryland and around the country. He continues to host a coat collection drive at his collegiate alma mater, the University of Maryland. It benefits the Community for Creative Non-Violence Shelter in Washington D.C. Piggybacking off the success of his coat drive, last year Burlington Coat Factory asked Merriman to be a national spokesperson for their "One Warm Coat Drive."

In recent years, Merriman has visited wounded U.S. soldiers at the Bethesda and Walter Reed Hospitals in Washington D.C., and in 2006 while serving a four-game suspension from the NFL, he volunteered for Habitat for Humanity, helping to rebuild homes in and around New Orleans that were still in disrepair following Hurricane Katrina, which struck in 2005.

More recently, Merriman had the privilege of helping a San Diego couple get back on its feet after they lost their Rancho Bernardo home in last October's Witch Creek wildfire. Through Lights Out Development, a construction company of which Merriman is part-owner, he helped make sure that Josh and Kristy Mellow would be among the first residents to move into a new home. Lights Out Development completed the work in just 56 days and in January, Merriman joined the Mellows as they toured their new two-story home for the first time.

Losing his own home twice to fires during his childhood years in Maryland taught Merriman all that he needed to know about what it's like to lose everything. He remembers the helplessness and leaned on that experience as added motivation to help the Mellows.

Aside from his work with Lights Out Development, Merriman is a part-owner of the Stingaree and Bar West nightclubs in San Diego, as well as the owner of the Lights Out clothing line. He also owns a Lights Out nightclub in Maryland and is planning to open a similar club in San Diego.

Merriman is now one of the NFL's most recognizable celebrities. In February, he was invited to wave the green flag to signal the start of NASCAR's Auto Club 500 at the Auto Club Speedway in Fontana, California. In March, ESPN invited him to Bristol, Connecticut to serve as a guest host on the network's NFL Live show, while also making guest appearances on several other ESPN television and radio shows. In April, he was asked to be a judge for the Miss USA Pageant Finals in Las Vegas. And in May, he introduced pop music sensation Jessica Simpson and mingled backstage with superstar entertainers like Janet Jackson, Snoop Dogg, Pamela Anderson and Kendra Wilkinson at the made-for-TV concert "America United: In Support of our Troops."

Spinning off his interest in NASCAR, Merriman hosted the Enduro Challenge go-kart race in the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium in June. He partnered with the Richard Petty Driving Experience as team's competed on the track and in the pits to raise money for Merriman's Lights On Foundation. Several of NASCAR's top drivers, and current and former NFL players participated in the Enduro Challenge.

Shawne's hobbies include riding Jet Skis, bowling, baseball and basketball. In April 2006, the San Diego Padres invited him to throw out the ceremonial first pitch before a game at PETCO Park and in March '06, ESPN asked him to be a celebrity judge during the McDonald's High School All-America game's slam dunk contest at San Diego State's Cox Arena. Merriman played basketball in high school and one of his teammates was Eric Arrington, the younger brother of former Washington Redskins and New York Giants linebacker LaVar Arrington.

SCOTT MRUCZKOWSKI

Guard-Center
6-5, 318
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Bowling Green
Draft 7 - '05
Benedictine HS
Garfield Heights, Ohio

The Chargers have high hopes for Scott Mruczkowski (Merch-COW-ski). With that in mind, the team awarded the four-year veteran with a new three-year contract in February. A former seventh-round draft choice, Mruczkowski was scheduled to become a restricted free agent this spring before signing his new deal.

Mruczkowski has become a key reserve on the Chargers' offensive line. He is a versatile player who can line up at either center or guard and also contributes on special teams. Mruczkowski's value as a reserve was on full display last season as he was on the field for key touchdown plays in the regular season against Kansas City and in the playoffs against Tennessee. In the Titans' game, Mruczkowski threw the key block that allowed Philip Rivers to buy some extra time and throw the go-ahead touchdown pass to Vincent Jackson.

Scott is not the only NFL player in the family. His brother, Gene, has enjoyed an NFL career as an offensive lineman with the New England Patriots and Miami Dolphins.

Since college, Scott has been an avid golfer and he tries to play at least twice a week. In 2004, he scored a hole in one on the par-three ninth hole at the Brandywine Country Club in Ohio while playing with Gene and a family friend.

Scott also enjoys fishing. As a Cleveland-area native, Mruczkowski certainly doesn't miss Ohio winters. He spends as much time as possible at San Diego's beaches and loves the water. Scott's uncle, Steve, has a boat and a cabin on Catawba Island in Ohio and taught Scott to fish when he was a child.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Seventh-round choice (242) by San Diego, April 24, 2005...signed three-year contract June 16, 2005...signed three-year contract with Chargers thru 2010, Feb. 27, 2008.

2007: Came in for one snap at right guard Dec. 2 at Kansas City after Mike Goff was injured on screen play and buried Chiefs defender as LaDainian Tomlinson scored on 31-yard TD run to give Bolts 17-10 lead in third quarter...saw extensive action at right guard late in blowout win over Detroit Dec. 16...reported as extra lineman for one play late in third quarter of AFC Wild Card Playoff game against Tennessee and threw key block to help give Philip Rivers extra time to throw 25-yard touchdown pass to Vincent Jackson that gave Chargers' their first lead of game. 2006: Saw action at left guard late in Week 1 after Kris Dielman came out of game with tight hamstring...saw late action in Sept. 17 game against Tennessee at left guard and helped deliver key blocks during 73-yard run by Michael Turner and 14-yard touchdown run by quarterback Charlie Whitehurst two plays later...did not play Weeks 3-4 & 6-9...saw action on offensive line Week 5 at San Francisco and briefly at left guard Week 12 at Buffalo...played on special teams Week 10 at Denver...started Week 11 against Oakland for injured Kris Dielman (ankle) and had solid game against Warren Sapp and Raiders' front line...Bolts only allowed one sack (-2 yards) in 33 pass plays and blocked for 110 rush yards and two touchdowns...injured knee in Week 13 game versus Denver during PAT and was inactive Weeks 14-16...returned to action and played on special teams in AFC Playoffs vs. New England. 2005: Inactive Weeks 1-3 & 5...dressed but did not play Weeks 4, 8, 12-14 & 16...saw action on special teams Weeks 6-7 & 9-11... played Week 15 on special teams.

COLLEGE: Second-team All-Mid-American Conference in 2004...selected to play in 2005 East-West Shrine Game...started school-record 49 consecutive games during career...anchored offensive line that allowed fewest sacks in MAC in '04...same '04 squad set school records for total offense and points per game...team captain as senior...first-team all-conference in 2003... also named team's Top Offensive Lineman...started every game at left guard in 2001-02 and center in 2003-04...redshirted in 2000... played at Bowling Green from 2000-04...majored in productions and operations management.

PERSONAL: Born in Cleveland, Ohio...second-team all-area choice in 1999 by Cleveland Plain Dealer at Benedictine High School in Cleveland...team won state title in 1996 and regional crown in 1997... lettered in track...student council president...earned dean's list honors with 3.5 grade-point average.

Games Played-Started: 2005 (6-0, San Diego); 2006 (7-1, San Diego); 2007 (15-0, San Diego); Total (28-1).

Wide Receiver	Boise State
6-2, 226	Draft 5 - '07
2nd NFL Season	Franklin HS
2nd with Chargers	Portland, Ore.

Last summer after the Chargers drafted Legedu Naanee (LEG-a-doo Nah-NAY), the Boise State product spent time at wide receiver, tight end and fullback. The Bolts quickly learned that they had found a player who could make things happen when he had the ball in his hands.

As a rookie, Naanee caught eight passes for 69 yards and contributed on special teams. Although they have a roster full of playmakers, the Chargers hope to get Naanee more involved in the offense this season and let him put his unique skills to use.

This year, Naanee will focus strictly on playing wide receiver and he has changed his number, trading in last year's No. 40 for his new number, No. 11.

Naanee was part of the Boise State team that captured the nation's attention and shocked the college football establishment by upsetting the Oklahoma Sooners with a stunning come-from-behind, overtime win in the 2007 Tostitos Fiesta Bowl. Naanee had his hand in the famed "Statue of Liberty Play" on which the Broncos scored the game-winning touchdown. Naanee was the receiver whom Jared Zabransky faked a throw to before handing the ball to running back Ian Johnson.

Naanee began his career at Boise State as a quarterback and was named Offensive Scout Team Player of the Year following his redshirt year in 2002 and his freshman year in 2003. The Broncos' coaching staff moved him to wide receiver late in his sophomore season of 2004. By his junior season in '05, Legedu started all 13 games for the Broncos at wide receiver.

Legedu's background as a quarterback paid dividends for the Chargers during his rookie season. Prior to playing the Tennessee Titans on Dec. 9 and in the Wild Card round of the playoffs, Naanee went under center and ran the scout team offense. His athleticism helped the Bolts prepare for Titans quarterback Vince Young, who is known for his ability to make plays with his legs. Apparently Naanee did a good acting job. The Chargers beat Tennessee in both contests and only allowed 23 points in the two victories.

Pound-for-pound, Naanee is one of the strongest players ever to play for Boise State. As a freshman in 2003, he set several weight-lifting records for quarterbacks and as a sophomore in 2004 he set some of the same records for a wide receiver.

Naanee was born in Portland, Oregon, but his father, Agbora, was born in Nigeria in a village outside of Lagos. His first name, Legedu, means "Good is coming" in Nigerian and Naanee is the family surname. Legedu has been to Nigeria twice to visit family members who still live there.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fifth-round pick by Chargers (172) in NFL Draft, April 29, 2007...signed four-year contract thru 2010, July 25, 2007.

JEREMY NEWBERRY

Center
6-5, 315
11th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

California
Free Agent - '08
Antioch HS
Antioch, Calif.

The Chargers strengthened their depth at center when they signed veteran offensive lineman and two-time Pro Bowler, Jeremy Newberry, in June. One of the toughest players you'll find in the National Football League, Newberry is a two-time winner of the Ed Block Courage Award, given to a player on each team who best exemplifies courage and toughness. He also won three Bobb McKittrick Awards for dedication, commitment and excellence during his years with the 49ers. With Pro Bowl center Nick Hardwick returning from offseason foot surgery, Newberry's acquisition comes at the optimum time.

A native of Antioch in Northern California, Newberry has been fortunate to spend his entire life in the Golden State. He played his college football at Cal-Berkeley and was drafted in the second round of the 1998 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers. Newberry was a second-generation Golden Bear as his father, Dave, lettered at Cal in 1976. After spending the first nine seasons of his career wearing 49ers Red and Gold, Jeremy moved across the Bay to play for the Silver and Black of the Oakland Raiders in 2007, his 10th season in the league.

The opportunity to remain in California was one of the biggest reasons Newberry signed with the Chargers. He and his wife, Mindy, have two young daughters, Mylah and Maysi, with whom he is very close and the prospect of playing in another state did not appeal to Newberry or his family.

While he may be a teddy bear in his own home, Newberry plays with fire between the lines. That toughness was instilled in him at a young age by his father, a retired policeman, and his mother, Cheryll. When Jeremy was young, he actually didn't like the contact of football, but that all changed when his parents began to reward him for big hits during games. It didn't take long for that fear to subside. So tough did Jeremy become as a child that he once competed in a wrestling match with a broken arm that he didn't even know he had. When Jeremy was a child, his parents ran a gym. That too rubbed off on Jeremy, who converted his garage at home into a full-service gym complete with a squat rack, three racks of dumbbells, Nautilus machines and floor-to-ceiling mirrors.

Newberry has been a locker room and fan favorite everywhere that he's played. Part of that reputation was fostered by his work in the community. A three-time state wrestling champion as a prep at Antioch High School, Newberry hosted a bowling fundraiser while with the 49ers to help support the school's wrestling team after learning that the program was in jeopardy. His efforts helped keep the program alive. Aside from his work with the wrestling team, Newberry has also hosted several youth football camps at the school. And for the greater community, Newberry also co-hosted an annual Holiday Toy Drive in the Bay Area in conjunction with the Bay Point Family Service Center.

One of Jeremy's biggest fans however is his maternal grandfather, Bob Eyestone, who has been a fixture at games and practices for as long as he can remember. In tribute, Jeremy has a tattoo of Grandpa Bob on his left forearm.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Selected by San Francisco in second round (58th overall) of NFL Draft, April 18, 1998...signed with 49ers, July 18, 1998...re-signed with 49ers, March 12, 2002, Feb. 24, 2003, Feb. 11, 2004 and July 28, 2006...signed with Oakland, March 7, 2007...signed one-year contract with Chargers, June 3, 2008.

PAUL OLIVER

Cornerback-Safety
5-10, 195
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Georgia
Draft 4 (Supplemental) – '07
Harrison HS
Kennesaw, Ga.

Paul Oliver got a late start as a rookie in 2007 and spent most of the season watching and waiting, but the Chargers believe the second-year pro is ready to contribute to their secondary in 2008.

Oliver joined the Chargers in July of 2007 when they selected him in the fourth round of the NFL's Supplemental Draft. As a rookie, he was inactive for all 16 regular-season games, but drew praise from the Chargers' coaching staff for his work on the scout team, mimicking in practice the best defensive back the Bolts would be facing in the coming week.

Oliver played cornerback throughout his career at Georgia, but the Chargers like his versatility and are exploring different ways they can use him in the defensive backfield.

Oliver became the first Charger selected in the supplemental draft since the team used a second-round pick in 1998 to take two-time Pro Bowl defensive tackle Jamal Williams.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Fourth-round draft choice by San Diego in the 2007 Supplemental Draft...signed four-year contract thru 2010, July 24, 2007.

2007: Inactive for all 16 games and all three playoff contests.

COLLEGE: Set career high with nine tackles, including three for loss in final college game, Chick-fil-A Bowl win over 14th-ranked Virginia Tech...as junior, helped seal wins over Ole Miss and 16th-ranked Georgia Tech with late-game interceptions...finished career with 94 tackles, seven interceptions, three sacks and 8.5 tackles for loss...named team's Most Improved Defensive Player as sophomore...recipient of team's Iron Man Award at end of 2002 redshirt freshman season for perfect attendance at practice and summer workouts...entered NFL's Supplemental Draft following junior season...redshirted in 2003...played at Georgia from 2003-06...majored in housing.

PERSONAL: Born in Kennesaw, Georgia...Parade Magazine first-team All-America and USA Today second-team All-USA as a senior at Harrison High School in Kennesaw...intercepted 12 passes over final two prep seasons...chose Georgia over numerous schools including Florida State, Michigan and Ohio State.

IGOR OLSHANSKY

Defensive End
6-6, 309
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Oregon
Draft 2 - '04
St. Ignatius HS
San Francisco, Calif.

One of the strongest players in the National Football League, Igor Olshansky (E-gor, ol-SHAN-ski) continues to hold down the right side of the Chargers' defensive line. He has been a starter since the day he was drafted in the second round in 2004. In three of his four NFL seasons, the Bolts have ranked in the league's top seven in rushing defense.

The 2007 season was without a doubt Olshansky's finest. He finished the year with career highs in tackles (69) and sacks (3.5) and he also recorded the first interception of his career when he picked off Oakland's JaMarcus Russell on the first play from scrimmage in the regular season finale.

It's no coincidence that 2007 was the first season since his rookie year in which Olshansky was healthy enough to start all 16 games. While the five-year veteran is known for his brute strength, he's worked hard with defensive line coach Wayne Nunnely to develop better technique with his hands and body. The extra work paid dividends in 2007 as Olshansky demonstrated his ability to shed blockers in the run game and set a career high with nine quarterback hits.

Olshansky is proud of his Jewish heritage. He has many tattoos, including two of the Star of David, and he is regularly featured in local and national Jewish news publications.

Olshansky is the first player from the former Soviet Union to be drafted by and play for an NFL team. He was born in Dnepropetrovsk, Ukraine and his family immigrated to the United States from the Ukraine when he was seven years old, settling in San Francisco. The Olshansky family spoke virtually no English when they arrived in the States, but the Jewish community in San Francisco embraced them and they quickly assimilated in their new home. For several years Igor attended the Chabad-run Hebrew Academy, where he developed a strong Jewish identity. Igor also stayed true to his family's Russian heritage and speaks fluent Russian.

Olshansky is married to the former Liya Rubinshteyn. Like Igor, Liya is a native of the Ukraine. Both grew up in the San Francisco area and have known each other their entire lives. They began dating in junior high school and in January, Liya gave birth to the couple's first child, a son named Lourence Lev. The Olshanskys also have two Schnauzers, Nika and Caesar.

Initially, Igor played basketball in high school. His dad, Yury, played basketball in the Russian Army and Igor followed in his footsteps. He did not play football until his junior year of high school, yet he was good enough to earn a scholarship in the Pac-10 at the University of Oregon. After an outstanding career for the Ducks, Igor left school following his junior season. He was one of the strongest rookies in the league. At the 2004 NFL Combine, Igor bench-pressed 225 pounds an amazing 41 times. At Oregon, he set a team record with a 505-pound bench press and during his on-campus pre-draft workout, Igor increased his 225-pound bench press to 43 reps.

Perhaps some of Olshansky's strength rubbed off from his grandfather, Abraham Rubashevsky, who fought for the Red Army in World War II and was wounded 11 times, leaving his left hand disabled. Due in part to the influence of his grandfather, Igor still studies military history and martial arts.

Igor's passion for working out led him to develop his own line of nutritional products and active-wear, appropriately named Igor Super Human Strength (SHS). He enthusiastically promotes fitness training, weightlifting and proper nutrition. The company's nutritional supplements are made from the finest organic ingredients and contain no artificial colors, flavors or sweeteners. Olshansky has developed his own website at www.IgorSHS.com.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Second-round pick (35) by San Diego, April 24, 2004...signed six-year contract, Aug. 2, 2004.

2007: Named to USA Today's All-Joe Team...set new career highs with 69 tackles and 3.5 sacks...led Bolts' defensive line in tackles...recorded three forced fumbles, tying Shaun Phillips for team high...shared five-yard sack of Brett Favre Week 3 at Green Bay with Shaun Phillips on 2nd-and-7 play that helped force Packers punt...shared two-yard sack with Shawne Merriman on Oakland's final play of Oct. 14 win at Qualcomm Stadium...forced fourth-quarter fumble by Adrian Peterson at Chargers' 12-yard line Week 8 at Minnesota...fumble was recovered by Drayton Florence...also tallied tackle for loss against Vikings...collected late third-quarter sack and forced fumble vs. Baltimore Nov. 25...Ravens recovered fumble, but drive would end on downs later in series... shared four-yard sack with Jacques Cesaire in fourth quarter of Dec. 2 game at K.C....season-high 10 stops Dec. 9 in overtime win at Tennessee...came up with huge play on first series of ESPN Monday Night Football game against Denver Dec. 24...sacked Jay Cutler on third-and-seven play and forced fumble after Broncos had driven to Chargers' 18-yard line...fumble was recovered by Shawne Merriman and Bolts drove for field goal on ensuing possession...recorded first interception of career on first snap of game at Oakland Dec. 30...Bolts scored touchdown on ensuing possession to take 7-0 lead...was first official interception in game since playing in 2000 California-Texas Prep All-Star game following senior year at St. Ignatius High School in San Francisco...had 37-yard interception return for touchdown as collegian at Oregon negated by teammates' penalty...teamed with Shawne Merriman for one-yard tackle for loss of Joseph Addai on second play of game in AFC Divisional Playoffs at Indianapolis...shared eight-yard sack with Stephen Cooper midway through fourth quarter of AFC Championship Game at New England. 2006: Started Week 1 at Oakland but left game after first play of night with knee sprain and did not return...was inactive Week 2 with same knee injury...returned to starting lineup Weeks 3-5...tallied half-sack and tackle for loss in Oct. 8 game against Pittsburgh...teamed with Shaun Phillips to stop Najeh Davenport for one-yard loss on third-and-one play in second quarter, forcing Steelers to kick 39-yard field goal...instead of potential 14-0 lead, they only went up 10-0 and the Chargers scored touchdown on their next possession to trim lead to 10-7...following that drive, Pittsburgh only scored three points rest of night... shared three-yard sack of Ben Roethlisberger with Luis Castillo in third quarter on drive after Bolts had scored touchdown to take 17-13 lead...helped force punt three plays later...inactive Weeks 6-7 while recovering from minor knee surgery during week leading up to Oct. 22 game at Kansas City...returned to starting lineup Weeks 8-16...collected eight-year sack in second quarter of Chargers' Nov. 12 game at Cincinnati... collected season-high seven tackles and recovered

KASSIM OSGOOD

Wide Receiver
6-5, 220
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

San Diego State
Free Agent - '03
North Salinas HS
Salinas, Calif.

81

Kassim Osgood continues to make the most of his opportunities. Despite catching only two passes last season, he can call himself something that few others can: a two-time NFL Pro Bowler. That's because the six-year veteran out of San Diego State has fashioned himself into one of the NFL's top special teams players.

Osgood recorded 14 special teams tackles last season, second most among Chargers, though his impact in the kicking game can hardly be measured by the box score. Osgood is so good at his trade that he routinely commands a double or triple team when covering kickoffs or punts. It's the ultimate show of respect.

If it weren't for an unfortunate injury late in the 2005 season, Osgood would likely be a three-time Pro Bowler. Late in his third pro season, Kassim was the team's leading special teams tackler and a player thought by many to be headed to his first all-star game until a freak injury in a game against Oakland turned out to be a season-ending torn pectoral muscle. Osgood was still recognized by his teammates as the squad's Special Teams Player of the Year and shortly after the season ended, the team rewarded him with a new four-year contract that will run through 2009.

Off the field, Osgood has taken full advantage of the platform that football has afforded him. He is jokingly referred to by his teammates as "The Mayor of San Diego" for his numerous contacts in the business and nonprofit communities. Kassim oversees the Team K.O. Athletes for Education Foundation. He hosts an annual golf tournament at the Del Mar Country Club; a Battle of the Chefs event to raise money and awareness for the foundation, and several holiday parties for children and their families. In 2006, the San Diego Police Historic Association honored Kassim with its Jose Cota Man of the Year Award for community service.

In April, Osgood was one of 12 NFL players selected by CBS's James Brown and the NFL Players Association to receive a JB Award for his contributions to the community.

As part of his commitment to local youth through Team K.O., Osgood donates 50 tickets to each Chargers home game for San Diego City School students to sit in the Chargers Community Corner. The students are selected by a committee of teachers based on outstanding academics and citizenship.

Another passion of Osgood's is acting. For most of his life, Osgood has been involved in acting but he really became hooked after taking a class while a student at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo. He landed a role as an extra in the movie "We Were Soldiers" and has appeared in several television commercials. Last year, Osgood earned a coveted Screen Actors Guild card, as well as one from the American Film, TV and Radio Association, after earning the required amount of screen credits. In May 2006, he appeared in the season finale of the CBS drama, "Jericho" and made appearances on the MTV shows "Road Rules: Viewers Revenge" and "Short Circutz." He is also scheduled to appear in the HBO series "Entourage."

Boxing and basketball are among Kassim's hobbies. He is friends with former UFC Champion, Chuck "The Iceman" Liddell, and has attended several UFC bouts. Kassim also boxes at the Reyes Gym in Chula Vista and practices Capoeira, which is a Brazilian form of martial arts. He does both to stay in shape and prepare his body for the physical toll of professional football. He also plays basketball in the Aztec Recreation Center at San Diego State.

SHAUN PHILLIPS

Linebacker
6-3, 262
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

Purdue
Draft 4 - '04
Willingboro HS
Willingboro, N.J.

In four professional seasons, including two as a starter, Shaun Phillips has established his own identity as an elite pass rusher. Phillips finished the 2007 season with 8.5 sacks to run his career total to 31. His athleticism and explosive first step make it difficult for opposing linemen to get their hands on the 6-3, 262-pound linebacker.

This season, Shaun will donate $1,000 to the After-School All-Stars for every sack that he records. After-School All-Stars is a sports program for inner city youth.

Phillips prides himself on being a complete player and his 2007 highlight reel would attest to that. While he thrives on getting to the quarterback, Shaun is adept at stopping the run. He also has a keen eye for the football and last season recorded the first two interceptions of his career. Both picks came after Phillips got in the quarterback's face and tipped the ball to himself. His first interception came against Peyton Manning and proved to be a crucial play in Chargers' nationally televised Nov. 11 win over the Colts. His second was against Detroit's Jon Kitna on a play in which after securing the ball, he raced 18 yards for his first career touchdown.

During his first two years in the NFL, Phillips thrived on special teams and had an impact as a situational pass rusher. Then prior to the 2006 season, he was thrust into the starting lineup after Steve Foley was lost for the season. Phillips excelled in his new starting role and racked up a career-high 11.5 sacks, earning himself a nod as a second-alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad. The Chargers rewarded Phillips for his outstanding play with a new six-year contract in February 2007.

Phillips and teammate Shawne Merriman have proven to be a potent combination. In 2006, they became the first pair of Bolts to record at least 11 sacks in the same season since Leslie O'Neal and Chris Mims did it in 1994. The Chargers and Baltimore Ravens were the only teams in the league to feature two players that recorded at least 11 sacks that season. Phillips and Merriman led the Chargers to 61 sacks in 2006, one shy of the team record and among all NFL linebackers, Merriman and Phillips ranked 1-2 in sacks.

Shaun enjoys bowling, basketball, movies and traveling. He has a unique celebration following each of his sacks, rolling an imaginary bowling ball toward a set of pins. He does so as a tribute to his grandmother, Jackie, who used to be a professional bowler. As far as travels, his favorite cities to visit are New York, Miami and Las Vegas. Shaun also spends as much time as he can at home with his son, Jaylen. He understands the importance of spending time with Jaylen after having grown up in a single-parent home and being raised by his mother, Sherri. Shaun resides in San Diego and used to share a home with teammate Luis Castillo. When Phillips earned a new contract last February, he purchased his own home, but he and Castillo remain close friends.

Phillips earned a degree in management from Purdue. He is the first member of his family to graduate from college. In April 2006, he enrolled in the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois. The four-day program focused on developing and selling a brand and evaluating franchise opportunities. He attended the program with Castillo, who is a Northwestern grad.

Shaun is one among many Chargers who are active in the community. Last December, he and teammate Quentin Jammer hosted a group of foster students from the San Pasqual Academy to a Christmas Dinner at Peohe's Restaurant in Coronado. The Academy is a first-of-its-kind residential education campus designed specifically for foster teens. And each June, Shaun returns to his hometown of Willingboro, New Jersey to co-host a youth football camp with fellow NFL stars and Willingboro natives Wali Lundy of the Houston Texans and Kareem McKenzie of the New York Giants.

This past Spring, Shaun tried his hand at acting, making a guest appearance on the CW Network's TV show, "The Game." In the past, he has also appeared on ABC's hit show, "The Bachelor," and E! Entertainment Television's "The Girls Next Door."

ANDREW PINNOCK

Fullback
5-10, 250
6th NFL Season
6th with Chargers

South Carolina
Bloomfield HS
Bloomfield, Conn.

Andrew Pinnock's time is now.

For the first five years of his NFL career, Pinnock contributed on special teams and patiently waited his turn while learning from Lorenzo Neal, one of the game's top fullbacks. When Neal went down with a leg injury in December, Pinnock became the Bolts' starting fullback and impressed the coaching staff with his performance. He started the final three games of the regular season and two of the Chargers' three playoff contests.

Pinnock played so well that the Chargers decided to hand him the keys this offseason.

The Chargers have long held Pinnock in high regard. In February 2006, he signed a new five-year contract to remain with the team through 2010. With his financial future secure, he purchased a new home for he and his family in his hometown of Bloomfield, Connecticut.

While this past offseason should have been one of the most enjoyable of his career considering his new role, it turned out to be a difficult one for Pinnock. He had surgery on his right knee immediately after the 2007 Playoffs and spent the last several months undergoing intense rehab in hopes of getting back on the field in time for the start of the 2008 season. Pinnock is confident that he won't let his teammates down.

When he's not playing football, Pinnock enjoys spending time with his children, Andrell and Dior. His hobbies include collecting trading cards and playing basketball. His trading card collection features more than 5,000 pieces. He began collecting in the seventh grade and his collection includes baseball, football and basketball cards. His most prized cards are those of Nolan Ryan, Michael Jordan, Shaquille O'Neal and LeBron James.

CARLOS POLK

Linebacker
6-2, 262
8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Nebraska
Guilford HS
Rockford, Ill.

Carlos Polk was having another strong season in 2007 when misfortune struck again for a guy who just can't catch a break. In a Week 11 win over the Baltimore Ravens, Polk injured his shoulder while doing what he does best: making a special teams tackle. At the time, he was the Bolts' leader in special teams tackles with 12, but the injury ended his season and Polk finished the 2007 campaign on "Reserved-Injured" for the third time in four seasons.

Polk is healthy and once again ready to make a run at it in 2008. Prior to last season's injury, his play over the span of a two-year period was as inspirational as any player in the NFL. After missing the entire 2005 season and all but one game of the 2004 season due to Achilles and shoulder injuries, Polk played in all 16 games in 2006 and saw the most significant action of his career on both defense and special teams. Playing on a one-year contract, Polk set career highs with 32 tackles and two sacks on defense to go along with 19 stops on the specialty units. His special teams tackle total was second on the team to Clinton Hart's 22. When it was all said and done, his teammates recognized this Herculean effort by selecting Carlos as the team's recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award.

Last fall, he started two games at inside linebacker in place of an injured Matt Wilhelm and was his usual self in the kicking game. In a Week 5 win at Denver, Polk laid a huge hit on Broncos return man Brian Clark that forced a fumble. Teammate Brandon Siler scooped up the loose ball and ran to the end zone to give the Bolts an early 14-0 lead in a game that allowed the Chargers to snap a three-game losing streak. At the end of the season, Polk's teammates voted him and Philip Rivers as co-recipients of the team's Most Inspirational Player Award.

Polk considers his father, John Moore, his biggest influence. A construction worker by trade, Moore commuted to and from Chicago for work, leaving the house at 4 a.m. and often times returning home after 9 p.m. It is from his father that Polk inherited his tireless work ethic and family values.

Carlos and his father enjoy working on classic cars. Carlos' first car was a Pontiac Firebird that he and his dad spent weekends restoring before Carlos was old enough to drive. Over the years, the two have also restored a 1947 Ford Coupe and a 1949 Plymouth.

PHILIP RIVERS

Quarterback
6-5, 228
5th NFL Season
5th with Chargers

North Carolina State
Trade (NY Giants) - '04
Athens HS
Athens, Ala.

There are two things that Chargers quarterback Philip Rivers has proven in his first two years as an NFL starter. One, he's a winner. Two, he's as tough as they come.

Since he became the Bolts' starting signal caller prior to the 2006 season, Rivers' 25 regular-season wins are tied with Indianapolis' Peyton Manning for the second-most in the NFL, behind only 28 by New England's Tom Brady. Rivers has posted an impressive 25-7 record as a starter, including an astounding mark of 15-1 at home. He led the Chargers to the playoffs in each of his two seasons at the helm, and in 2007 his stellar play in January helped the Bolts pick up their first postseason victories in 13 seasons as they advanced all the way to the AFC Championship Game.

Rivers' toughness, both mental and physical, was on full display in the postseason and the final weeks of the regular season last fall. In a Dec. 9 victory over Tennessee, Rivers had to leave the game after spraining his knee. He returned in the second half and led the Chargers to a come-from-behind victory in overtime. Rivers continued to play and he fought through the final month of the season in severe pain.

Another knee injury in the Bolts' Divisional Playoff game also sent him to the sideline, but Rivers refused to let it end his season. He had an arthroscopic procedure done on the Monday following the Chargers' playoff victory in Indianapolis. His status for the AFC Championship Game was in the balance throughout the entire week leading up to the game, but Rivers toughed it out and played the entire game. After the loss in New England it was revealed that Rivers had played the AFC Championship Game with a torn ACL in his right knee. He suffered the injury while throwing a touchdown pass in the third quarter of the win over the Colts and gutted it out to play in the most important game of his young career a week later. He's spent the last few months aggressively rehabbing the knee and is confident he'll be ready to go when the Bolts open the 2008 season.

Rivers' commitment to the game and his leadership skills endeared him to teammates and the organization. They love his confidence and fiery attitude on the field. Before last season's playoffs began, the Chargers picked up the option on the final two years of his rookie contract to ensure the quarterback will be in lightning bolts through at least the 2009 season. When asked about the move, Chargers General Manager A.J. Smith simply said, "You know how I feel about Philip Rivers." His words spoke volumes about his appreciation for the player and leader that Rivers has become.

In 2007, Rivers was sensational down the stretch when the Chargers needed him the most. During the Chargers' eight-game winning streak that led to the AFC Championship Game (including Wild Card and Divisional Playoff games), he completed 133 of 214 passes (62.1%) for 1,656 yards with 14 TDs and only five INTs for a rating of 98.2, nearly 16 points higher than his cumulative season rating (82.4).

Rivers has always been a winner. Since his junior season at Athens High School in 1998, his first as a starting QB, Rivers has never had a losing record. He went 11-2 (1998) and 10-3 (1999) at Athens; 8-4 (2000), 7-5 (2001), 11-3 (2002) and 8-5 (2003) at North Carolina State, and with the Chargers he's posted seasons of 14-2 (2006) and 11-5 (2007). Rivers' collegiate totals at N.C. State included a 3-1 mark in bowl games. He was a five-time MVP in bowl games, including the 2004 Senior Bowl.

Rivers patiently waited his turn through his first two seasons before finally getting his chance to play in 2006. When his turn came, Rivers lived up to expectations. He led the Chargers to a franchise-record 14 wins and earned a nod for the 2007 Pro Bowl. In spite of being in just his first season as a starter, Rivers played with the confidence and poise of a seasoned veteran. He completed nearly 62 percent of his passes, threw more than twice as many touchdowns as he did interceptions and posted a first-year passer rating that ranked right up there with some of the league's greats. Only one other starting QB, St. Louis' Marc Bulger, threw more TD passes and fewer interceptions in 2006.

The Chargers closed out the 2006 season by winning their last 10 games and finished the regular season undefeated at home for the first time in team history. Rivers helped the Bolts score a team-record 492 points, including a stretch during the season in which the Chargers capped off 19 consecutive scoring drives with touchdowns. The stretch set a new team record and was the fifth-longest in NFL history. In just two seasons as a starter, Rivers already ranks fifth in team history in touchdown passes (44), passing yards (6,688) and completions (578).

Rivers and his family now make their year-round home in San Diego. However, they frequently return to Decatur, Alabama, the city in which he grew up and worked as a water boy when his dad, Steve, was the head coach at Decatur High School. In February 2007 while Philip was back in Alabama to visit his folks, he picked up the local paper one day and read a Q&A with Lawrence County High School student Will Inman. One of the questions posed to Inman was about a famous person he'd like to meet. His answer was Rivers. After reading the story, Philip was so impressed that he decided to surprise the young man and he showed up unannounced on campus a couple of days later. It was a total surprise to all of the students on campus. Rivers spent time visiting with Inman and many of the school's student athletes.

During another trip home this spring, Rivers took part in the grand opening of D1 Sports Training and Therapy, a new training and rehabilitation center in Huntsville, Alabama that he co-owns with University of Tennessee Assistant Athletic Director Condredge Holloway. Holloway is well-known in the south as the first black quarterback in SEC history. D1 is a specialized facility that provides its clients with training at a level expected by athletes in NCAA Division I sports. While in Alabama, Rivers regularly visited the D1 facility to rehab his own knee.

Philip and his father have always been close. Steve was the best man in Philip's wedding and he wears number 17 because it was the same number his dad wore in high school. In college, North Carolina State retired that number before Philip's final home game. Nearly every day after practice, Rivers calls home to speak with his family. Most of his conversations with his dad include a rehash of certain plays the Chargers ran that day.

Perhaps because of the special bond Philip shares with his dad, he has always had a special admiration for coaches. One of his favorites is former Texas Tech University basketball coach Bob Knight. During Philip's junior season in 2002, the Wolfpack traveled to Lubbock, Texas to face the Red Raiders in an early season football game. While talking to reporters in the week leading up to the game, Rivers mentioned that he wanted to do two things that week, beat Texas Tech and meet Coach Knight. When Knight caught wind of the story, he made a special trip to greet Rivers and his teammates when they arrived in town for the game. The two spoke and Coach Knight gave Philip a Texas Tech basketball sweater that Rivers still wears to work. Rivers also won the game, leading the Wolfpack to a thrilling 51-48 overtime win over the Red Raiders.

Coincidentally, Rivers and Coach Knight had a chance to reunite in April 2007 when Philip was invited to throw out the first pitch before a San Diego Padres game at Petco Park. Coach Knight happened to be at the game that night as a guest of the Padres and he and Philip spoke briefly before the game.

Rivers and his wife, Tiffany, were married after Philip's freshman season at N.C. State. They met as kids in Alabama and now live in Poway with their three daughters, Halle, Caroline and Grace, and son, Philip "Gunner," who was born in February. Both Philips spell their names with one "l" after the biblical apostle, Philip.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Drafted in first-round (4) by New York Giants, April 24, 2004...traded to Chargers for Eli Manning, third-round choice in 2004, and first and fifth-round choices in 2005, April 24, 2004... signed six-year contract, Aug. 24, 2004.

Western Illinois
Destrehan HS
Destrehan, La.

Mike Scifres (SIGH-furs) is among the top punters in the NFL today. He's earned a reputation for pinpoint accuracy and high punts that are rarely returned by the opposition. Mike is coming off yet another banner season, one in which he was named a first-alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad for the second-consecutive season.

After posting a career-high average of 46.1 yards per punt in 2007, Scifres is now tied with his mentor and good friend Darren Bennett for the highest career average in team history (43.8 yards per punt). Scifres' 46.1-yard average was the second-highest for a single-season, trailing only Bennett's 46.2-yard season in 2000. Since taking over the punting duties in 2004, Scifres has backed that up with a 38.7-yard net punting average.

Throughout the 2007 season, Scifres pinned opponents deep in their own territory, landing 36 of his punts inside the 20, second-most in the NFL. Scifres finished the regular season as the NFL's third-leading punter in terms of net average (39.6), narrowly missing out on becoming only the second punter in team history to post a season net average of 40.0+. Dennis Partee (40.6 in 1971) is the only punter in team history to finish a season with a net average of 40.0+. Scifres had only 29 punts returned last season, fourth-fewest among the league's Top 25 punters. Six times in '07, opponents had either zero or negative punt return yards against the Chargers – Chicago (0), Kansas City (0), Oakland (0), Indy (-5), Baltimore (0), Detroit (0) and Denver (0).

The success carried into the postseason where Scifres had a monster playoff game against Indianapolis in the Divisional Round that saw him set a new team postseason record by averaging 59.0 yards per punt. It shattered the previous mark of 54.5 yards set by Bennett against the Colts in a 1995 AFC Wild Card Playoff game. Scifres saved his best for last, hitting a postseason team-record 66-yarder with the Bolts backed up at their own 14-yard line and only 1:42 left in the fourth quarter. Kicking from his own goal line, Scifres punt was fielded back at the Colts' 20. It fired up the entire sideline and the defense promptly went out and ended the Colts' season on downs four plays later, sending the Chargers to the AFC Championship Game.

Scifres lived in Bakersfield, California from ages 5-13 while his father worked for Shell Oil. He was born in New Orleans and returned there to attend high school. He went to college at Western Illinois upon referral from a close family friend, Dan Neal, who once coached at the school. At the time, Neal was an assistant coach with the New Orleans Saints and recently coached the tight ends for the Buffalo Bills.

Mike is an avid golfer and one of the team's best players. He plays golf frequently in San Diego with his special teams mates, David Binn and Nate Kaeding. He also likes to play golf in exotic locales like Hawaii and Mexico. Scifres currently plays to a 15 handicap.

L.J. SHELTON

Tackle
6-6, 345
10th NFL Season
1st with Chargers

Eastern Michigan
Free Agent - '08
Rochester HS
Rochester, Mich.

In May, the Chargers signed former Miami Dolphin L.J. Shelton to a two-year contract. He provides the Chargers with valuable NFL experience on the offensive line as Shelton has started at both tackle spots during his career, while also seeing spot duty as a right guard. He will figure prominently in the Chargers' offensive tackle rotation along with returning starters Marcus McNeill and Jeromey Clary.

L.J. is kind of the odd man out in his family. He's the only member of the immediate Shelton clan to make his mark on the gridiron, as his father, Lonnie, and all three of his brothers, Marlon, Titus and Tim, made their mark on the basketball hardwood. Lonnie played collegiately at Oregon State and then went on to have a standout 10-year career in the NBA, starring for the New York Knicks, Seattle Supersonics and Cleveland Cavaliers. Lonnie won an NBA Championship with the Sonics in 1978-79 and gave his championship ring to L.J. Marlon played at the University of Washington from 1998-03. Titus will be a senior this season at Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo. The starting power forward for the Mustangs, he was the Big West Conference's Defensive Player of the Year as a sophomore (2006-07) and averaged nearly eight points and five rebounds a game last season as a junior. Titus currently ranks No. 2 in school history for career blocks. Youngest brother Tim will be a sophomore at San Diego State. As a freshman he was limited due to a knee injury but still averaged 10 points a game for the Aztecs. Their cousin, Damian Shelton, did play in the NFL however, enjoying a nine-year career from 1997-06 as a fullback with the Jacksonville Jaguars, Chicago Bears and Buffalo Bills.

L.J. is the part-owner of a production company, LJS Entertainment, in Phoenix, Arizona. It specializes in production and distribution of music. He also works closely with brother, Marlon, who runs Shelstar Sports another company the family owns in Phoenix that operates youth basketball camps and clinics.

L.J.'s hobbies include spending time with his three sons – Stephen, Christian and Ajani – and listening to his vast LP collection. Shelton estimates that he owns close to 2,500 original LPs, mainly soul, R&B and jazz.

In 2007, Shelton created the L.J. Shelton Foundation for Kids. He enjoys reaching out to kids from the Boys and Girls Clubs, as well as kids from women's shelters. For the last several years, Shelton has donated tickets to home games wherever he's played to kids who have earned good grades. He has a website were fans can learn more about his foundation at www.LJShelton.com.

BRANDON SILER

Linebacker
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Florida
Draft 7 - '07
Evans HS
Orlando, Fla.

59

It's not rare to see a late-round NFL draft pick find a way to contribute on special teams, but as a rookie, Brandon Siler did much more than that. He excelled in the kicking game.

After making the squad as a seventh-round pick in the 2007 draft, Siler led the Chargers with 21 special teams tackles, seven more than the team's second-leading special teams tackler. For his efforts, the former Florida Gator earned All-Rookie honors from Pro Football Weekly and the Pro Football Writers of America. Siler saw more action on defense as the season moved on and could see his role increase in 2008.

The unquestioned highlight of Siler's rookie year came in a Week 5 win at Denver. After the Chargers took a 7-0 lead on their opening drive, teammate Carlos Polk knocked the ball loose on the ensuing kickoff. Siler scooped up the loose ball and raced 23 yards for his first career NFL TD that gave the Bolts a 14-0 advantage.

A three-time All-Southeastern Conference selection at Florida, the Chargers may have made the steal of the 2007 NFL Draft with their selection of Siler in the seventh round. A member of the Gators' 2007 BCS national championship team, Siler elected to leave school early and make himself available for the NFL Draft following his junior season. An academic honoree as well for his work in the classroom, Siler studied criminology in Gainesville.

To get himself ready for the draft, Siler spent several weeks training with Baltimore Ravens All-Pro linebacker Ray Lewis. And when draft day rolled around and Brandon slipped to the seventh round, it was Lewis who called him during the draft to offer words of encouragement. Lewis is a native of Lakeland, Florida who attended the University of Miami, while Siler is from Orlando, less than an hour drive from Lakeland. He and Lewis maintain a close friendship.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Seventh-round choice (240) by Chargers in NFL Draft, April 29, 2007...signed four-year contract with Chargers, July 25, 2007.

2007: Earned All-Rookie honors for special teams play from Pro Football Weekly and Professional Football Writers of America...combined with Shawne Merriman for tackle for loss in Week 4 game vs. Kansas City...two-yard tackle for loss on third-and-goal play from Bolts' one-yard line helped force K.C. field goal...scored first career NFL TD Week 5 at Denver's Invesco Field, returning special teams fumble 23 yards for score...fumble had been caused by teammate Carlos Polk on Denver kickoff return and score gave Bolts 14-0 lead...showed outstanding performance in kicking game Oct. 28 vs. Houston, tying Kassim Osgood with team-high three special teams tackles, including two inside Texans' 20-yard line...helped set up Darren Sproles' 45-yard punt return for touchdown Nov. 11 against Indy by forcing Colts to start previous drive inside own 20-yard line with special teams tackle on kickoff return at their own 15-yard line...made big play to recover second-quarter muffed punt return Dec. 2 at Kansas City...led team with four special teams tackles Dec. 9 vs. Tennessee...had two special teams stops vs. Detroit Dec. 16, including crushing open-field tackle of Aveion Cason on game's opening kickoff...tied Steve Gregory with team-high two special teams tackles against Denver Dec. 24...led squad with three special teams tackles at Oakland Dec. 30...paced squad with pair of special teams stops in Jan. 6 AFC Wild Card Playoff win over Tennessee.

COLLEGE: Second-team All-SEC by league's coaches and Associated Press as junior...earned third-team honors from coaches as sophomore...Academic All-District III choice in 2005...named SEC Freshman of Year by coaches in 2004 after leading Gators with 77 tackles...was only second true freshman to lead squad in tackles...also named to Scripps/Football Writers of America and Sporting News' Freshman All-America first team...also named to SEC Freshman Academic Honor Roll...only second true...played at Florida from 2004-06...criminology major.

PERSONAL: Born in Daytona Beach, Florida...one of top prep outside linebackers in nation at Evans High School in Orlando, Fla....second-team all-state selection by Florida Sports Writers Association...also saw action as tight end...named MVP of 2003 California-Florida All-Star Game after recording two interceptions...graduated from Evans with 4.2 GPA.

DEREK SMITH

The Chargers made a key signing in February when General Manager A.J. Smith inked former 49ers and Redskins linebacker Derek Smith to a two-year contract. That move proved to be even more shrewd in April when it was learned that starting inside linebacker Stephen Cooper, the team's leading tackler in 2007, would be suspended for the 2008 season's first four games. Smith is the man expected to fill Cooper's shoes.

Smith will be playing his 12th NFL season in 2008. He has nine 100-tackle seasons under his belt. When Cooper returns, Smith likely will back up him and Matt Wilhelm in the Bolts' 3-4 defense. Last year when Wilhelm injured his calf in the Sept. 16 New England game and missed the following two contests, the Chargers went 0-3 in his absence. Smith will help shore up any holes should either Cooper or Wilhelm be injured again.

A workout fanatic, Smith trains in San Diego with a personal trainer along with the team's strength and conditioning staff. While playing in San Francisco, Smith had the 49ers' strength coach help him design a replica of the 49ers weight room in the garage of his home.

A true outdoorsman from rugged American Fork, Utah, Smith's favorite pastimes include hunting and fishing. He recently purchased a kayak so that he can fish off the San Diego coastline. Smith's biggest-ever catch is a 76-pound sailfish that he caught during a trip to Mazatlan, Mexico.

Smith's wife, Taryn, is a San Diego native and for the last few years, the couple made their offseason home in the San Diego coastal suburb of Encinitas.

DARREN SPROLES

Running Back-Kick Returner
5-6, 181
4th NFL Season
4th with Chargers

Kansas State
Draft 4 - '05
Olathe North HS
Olathe, Kan.

On a personal level, there weren't many better stories in the NFL in 2007 than Darren Sproles.

After a stellar rookie year in 2005, the Kansas State product broke his ankle in the first preseason game of 2006 and the injury caused him to miss the entire season. Sproles fought his way back, regained his job as the Chargers' top return man in 2007 and performed so well that he was named as a second alternate to the AFC Pro Bowl squad.

Sproles finished the season ranked fifth in the NFL in kickoff return average (27.2 yards per return) and seventh in punt return average (9.5 yards per return). At the end of the year, his teammates honored him with the Ed Block Courage Award in recognition of the way Sproles battled back from injury.

In addition to rehabbing the ankle, Sproles devoted himself to improving his game during his year-long absence from the field. Following a rookie season in which he occasionally had problems fielding punts cleanly, Sproles spent the offseason with a member of the Chargers' equipment staff feeding him punts through the team's JUGS machine. Sproles would spend as many as four days a week on the field and estimates that he fielded close to 2,000 punts last spring. The work paid off as he didn't bobble a single kick in 2007.

Late in the season, Sproles saw his opportunities increase on offense. He posted the first 100-yard rushing game of his career on Dec. 16 against the Detroit Lions (122 yards and two touchdowns), and in the postseason he scored a 56-yard touchdown on a screen play that gave the Chargers a 21-17 lead in their Divisional Playoff win over the Indianapolis Colts.

His breakout game, however, came in an earlier meeting against the Colts. On a rainy November night in San Diego, Sproles electrified a national-television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football by returning a punt and a kickoff for touchdowns to help lead the Bolts to a 23-21 win over the defending Super Bowl Champions. He became just the ninth player in NFL history to return a punt and a kickoff for a touchdown in the same game.

Coming out of Kansas State, Sproles was one of the most prolific runners and all-purpose performers in college football history. He set nearly every school record imaginable - 23 in all - and he is regarded by many as the best player in the 110-year history of Kansas State football.

Darren plays the game with a heavy heart and an angel on his shoulder. On April 25, 2004, he lost one of his greatest supporters when his mom, Annette, died at the age of 41 after a five-year battle with cancer. To honor their late mother, Darren and his brother, Terence, wear charms that read "RIP Mom."

The loss of his mother is one reason that Sproles is an active participant in the San Diego community. Last November he hosted a "Thanksgiving with Darren Sproles" dinner for patients and their families at San Diego's Rady Children's Hospital.

Darren further honored his mother when he bypassed potential NFL riches following his junior season and returned to Kansas State to complete his degree in speech pathology. In college, school officials arranged for him to work with a speech pathologist because he was uncomfortable and stuttered during interviews. Darren also spoke with basketball great and San Diego native Bill Walton, who had a stuttering problem many years ago and is now an NBA analyst. Darren lends his name and support to the Stuttering

Foundation of America.

Darren's nickname is "Tank," which came from his family because he weighed 10 pounds at birth. The first time Tank picked up a football in a game at the age of 9, he ran 80 yards for a touchdown in a Pop Warner game.

Darren still maintains close ties to Gene Wier, his former high school coach at Olathe North High School. During the summers while he was in college, Darren would return to his alma mater to volunteer at football camps and lift weights with the players. Darren has said that he would like to coach high school football after his playing career comes to an end.

DARREN'S BIG NIGHT ON SUNDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

Last November 11, Darren Sproles electrified a national-television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football when he returned a punt and a kickoff for touchdowns to help the Chargers beat the Indianapolis Colts, 23-21. At the time, Sproles became only the ninth player in NFL history to return a punt and a kickoff for a touchdown in the same game. The other eight are listed below. Incidentally, just two weeks after Sproles achieved this remarkable feat, Chicago Bears return man Devin Hester became the 10th player in league history to record the feat with a punt and a kickoff return for touchdown against the Denver Broncos on Nov. 25.

LaDAINIAN TOMLINSON

Running Back

8th NFL Season
8th with Chargers

Texas Christian
Draft 1 - '01
University HS
Waco, Tex.

LaDainian Tomlinson is the National Football League's preeminent superstar and represents all that is good about football players and professional athletes, both on and off the field.

In 2006, Tomlinson won the NFL's Most Valuable Player and Man of the Year Awards. He became only the second player to win both awards in the same season, joining Walter Payton, for whom the Man of the Year Award is named. Payton won both awards in 1977.

"LT," as he is known by his legion of fans around the world, had yet another stellar season on the field in 2007. Tomlinson became the first player to lead the NFL in rushing in back-to-back years since Edgerrin James in 1999 and 2000. While his 1,474 yards were good enough to claim the second rushing title of his career, it was only LT's fourth-highest single-season total. Tomlinson's 15 rushing touchdowns were also a league best.

As the season drew to a close, the awards and recognition poured in for LT as usual. In addition to earning Pro Bowl honors for the fourth-consecutive season and fifth time in his career, Tomlinson was named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press and Sporting News, All-NFL by Pro Football Weekly and the Professional Football Writers of America and his teammates unanimously voted him Chargers Most Valuable Player and Offensive Player of the Year.

Tomlinson has a deep appreciation for the history of the NFL and over the last couple years, he's seen his name join many of his childhood heroes in the record books. In 2007, he surpassed the likes of Walter Payton and Jim Brown on the NFL's all-time rushing touchdowns list.

LT enters 2008 ranked third in the category and needs only eight scores to tie Marcus Allen for second all-time. With 10,650 career rushing yards and 14,025 career scrimmage yards, Tomlinson ranks 18th and 21st, respectively, on the NFL's all-time lists and will likely pass several big names in 2008.

When LT passed the 1,000-yard mark in 2007, he joined Eric Dickerson (1983-89), Barry Sanders (1989-98) and Curtis Martin (1995-04) as the only players in NFL history to begin careers with seven-or-more-consecutive 1,000-yard seasons. In surpassing 1,200 yards, he also joined Dickerson as only the second player in NFL history to rush for more than 1,200 yards in each of their first seven seasons in league.

Passing along values that were instilled at an early age by his mom, Loreane, Tomlinson and his wife, LaTorsha, have teamed up to become community leaders in both San Diego and their native Texas. Together, they oversee the Tomlinson Touching Lives Foundation. The foundation hosts events throughout the year, including youth football camps in San Diego and Texas, a golf tournament, a fishing trip for kids from The Monarch School for homeless and at-risk teens in San Diego, a Thanksgiving program in which they provide more than 2,100 San Diego families with complete holiday dinners and a Christmas program in which they give away more than 1,500 holiday gifts to the patients at San Diego's Children's Hospital and Health Center. At each Chargers' home game, LT hosts "The 21 Club," where he invites 21 kids from San Diego youth groups and nonprofit organizations to attend a game. After the game, LT invites the children down to the field where they get a one-on-one visit with their football hero.

Another important branch of the Touching Lives Foundation is the "School is Cool Scholarship Fund," which awards 30 annual scholarships to college-bound students based on academics, community involvement and volunteerism. Of the 30 students selected by Tomlinson each year, 15 are selected from San Diego and 15 are chosen from LT's alma mater, University High School in Waco, Texas. Proceeds from his annual golf tournament help support the scholarship fund. The Foundation has also sponsored students from Morse High School in San Diego to participate in a summer business program at Columbia University, where the students received entrepreneurial training.

Another cause which is close to Tomlinson's heart is the Make-A-Wish Foundation. Several times over the last few years, Tomlinson has spent time with children facing life-threatening illnesses whose wish is to spend a day with the Chargers' superstar rusher.

In April, Tomlinson was honored at the Muhammad Ali Celebrity Fight Night XIV in Phoenix, a nationally-renowned charity event that raises money for the Muhammad Ali Parkinson Center and numerous other charities. Tomlinson was honored along with actor Kevin Costner, recording artist Reba McEntire and longtime recording industry executive Clive Davis.

Just seven seasons into what appears to be a sure Hall of Fame career, Tomlinson has already left an indelible mark on the game. En route to his selection as the Chargers' first-ever Associated Press MVP in 2006, LT became the first player in team history to win the league's rushing title with 1,815 yards. He racked up 2,323 total yards from scrimmage, the sixth-highest single-season total in league history. He set a total of 13 new NFL records and added six new team records to his resume. He went to his third-straight and fourth-career Pro Bowl, and led the Chargers to a franchise-record 14 wins and their second AFC West title in three years. Along the way, Tomlinson helped the Bolts set a new team scoring record and he completely obliterated the NFL's single-season scoring record of 186 points, which had stood in place since the legendary Paul Hornung established it way back in 1960. Tomlinson also helped the Bolts shatter the team's rushing record as the 2006 unit racked up 2,578 yards, easily surpassing the previous team mark of 2,257 yards in 1990. It marked the fifth year in a row that the Bolts had rushed for more than 2,000 yards, tied with Denver for the NFL's longest active streak. That streak ended in 2007 for the Broncos, but the Chargers amassed 2,039 yards to extend the league's longest streak to six seasons (2002-07).

In 2005, Tomlinson tied Lenny Moore's NFL record by scoring a touchdown in 18 straight games and he set a new NFL record by scoring a rushing touchdown in 14 straight games during that stretch. After setting the rushing touchdowns mark on Sept. 18 in Denver, the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio requested LT's game-worn jersey.

Also during the '05 season, LT had a chance to stand alongside two of the greats in Chargers history. In the season finale against Denver, LT scored his 20th touchdown of the season, breaking Chuck Muncie's then 24-year-old team record for the most touchdowns in a season, a mark which Muncie established way back in 1981. Coincidentally, Muncie was at the game that day and afterward greeted LT on the sidelines to congratulate the team's new touchdown king. Tomlinson also shared the spotlight that day with another Charger great as he moved past Lance Alworth to become the team's all-time leader in career yards from scrimmage. Though Alworth wasn't at the game to congratulate LT, the two met earlier in the season when Alworth had his No. 19 jersey retired by the club.

Jersey retirement is a subject LT was familiar with as he also had a jersey retired in 2005. During the team's November bye week, Tomlinson returned to his alma mater, TCU, where he was honored with "LT Day" at the school's Amon Carter Stadium. At halftime of the Horned Frogs' game against UNLV, a ceremony was held at midfield during which LT was joined by nearly 50 former teammates. His No. 5 Horned Frogs jersey was honored so that no other player will ever be allowed to wear that number without Tomlinson's approval. During the ceremony, a highlight video was shown and Tomlinson was serenaded by the capacity crowd with an "LT" chant.

While 2006 was filled with career highlights for LT, 2007 began with disappointment for the Chargers superstar. On a Friday afternoon in late February, a life-changing incident took place when LT's father, Oliver, and his older stepbrother, Ronald McClain, were tragically killed in a single-car accident near Waco, Texas.

Away from football, Tomlinson enjoys quiet time at home. He and LaTorsha own a home in the San Diego suburb of Poway where they live with their three dogs: Coco, Fendi and Sweetness. Coco is a teacup poodle; Fendi is a miniature Yorkshire terrier, and Sweetness is a pit bull named after Walter Payton. A superstar's house wouldn't be complete without a sports memorabilia room and LT's includes autographed helmets from some of his favorite NFL players, including Payton, Jim Brown and Barry Sanders.

When wildfires ravaged San Diego in October 2007 for the second time in five years, many of the Chargers' players and staff were affected, but none perhaps as perilously close as Tomlinson. He and LaTorsha were forced to flee their home in the middle of the night with little more than the clothes on their backs as flames roared toward their home. Thankfully though, firefighters waged a heroic battle, stopping the fire at the Tomlinson's back fence, preserving the home and all of its contents, including LT's memorabilia collection.

In December, long after the fires were put out, Tomlinson hosted an event to support the first responders and volunteers who helped fight the fires. He also donated 300 flat-screen televisions to families that lost their homes in the fires.

Tomlinson enjoys traveling and going to the movies for his weekly date nights with LaTorsha. Past travels have included trips to Hawaii, Jamaica, Mexico Costa Rica and the Bahamas, and he is planning to attend the 2008 Major League Baseball All-Star Game at Yankee Stadium in New York.

LT's individual hobbies include playing basketball and golf. Like many of his teammates, Tomlinson also has an interest in classic cars and owns a restored 1964 cherry-red Chevy Impala, complete with a hydraulic lift kit.

JYLES TUCKER

Linebacker
6-3, 258
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Wake Forest
Free Agent - '07
Morristown Beard HS
Dover, N.J.

As Jyles Tucker enters his second professional season, he appears to be the next in a long line of talented undrafted free agents that includes Kassim Osgood, Antonio Gates, Kris Dielman, Jacques Cesaire and Stephen Cooper.

A standout defensive end at Wake Forest, Tucker was not selected in last April's draft, but instead signed a free agent contract with the Chargers. He transitioned to outside linebacker in the Bolts' 3-4 scheme and was impressive enough in the preseason to earn a spot on the Chargers' practice squad. When a shoulder injury ended linebacker Carlos Polk's season in November, Tucker was elevated to the 53-man roster and he made the most of his opportunity.

In five regular-season contests, Tucker recorded six special teams tackles and provided a spark off the bench on defense. He recorded a half sack in his first professional game at Kansas City Dec. 2 and four weeks later he was named the AFC Defensive Player of the Week after a career performance in the Bolts' regular-season finale against their arch-rivals, the Oakland Raiders. Tucker sacked Raiders quarterback JaMarcus Russell three times and during his second sack, he forced a fumble and recovered the loose ball in the end zone for his first-ever NFL touchdown.

Tucker is a New Jersey native and wisely took every opportunity to learn from another Garden State native, linebacker Shaun Phillips. Tucker could regularly be seen during and after practice chatting with Phillips and fellow OLB Shawne Merriman, who willingly helped their young pupil along the way.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed two-year contract with Chargers as undrafted rookie, May 4, 2007...waived Sept. 1, 2007...signed to practice squad, Sept. 3, 2007...signed to active roster, Nov. 21, 2007.

2007: Played first career game on special teams Nov. 25 vs. Baltimore after being signed from practice squad... shared fourth-quarter sack eight-yard sack with Shaun Phillips Dec. 2 at K.C....tied Tim Dobbins team high with three special teams tackles against Detroit Dec. 16...named AFC Defensive Player of Week and GMC Defensive Player of Week following coming out party at Oakland Dec. 30 with three sacks and first-career NFL touchdown...started series in third quarter with nine-yard sack on first-down...then on third-and-13 play, sacked Russell and forced fumble, and loose ball rolled into end zone where Tucker recovered...was first touchdown since freshman year at Wake Forest when he sacked and stripped current Charger teammate and former Clemson quarterback Charlie Whitehurst and returned ball 12 yards for touchdown...later sealed 30-17 win over Raiders with late fourth-quarter sack and forced fumble on fourth-and-two play with under one minute remaining in game.

COLLEGE: Honorable mention All-ACC as senior... named ACC Rookie of Week after first career start vs. Clemson during which he stripped QB Charlie Whitehurst of ball and returned it 12 yards for touchdown...finished career with 85 tackles, nine sacks and 12.5 tackles for loss...played at Wake Forest from 2003-07...majored in religion.

PERSONAL: Born in Morristown, New Jersey... attended Hargrave Military Academy after graduating from Morristown Beard High School...four year starter at Morristown as defensive end and quarterback...named to New Jersey's All-Prep School Team... started four years at small forward on school's basketball team and competed in track, winning conference championship in shot put.

Quarterback
6-2, 214
9th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Fresno State
Trade (Tennessee) - '06
Clovis West HS
Fresno, Calif.

Billy Volek had an opportunity to leave San Diego this spring when he became an unrestricted free agent, but the nine-year veteran and California native quickly decided that the grass doesn't get greener than playing for one of the NFL's most successful franchises while living in America's Finest City. In February, Volek signed a new three-year contract that will keep him as the primary backup to Philip Rivers through the 2010 season.

Volek gives the Chargers an experienced backup who is extremely well respected in the locker room. In eight NFL seasons, Volek has played in 30 games and started 10. All 10 starts came with the Tennessee Titans. Since joining the Chargers via trade in October of 2006, Volek has appeared in six games.

His most significant action as a Charger came in January's Divisional Playoff win at Indianapolis when Rivers was forced to the sideline at the end of the third quarter with a knee injury. Volek came off the bench and led the Bolts on an eight-play, 78-yard touchdown drive. His one-yard quarterback sneak for the go-ahead touchdown with less than five minutes left in the fourth quarter proved to be the game-winning score.

Volek spent 10 years of his childhood in the small town of Walla Walla, Wash., where former Titans' teammate Peter Sirmon and former Dallas Cowboys quarterback Drew Bledsoe were raised. Volek, who is the same age as Sirmon and four years younger than Bledsoe, became friends with both future NFL players at an early age. Billy's older brother, Joe, was best friends with Sirmon's older brother, John. Billy's dad, John Volek, is a former head football coach at Sacramento State and Fresno (Calif.) City College and is now the athletic director at Sierra College in Rocklin, California.

Billy played collegiately at Fresno State and is one of several quarterbacks from the school who have gone on to have successful NFL careers, including Trent Dilfer, David Carr and Kevin Sweeney. Carr, the first pick in the 2002 NFL Draft, was Volek's backup during his junior and senior seasons.

Since 1970, Billy leads all NFL quarterbacks in passing yards (2,789) in his first 10 starts. During a two-game stretch in 2004, Volek passed for 426 yards against Kansas City and 492 yards at Oakland, becoming only the fourth player in NFL history to record back-to-back 400-yard passing games and just the second player in NFL history to record 900 or more passing yards over a two-game span.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Signed with Tennessee as undrafted rookie, April 20, 2000...signed four-year contract with Titans, March 25, 2004...traded to Chargers for sixth-round draft choice in 2007, Sept. 19, 2006...signed new three-year contract with Chargers, March 1, 2008.

2007: Saw first significant action of season, replacing injured Philip Rivers in second quarter at Tennessee Dec. 9...played most of second quarter before Rivers returned to start second half...played entire second half in relief of Rivers Dec. 16 vs. Detroit, only attempting one pass...again played most of second half Dec. 24 vs. Denver and in fourth quarter Dec. 30 at Oakland...came into AFC Divisional Playoff Game at Indianapolis in fourth quarter in relief of injured Rivers (knee) and led game-winning touchdown drive...entered game with Bolts up 21-17, but Colts scored after Chargers went three-and-out to retake lead, 24-21...Volek drove team 78 yards in eight plays on ensuing drive, capped by one-yard touchdown run on QB sneak for final points in 28-24 win...went three-for-three passing for 48 yards on game-winning drive. 2006: Spent Weeks 1-2 as third quarterback for Tennessee Titans...was inactive as third quarterback for Chargers Weeks 3-5...did not play as backup quarterback Weeks 6-15...saw limited action Week 16 against Arizona while Philip Rivers was out with foot injury...took one snap at end of first quarter and took over at end of third quarter...did not play in playoff game vs. New England. 2005: Made lone start of season at Arizona Oct. 23...connected with rookie wide receiver Brandon Jones for 38-yard touchdown pass on opening drive...left game late in fourth quarter due to concussion and did not return...replaced injured Steve McNair at Miami Dec. 24 in second quarter and threw career-long 55-yard touchdown pass to Drew Bennett...threw four-yard touchdown pass to Ben Troupe in fourth quarter at Jacksonville Jan. 1...later threw pass that was tipped and caught by Bo Scaife for 10-yard touchdown. 2004: Started eight games while McNair was out with sternum injury... passed for 426 yards against Kansas City Dec. 13 and 492 yards at Oakland Dec. 19 to become

Linebacker
6-3, 238
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Clemson
Draft 3 - '07
Lake View HS
Lake View, S.C.

When the Chargers drafted linebacker Anthony Waters in the third round of the 2007 NFL Draft, they knew they'd have to be patient. During the first game of his senior season at Clemson, Waters suffered a potentially career-ending knee injury and was still working his way back when the Chargers selected him.

Waters was inactive for all 16 games during his rookie season, but now that he's returned to full strength, the Chargers believe he's ready to contribute. Waters enters his second NFL season carrying high expectations for himself and from his teammates.

Overcoming the odds is nothing new for Waters. He fought through a tough upbringing, one in which he was raised in a house with eight brothers and sisters by a single-parent, his mother Lynette, and one that also saw two of his older brothers spend time in jail. His oldest brother is still incarcerated and facing a potential life sentence. Lynette works at Anthony's alma mater, Lake View High School, and even with nine children, still finds time to volunteer at a local nursing home.

Yet none of these factors prevented Anthony from reaching his goals of becoming the first member of the Waters family to graduate from college and to play in the NFL. He achieved both. In December of 2006, he walked across the stage at Clemson's Littlejohn Coliseum to accept his degree in sports management and four months later he was drafted by the Chargers. To earn his degree, one of the last things Waters had to do was complete a 400-hour internship in the Tigers' sports information department.

While he was sidelined during his senior season, Waters was still considered one of the team's leaders. The coaching staff allowed him to travel with the team and his teammates voted him a team captain. The coaching staff also allowed him to dress out for the team's final home game of the season against in-state rival South Carolina so that Waters could touch Howard's Rock one last time and then make a final walk down "The Hill" and into Clemson's Memorial Stadium with his teammates.

Waters now shares his success story with others. He spends time counseling local youth and helping them work to achieve the same goals that he set for himself. Anthony regularly returns to his hometown of Lake View, South Carolina (pop. 800) where he speaks to children of all ages in the town's elementary, middle and high schools. He also helped give back to the community that gave to him, handing out Thanksgiving dinners and Christmas toys to families and children in need during last holiday season. The former senior class president at Lake View High credits several of his former coaches for helping him steer clear of trouble. They include his former football coach and Clemson alum, Jewell McLaurin; the school's baseball coach, Kip Herlong, as well as assistant football coaches Kenny Rogers and Daryl King. And while he was at Clemson, Anthony also helped a family member in need, bringing his younger brother, Henri, to live with him at school at a time when he was beginning to slip into trouble back home. Waters is also very close with the Clemson fans. Before his senior season was set to begin, Waters made a surprise visit to the home of a Tigers fan who suffers from Downs Syndrome and presented the man with one of his old Clemson game jerseys.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Third-round choice (96) in NFL Draft, April 28, 2007...signed four-year contract with Chargers, July 24, 2007.

2007: Inactive for all 16 games plus all three of team's postseason contests.

COLLEGE: Sat out almost entire senior season after injuring knee in third quarter of season opener against Florida Atlantic...honorable mention All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection as junior after leading team with 109 tackles and leading ACC with 74 solo stops...recipient of team's Solid Rock Award in 2005, given by coaches to squad's outstanding linebacker...during junior season, named team's player of game following outings vs. Maryland, N.C. State and Duke...redshirted in 2002...played at Clemson from 2002-06...graduated in December 2006 with degree in sports management.

PERSONAL: Born in Dillon, South Carolina...Offensive Player of Year and all-state selection as senior at Lake View High School...saw time as prep at LB, RB, DE, WR and punter...as senior, scored 27 total touchdowns and led team in rushing, receiving and tackles.

ERIC WEDDLE

Safety
2nd NFL Season
2nd with Chargers

Utah
Draft 2 - '07
Alta Loma HS
Alta Loma, Calif.

32

General Manager A.J. Smith knew he was giving up a lot last April when he brokered a trade with Chicago to move up 25 spots in the second round of the 2007 NFL Draft to select safety Eric Weddle from Utah. Smith also knew he was getting a lot, and that's exactly what Weddle proved during his rookie season.

While he didn't start in 2007, Weddle saw plenty of action. He started the season as the team's "Dime" safety and utilized his unique talents to rush the quarterback, cover receivers downfield and provide a physical presence in the secondary. Weddle finished his first professional season with 48 tackles, a sack, an interception, six passes defensed and three tackles for loss. He also added a timely interception of Peyton Manning in the Bolts' Divisional Playoff win over the Colts. The pick came at the goal line and ended an Indianapolis scoring threat.

Entering year two of his NFL career, Weddle is penciled in as the Bolts' starting free safety. He'll join strong safety Clinton Hart and cornerbacks Antonio Cromartie and Quentin Jammer to form one of the most talented secondaries in the NFL. In 2007, the group led the NFL with 30 interceptions.

Family is a very important part of Weddle's life. Last January, his wife Chanel gave birth to the couple's first child, a daughter named Brooklyn Marie. Eric and Chanel were married in July 2005 in La Jolla, California, just before Eric's junior season at Utah. That year, Eric and Chanel lived near the Utah State campus in Ogden, Utah and Eric commuted nearly an hour each way. Chanel, Eric's high school sweetheart, played soccer at Utah State.

Growing up about an hour north of San Diego in Alta Loma, California, members of the Weddle family have been Charger fans for some time, particularly Eric's mother, Debbie, and father, Steve. Eric's mom is an elementary school teacher who has logged more than 30 years in the classroom.

Weddle is an avid golfer who plays to a seven or eight handicap and he bowls once or twice a week, averaging in the 170 range. His other hobbies include baseball, basketball and watching movies with Chanel. The Weddles have a Golden Retriever named Chloe.

A special education major at Utah, Weddle tutored students with learning disabilities while he was in school. He also visited Utah's Primary Children's Hospital, spoke to children at schools and at the youth correctional facility in Salt Lake City and volunteered for the Food Bank.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Selected by Chargers in second round (37) of NFL Draft, April 28, 2007...signed four-year contract, July 24, 2007.

CHARLIE WHITEHURST

Quarterback
3rd NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Clemson
Draft 3 - '06
Chattahoochee HS
Alpharetta, Ga.

Charlie Whitehurst, a third-round pick in the 2006 NFL Draft, enters his third professional season in 2008. The Chargers pride themselves on having one of the deepest rosters in the NFL, and they believe the quarterback position is particularly strong.

On gameday, Whitehurst enjoys an important role. When the Chargers are on offense, he stands next to Head Coach Norv Turner, who calls the offensive plays for the Bolts. Turner gives the play to Whitehurst, who then radios it in to Philip Rivers through the communication system in Rivers' helmet.

An honor roll student throughout his college career at Clemson, Charlie earned his degree in marketing in December 2004, a full year before his eligibility expired. Charlie left the Clemson, South Carolina campus as the Atlantic Coast Conference's third all-time leading passer. One of the players who ranked ahead of him was Rivers, who spent his collegiate career at North Carolina State.

Charlie's dad, David, was also an NFL quarterback. He played for the Green Bay Packers from 1976-83. When the Chargers played at Lambeau Field last September, the Packers were hosting the team's annual alumni weekend. Whitehurst's entire family made the trip to Northern Wisconsin to take part in the festivities and watch the Bolts.

Charlie is not the only former Clemson Tiger in the family. His sister, Carrie also attended Clemson on an athletic scholarship. She played forward on the Lady Tigers basketball team.

MATT WILHELM

Linebacker	Ohio State
6-4, 245	Draft 4 - '03
6th NFL Season	Elyria Catholic HS
6th with Chargers	Lorain, Ohio

Chargers linebacker Matt Wilhelm patiently waited five years for his opportunity to start in the National Football League, and when the time finally came last fall, Wilhelm made the most of it. He started 14 games in 2007 and finished second on the squad with 144 tackles. He also recorded three interceptions, a sack and four tackles for loss.

Wilhelm was a key cog in the Bolts' defense. A calf injury caused him to miss two starts and most of a third game in September and the Chargers dropped all three of those decisions. Wilhelm serves as the signal caller for the Chargers' defense and plays a key role in getting the group lined up.

Prior to his ascension into a starting role, the Chargers saw enough promise in Wilhelm that they inked the former Ohio State Buckeye to a five-year contract extension in December 2006. The Chargers have him locked up through the 2011 season.

Wilhelm still maintains close ties to his alma mater. He attends a host of Buckeye Alumni events in San Diego and was named the honorary chairman for the Nationwide Children's Hospital-Woody Hayes Golf Classic in Columbus, Ohio in June.

Matt and his wife, Vanessa, have started a non-profit foundation and are working closely with the San Diego County Office of Education. Among its endeavors, the "Wilhelm's Tackle It Now Foundation" plans to donate 157 backpacks filled with school supplies to children this fall. The foundation will also be awarding scholarships in San Diego and in Matt's hometown of Lorain, Ohio. This summer, he hosted a football camp at his former high school, Elyria Catholic in Ohio, for middle-school aged kids.

Away from the field, Matt enjoys playing golf and basketball, spending time with his teammates and his family. In March, Matt and Vanessa celebrated the birth of their first child, son Mason. The Wilhelms were married in April 2007 and vacationed shortly thereafter in the Bahamas. Last summer they took a more formal honeymoon, traveling to Paris, Monte Carlo and St. Tropez.

In college, Matt had a couple of interesting superstitions. He wore the same game shoes for his final three seasons and on the night before each game, he would sleep in the bed closest to the window.

JAMAL WILLIAMS

Defensive Tackle
6-3, 348
11th NFL Season
11th with Chargers

Oklahoma State
Draft 2 (Supplemental) - '98
Archbishop Carroll HS
Washington, D.C.

The consensus among coaches of the 3-4 defense is that the key component of the scheme is the nose tackle. The Chargers have a great one, and Jamal Williams is a big reason why the Bolts' defense has had so much success in recent years.

In 2007, Williams was named to the Pro Bowl for a third-consecutive season after anchoring a defense that helped the Chargers win their third AFC West title in the last four years.

Williams has been a warrior throughout his career. Last fall, he had an arthroscopic procedure done on both of his knees during the team's bye week. He missed just one game following the operations and was back on the field. Williams also battled through a high ankle sprain during the playoffs that would have kept most players out of action. Instead, he was right in the mix helping the Chargers advance to the AFC Championship Game.

In seven of Williams' 11 seasons in San Diego, the Chargers have ranked in the league's Top 10 in rushing defense, including league-leading seasons in 1998 and 2005. Only twice during his Chargers' tenure has the unit ranked below 11th in the league's final rankings.

Williams is widely regarded as one of the most physically imposing defensive tackles in the NFL. It's natural, considering he comes from a family in which he was the second oldest of seven boys all raised by his mother, Harriet, a single parent. She is now retired, but spent years working as a correctional officer at a juvenile facility in Louisville, Kentucky. Jamal's younger brother, Kwesi, played cornerback at Morehead State and had a free agent tryout with the Chargers in 2006.

CORY WITHROW

Center-Guard
6-2, 287
9th NFL Season
3rd with Chargers

Washington State
Free Agent - '06
Mead HS
Spokane, Wash.

65

Prior to the 2007 season, the Chargers signed center Cory Withrow to a new three-year contract because they knew the veteran could provide good depth and step in to help in a pinch. It took just a few months for the move to payoff.

When Pro Bowl center Nick Hardwick went down with a foot injury against Oakland in Week 6 of the '07 season, Withrow stepped in and helped pave the way for a four-touchdown day by LaDainian Tomlinson. Withrow started a total of four games while Hardwick was sidelined and provided the Chargers with what they'd hoped for when they resigned him.

Withrow joined the Chargers during training camp in 2006. In his first year with the Bolts, he saw spot duty on offense and also played on special teams. His witty sense of humor was welcomed in the Bolts locker room, and his veteran presence benefited many of the Chargers' young linemen.

Away from football, Cory enjoys basketball, golf, riding roller coasters and spending time with his family. In March, Cory took a break from all of the above to attend the NFL's Business Management and Entrepreneurial Program at the Stanford University Graduate School of Business. The three-day program teaches NFLers how to evaluate business opportunities in general and in the sports industry specifically. Withrow attended the program with teammate Marques Harris.

Throughout his career, Cory has enjoyed being involved in community service projects where he is able to work with children and the elderly. In Minnesota in 2003, he started a program called "Cory's Kids" in conjunction with the Fairview-University Children's Hospital in Minnesota.

With their first pick in the 2008 NFL Draft, the Chargers tabbed Jim Thorpe Award winner cornerback Antoine Cason from the University of Arizona with the 27th overall choice.

A shutdown corner in the mold of former Arizona standout and current Baltimore Raven, Chris McAlister, Cason became the first Arizona player to earn All-Pac-10 Conference defense and special teams accolades in the same season. A likely first-round choice had he elected to come out following his junior season, Cason decided to return to the University of Arizona for his senior season so that he could stay on track to graduate with his class. He's now just one three-unit elective shy of earning a degree in political science from the U of A and will very soon receive his diploma.

Cason comes from a family rich in sports tradition. His father, Wendell, was a defensive back at the University of Oregon (1981-84) and went on to play for the Atlanta Falcons (1985-87). He now runs a trucking business in Southern California. Antoine's brother, Dione, ran track at Washington State. His cousin, Ken-yon Rambo, was a receiver at Ohio State (1997-00) before playing for the Dallas Cowboys (2001-02) and New York Jets (2003). And another cousin, Aveion Cason, was an All-America tailback at Illinois State (1997-00) and currently plays for the Detroit Lions (2001-02, 2006-present) after previously seeing stints with the St. Louis Rams (2001, 04-05) and Cowboys (2003) earlier in his career. Last season, Antoine was in the stands at Qualcomm Stadium watching his new team beat Aveion's Lions, 51-14. All told, more than a dozen of Cason's family members have Division I college football experience.

Cason was a four-year starter for the Wildcats. He intercepted 15 passes during his career and shattered the school's record by racking up 349 yards in returns. He earned a host of postseason honors and accolades along the way, including the 2007 Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back. As one of the fastest players on campus, he also starred on the Arizona outdoor track team for two years, competing in sprints and relays.

During his four seasons in Tucson, Cason also became a leader in the community. On behalf of the University, he donated time to community service projects and even filmed a public service announcement for the school. His largest endeavor was joining forces with former Wildcats teammate, Matt Brooks, to create a campaign known as "Cason Cares." It's a project that Antoine decided to take on after losing his grandfather, Royce Rambo, to cancer in February 2006, while Brooks had several of his own family members affected by the disease. The goal of Cason Cares was to raise money for cancer research. Cason and Brooks sold rubber wristbands for $3 apiece and the pair made a generous donation to the American Cancer Society before an Arizona men's basketball game at the McKale Center in December 2007.

JACOB HESTER

Running Back-Fullback
5-11, 225
Rookie

Louisiana State
Draft 3 – '08
Evangel Christian HS

22

The Chargers opened Day 2 of the 2008 NFL Draft by trading up to the third round, to the 69th overall selection, to acquire running back Jacob Hester from LSU. The Chargers swapped picks with the New England Patriots, sending a fifth-round choice (160th overall) in the '08 draft and the Bolts' second-round pick in 2009 to pick up the former Tiger. Hester will play both running back and fullback for the Chargers. He also played both positions at LSU, where he helped lead the Tigers to the 2007 BCS National Championship in his final collegiate game. As a senior, Hester rushed for 1,103 yards and 12 touchdowns, and as an adept receiver, he caught 14 passes for 106 yards and another score during his senior campaign. A starter his final two seasons at LSU, Hester finished his career with 20 touchdowns on the ground. He's a sure-handed ball-carrier, fumbling just once during his collegiate career while rushing for 1,780 yards on 364 carries and averaging nearly five yards per carry in the very tough Southeastern Conference.

A fan-favorite in Baton Rouge because of his "do it all" attitude, Hester had one of the biggest games of his career as a senior against rival Florida. In front of the largest-ever crowd at Tiger Stadium, which approached 93,000, Hester scored on a two-yard run on a fourth-and-goal play with just over a minute remaining in the game to help the top-ranked Tigers erase a 10-point fourth-quarter deficit and top the ninth-ranked Gators, 28-24. Hester finished the night with 106 yards rushing, his first-career 100-yard game, and he converted two fourth-downs, including the game-winning score, on the Tigers' final drive. That performance against Florida earned him College Football Player of the Week honors from the Sporting News and Player of the Week honors from the SEC.

Mature beyond his years, Hester married the former Katie Tilley on July 28, 2007, proposing to her outside War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock, Arkansas, moments after LSU beat the Razorbacks, 31-26, in 2006. Hester kept his nerves that day by sticking to his traditional pregame ritual of listening to his Elvis Presley CD. Katie is the niece of former Miami Dolphins standout wide receiver Pat Tilley and Hester is a distant cousin of Hall of Fame quarterback Terry Bradshaw.

Running Back
6-0, 215
Rookie

Texas-El Paso
Draft 5 – '08
Tolleson HS
Phoenix, Ariz.

In the fifth round of the 2008 NFL Draft, the Chargers added another big and powerful running back, landing Marcus Thomas from the University of Texas-El Paso. The draft selections of Thomas and Jacob Hester will help the Chargers fill the void left by Michael Turner, who signed with the Atlanta Falcons in March 2008 as an unrestricted free agent. Thomas finished his career as the Miners' fifth all-time leading rusher (2,615 yards) and third-leading scorer (26 rushing touchdowns). He also ranked fourth in 100-yard games (11) and seventh in all-purpose yards (3,660). As a senior, Thomas rushed for 1,166 yards and 16 touchdowns while averaging over five yards per carry (5.1). He racked up a school-record seven 100-yard games and became only the fourth player in school history to score more than 100 points in a season and only the seventh to rush for more than 1,000 yards. The Chargers made Thomas the 166th overall selection in this year's draft.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Drafted by Chargers in fifth round (166th overall), April 27, 2008.

COLLEGE: Led Miners in rushing as sophomore, junior and senior...completed 27-yard touchdown pass on option play to give Miners 24-21 win over SMU Oct. 7, 2006...began sophomore year in 2005 as redshirt and came off bench to lead team in rushing with 791 yards and five scores...also became team's third-leading receiver with 32 catches for 440 yards and five more scores...ended up ranking seventh in Conference USA with 1,296 all-purpose yards...closed out season with four-straight 100-yard games, becoming first in school history to put together such streak...played at Texas-El Paso from 2004-07... majored in multidisciplinary studies.

PERSONAL: Born in Phoenix, Arizona...rushed for 3,573 yards and 47 touchdowns as senior at Tolleson High School in Phoenix...rushed for 426 yards and seven scores in one game vs. Moon Valley HS...all-state choice as junior and senior...led team to 12-win season and state semifinals as senior...also lettered in track and field and basketball...won state title with track team as sophomore and runners up junior year.

DeJUAN TRIBBLE

Cornerback
5-9, 190
Rookie

Boston College
Draft 6 – '08
North College Hill HS
Cincinnati, Ohio

29

In the sixth round of the 2008 NFL Draft with the 192nd choice, San Diego added another ball-hawking cornerback in DeJuan Tribble, a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference pick from Boston College. A speedster at 5-9 and 190 pounds, Tribble tied a Boston College record with three interception returns for touchdowns, while his 15 career picks were the third-most in Eagles' history. A Boston College player hadn't returned three picks for touchdowns in a career since the early 1960s. Twice Tribble had three interceptions in a game, performing the feat against Miami as a junior and against Wake Forest as a senior.

Antoine Cason, the Chargers' first-round pick, and Tribble, their sixth-rounder, combined to pick off 30 passes as collegians while playing in two of the NCAA's top conferences, the Pac-10 and the ACC.

TRANSACTION HISTORY: Drafted by Chargers in sixth round (192nd overall), April 27, 2008.

COLLEGE: Second-team All-ACC as senior after finishing season with four interceptions...named National Defensive Player of Week by Walter Camp Football Foundation after opening senior campaign with three picks against Wake Forest Sept. 1, 2007...intercepted one of three passes in end zone to prevent Demon Deacons score in 38-28 win...was second three-interception game of career, becoming only second player in school history to intercept three passes in two separate games...second-team All-ACC as junior after interception seven passes with three returns for touchdowns...named ACC Defensive Back of Week after intercepting three passes against Miami, including 22-yard return for touchdown...also scored on interception returns against Florida State (36 yards) and Maryland (42 yards)...returned punt 41 yards for touchdown as freshman against West Virginia, Nov. 13, 2004...scored touchdown after recovering blocked punt vs. Syracuse, Nov. 27, 2004...redshirted in 2003...played at Boston College from 2003-07...earned degree in general management.

PERSONAL: Born in Cincinnati, Ohio...lettered in football, baseball, basketball and track at North College Hill High School in Cincinnati...earned All-Ohio Division IV honors as senior defensive back.

2007 IN REVIEW

The Chargers capped one of the most memorable seasons in team history as Philip Rivers' offensive leadership sparked an eight-game winning streak, an 11-5 mark in the regular season and the team's first two playoff wins since 1995 in route to an appearance in the 2007 AFC Championship Game.

San Diego Chargers 14, Chicago Bears 3
Sunday, September 9, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers opened the 2007 season with a hard-fought 14-3 win over the Chicago Bears in Norv Turner's head coaching debut in San Diego...for most of three quarters, the game was a slugfest with Chicago holding on to a 3-0 advantage...untimely penalties, turnovers and dropped passes prevented the Chargers from getting on the scoreboard until they caught a break late in the third quarter when a Mike Scifres punt took an errant bounce and hit a Bears player...Matt Wilhelm recovered the football and the Bolts were in business as four plays later LaDainian Tomlinson took a handoff from Philip Rivers and on a halfback option play threw a perfect spiral to Antonio Gates who scored from 17 yards out to give the Chargers a 7-3 lead...then six plays later on Chicago's next drive, linebacker Stephen Cooper hit Bears running back Adrian Peterson after a two yard gain and in the process he stripped the ball from the Peterson...the fumble was recovered by Clinton Hart and it gave the Bolts great field position at their own 44-yard line...eight plays and 56 yards later, Tomlinson capped the drive with a seven-yard touchdown run and the Bolts would hold on for the 14-3 victory.

New England Patriots 38, San Diego Chargers 14
Sunday, September 16, 2007 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

The Chargers watched their record fall to 1-1 as the New England Patriots handed them a resounding 38-14 defeat before a capacity crowd of 68,756 at Gillette Stadium and a national-television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football...New England scored a touchdown on the opening drive of the game and it set the tone for the rest of the night...San Diego fell behind 24-0 at the half as Ben Watson caught a 7-yard touchdown pass, Randy Moss a 23-yarder and Adalius Thomas returned an interception 65 yards for a third score...the Chargers turned the ball over three times in the game's first 30 minutes, leading directly to 10 Patriots points...the Chargers attempted to make a game of it in the second half, scoring on a 1-yard TD catch by Lorenzo Neal midway through the third quarter, but the Patriots answered with Moss' second touchdown catch of the night...the Chargers scored again to cut the New England lead to 31-14 and then recovered a fumble on the ensuing kickoff, but a three-and-out by the offense pretty much dashed the Bolts' hopes as New England drove 91 yards for one final score to put away the game, 38-14...linebacker Shawne Merriman turned in a big defensive effort for the Chargers, racking up two sacks, a forced fumble and a tackle for loss, but it wasn't enough as New England racked up 407 yards of total offense against San Diego's defense...offensively, New England held the Bolts to 201 total yards on the night.

Green Bay Packers 31, San Diego Chargers 24
Sunday, September 23, 2007 - Lambeau Field (Green Bay, WI)

The Chargers watched a victory slip from their grasp as Brett Favre rallied the Packers from a fourth-quarter 21-17 deficit with a 57 yard touchdown pass to Greg Jennings with 2:03 left to ply in the fourth quarter as Green Bay dealt the Bolts a 31-24 setback before a sellout crowd of 70,733 at historic Lambeau Field...Favre, whose touchdown pass to Jennings was the NFL-record-tying 420th of his career (tying Dan Marino), passed for 369 yards and three touchdowns without any interceptions against the Bolts defense...still down only three points after the TD reception, Philip Rivers attempted to rally the Chargers for a tying or go-ahead score, but a pass intended for LaDainian Tomlinson was intercepted by Nick Barnett and returned to the Chargers' two-yard line...two plays later the Packers scored to go up 31-21...San Diego did manage to rally for a field goal with 20 seconds left, but Green Bay recovered the onsides kick and ran out the clock for the victory...Rivers had a very good day prior to the interception, completing 75 percent of his passes (27 of 36) for 306 yards and three touchdowns...Antonio Gates led the Bolts with 113 yards receiving, while Tomlinson, Vincent Jackson and Buster Davis all caught touchdown passes.

Kansas City Chiefs 30, San Diego Chargers 16
Sunday, September 30, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers let one slip through their grasp, blowing a 16-6 halftime lead and being outscored 24-0 in the second half as the Kansas City Chiefs dealt the Bolts a shocking 30-16 loss before a crowd of 65,175 at Qualcomm Stadium...the Chargers were unable to take advantage of a 132-yard performance by LaDainian Tomlinson and Kansas City capitalized on four San Diego turnovers...the Bolts led 16-6 at the half on a five-yard TD run by Tomlinson and three Nate Kaeding field goals, including a home career-long of 51 yards, but Kansas City scored their six points following a fumble and an interception...things began to unravel for the Chargers in the second half...Kansas City kicked a field goal in the latter half of the third quarter to cut the lead to 16-9...on the following drive, Philip Rivers had a pass intended for Tomlinson picked off by Derrick Johnson and three plays later Tony Gonzalez caught a 22-yard touchdown pass to knot the score at 16-16...after San Diego's offense went three-and-out, Kansas City got the ball back and dealt the Bolts a devastating blow...facing a 3rd-and-19 from their own 49-yard line, rookie WR Dwayne Bowe caught a slant pass and broke two tackles for a 51-yard touchdown catch-and-run to put the Chiefs up 23-16...after trading possessions, the Chargers appeared to catch a break in the fourth quarter when a pass deflection by Quentin Jammer turned into an interception by Clinton Hart, but three plays after the pick, Rivers was sacked and stripped by Johnson and Chiefs cornerback Tyron Brackenridge picked up the fumble and raced 51 yards for the game-deciding score...The Chargers attempted a late rally, but Kansas City stopped them on downs at the five-yard line and held on for the win.

San Diego Chargers 41, Denver Broncos 3
Sunday, October 7, 2007 - Invesco Field (Denver, CO)

The Chargers ended a three-game losing streak in convincing fashion, handing the Broncos a devastating 41-3 setback before a sellout crowd of 76,879 at Invesco Field...the Chargers rushed for a season-high 214 yards, got a near-perfect passing day from Philip Rivers and took advantage of three Broncos turnovers...the Bolts scored first when Rivers scored the first rushing touchdown of his career on a two-yard naked bootleg on San Diego's first offensive possession...on the ensuing kickoff, Carlos Polk delivered a bone-jarring hit on return-man Brian Clark, forcing a fumble in the process...Brandon Siler recovered the bouncing ball and 23 yards later, he dove for the front left pylon of the end zone and San Diego scored its second touchdown in a span of 11 seconds to go up 14-0...the Chargers would go on to add a pair of second quarter field goals and led 20-3 at the half...San Diego tacked on two more scores in the third quarter, opening the period with a 73-yard touchdown drive and a nine-yard TD catch by Antonio Gates, then adding a second score on a 15-yard catch by Vincent Jackson after Marlon McCree stalled a Broncos drive with an interception at the two-yard line...Michael Turner closed out the scoring and delivered the final blow with a 74-yard TD run in the fourth quarter...the win was San Diego's second in a row in Denver, marking their first back-to-back wins in the Mile High city since 1967-68...it was Denver's worst home loss in 41 years...the Chargers' 38-point win tied for the fifth-largest margin of victory in team history and it was the second-largest on the road...it was the Chargers' biggest win ever over the Broncos in Denver...San Diego led 20-3 at halftime, their 17-point margin after 30 minutes being their best ever in the Mile High City.

San Diego Chargers 28, Oakland Raiders 14
Sunday, October 14, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Bolts rode a team-record-tying four touchdown performance by the reigning NFL MVP, LaDainian Tomlinson, to knock off their arch-rivals, the Oakland Raiders, 28-14 at Qualcomm Stadium...the Bolts took an early 7-0 lead, driving 80 yards on the opening series of the game with Tomlinson scoring his first touchdown from three yards out...after a Dratyon Florence interception on Oakland's third offensive play of the game, the Chargers countered three plays later as Tomlinson scored his second touchdown of the day, this one from 27 yards out, and the Bolts extended their lead to 14-0...the score remained as such until midway through the second quarter when Philip Rivers threw an errant pass in an attempt to avoid a sack and it was returned 66 yards for a touchdown by the Raiders' Thomas Howard...a pivotal series of plays occurred at the end of the first half with the score still 14-7...cornerback Quentin Jammer made a touchdown-saving tackle of Robert Curry at the one-yard line after a 31-yard catch and run...Jammer's play was followed by successive sacks by Shawne Merriman and Shaun Phillips, the second of which came with a forced fumble that gave the ball back to the Bolts, allowing them to hang on to their seven-point lead...the Chargers defense opened the third quarter with a three-and-out and the offense rewarded that effort with a 68-yard TD drive that ended with Tomlinson's third TD of the day, a 13 yarder that stretched the lead to 21-7...the Bolts had a chance to ice the game early in the fourth quarter, but after Nate Kaeding missed a 50-yard field goal, Oakland drove for a touchdown to narrow the gap to 21-14...during that drive, Oakland converted two 3rd-and-7s, a 3rd-and-14, a 4th-and-12, and they scored on a 4th-and-1...San Diego answered though on its very next possession, driving 85 yards in six plays and Tomlinson's fourth TD of the day (41 yards) put the game out of reach...Tomlinson finished the day with 198 yards rushing and San Diego's defense recorded five sacks, including 2.5 by Merriman and 2.0 by Phillips.

San Diego Chargers 35, Houston Texans 10
Sunday, October 28, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers climbed back over .500 for the first time since opening day with a resounding 35-10 win over the Houston Texans...the Chargers got big days from Antonio Gates and Antonio Cromartie, who each scored a pair of touchdowns in the win...Gates got things going early when he and Philip Rivers took advantage of a busted coverage by the Texans defense and connected on a 49-yard touchdown pass play...after a three-and-out by the Bolts defense, the Chargers caught a huge break when the Texans long snapper put a punt snap way over the head of punter Matt Turk and the ball rolled all the way to the end zone where it was scooped up by Cromartie for a touchdown and a 14-0 lead...Houston answered with a field goal to cut the lead to 14-3, but on the Chargers' next drive, Rivers and Gates connected again, this time from 31 yards out and the Bolts went up 21-10...on the touchdown catch, Gates went over 4,000 yards receiving for his career...four plays after the Gates touchdown, Cromartie stepped in front of a Matt Schaub pass and followed a convoy of blockers across the field and down the sideline 70 yards to the end zone for his second touchdown of the game and the Bolts lead was extended to 28-3...Cromartie wasn't done there however...on the fifth play of Houston's next drive, facing a third-and-seven, Cromartie stepped in front of yet another Schaub pass and intercepted his second of the day...eight plays later, Rivers threw a 14-yard touchdown pass to Chris Chambers, playing in his first career game for the Chargers, and the Bolts led 35-3...Houston would add a late fourth quarter touchdown, but the Chargers would prevail, 35-10...San Diego's defense and special teams both played huge roles in the win...the Chargers came away with five takeaways in the game, including four interceptions and the fumble...in the kicking game, the Chargers' coverage units pinned the Texans back all afternoon, forcing them to start five drives following punts and three drives following kickoffs inside the 20.

Minnesota Vikings 35, San Diego Chargers 17
Sunday, November 4, 2007 - Metrodome (Minneapolis, MN)

Despite an NFL-record 109-yard touchdown return by Antonio Cromartie following a missed field goal, the San Diego Chargers fell to the Minnesota Vikings by a score of 35-17...Minnesota countered Cromartie's achievement with a record-breaker of its own as rookie running back Adrian Peterson rushed for an NFL-record 296 yards and the Vikings as a team rushed for 378 yards, the second most in an NFL game since 1970...the game was tight for the entire first half, but San Diego appeared to catch a huge break at the end of the second quarter when the Vikings attempted a 57-yard field goal that fell short...unbeknownst to some of the Minnesota players, Cromartie was stationed underneath the goalpost where he fielded the missed kick and then went racing down the sideline behind a convoy of blockers for his record TD...instead of gaining momentum off the score, it was Minnesota instead that got hot in the third quarter...they outscored the Bolts 14-0, scoring on two long touchdowns, one by Peterson and another by Sidney Rice, to take a 21-14 lead...the Chargers kicked a field goal early in the fourth quarter to get within four points at 21-17 and then got the ball back after a Peterson fumble, but the Bolts were unable to take advantage of the turnover and Minnesota made them pay with Peterson's third touchdown of the game and the Vikings went on to win the game, 35-17.

San Diego Chargers 23, Indianapolis Colts 21
Sunday, November 11, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

On a cool and rainy night in San Diego, the Chargers knocked off the defending Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts before a National TV audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football...Darren Sproles electrified the crowd with two long touchdown returns, including an 89-yarder on the game's opening kickoff and Antonio Cromartie did his part by intercepting Peyton Manning a team-record-tying three times as part of a six interception night for the Bolts...the Chargers had complete command of the game early as Sproles scored on the kickoff and then on a 45-yard punt return later in the first quarter...Cromartie recorded all three of his interceptions in the first half, the third of which resulted in a four-yard touchdown run by LaDainian Tomlinson that gave the Bolts a 23-0 lead...the defending champs rallied though with a 21-0 run through the rest of the game that fell short only when Adam Vinatieri missed a potential game-winning 29-yard field goal to the right...Clinton Hart sealed the victory for San Diego with an interception on the game's final play...San Diego tied its team record with the six picks on the night...for Manning, the six INTs were a career high.

Jacksonville Jaguars 24, San Diego Chargers 17
Sunday, November 18, 2007 - Jacksonville Municipal Stadium (Jacksonville, FL)

The San Diego Chargers absorbed a tough defeat, falling 24-17, at the hands of the Jacksonville Jaguars...Philip Rivers posted his second 300-yard game of the season, but it wasn't enough as two fourth-quarter interceptions and several untimely penalties by the Bolts proved costly...Jacksonville scored the first 10 points of the game and led 17-3 at the half...the Chargers scored a touchdown on the opening drive of the third quarter on a six-yard run by LaDainian Tomlinson...the drive was aided by a 20-yard catch by Vincent Jackson and a 34-yard catch and run by Tomlinson on a screen...after a three-and-out by the defense, the Bolts were unable to capitalize, opting to punt while facing a fourth-and-two at the Jags' 39-yard line...it took Jacksonville just five plays to make the Bolts pay, scoring a touchdown on a one-yard pass to Mercedes Lewis and the Jags reclaimed a 14-point lead...the Chargers scored a late touchdown on a 24-yard pass from Rivers to Antonio Gates to cut the deficit in half, but a last-gasp drive to tie the game fell short when Rivers was intercepted by Sammy Knight with 1:26 left to play in the fourth quarter and Jacksonville held on for the win.

San Diego Chargers 32, Baltimore Ravens 14
Sunday, November 25, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers reclaimed sole possession of first place in the AFC West after handing the Baltimore Ravens a 32-14 setback at Qualcomm Stadium...after a scoreless first quarter, things heated up in the second...Baltimore answered a San Diego field goal with a touchdown by Willis McGahee to take a 7-3 lead but the ensuing kickoff traveled out of bounds and it started a string of events that would see the Chargers outscore Baltimore 22-0 over the final 9:59 of the quarter...the Chargers took advantage of the kickoff mistake and scored a touchdown to take the lead seven plays later on a 35-yard pass from Philip Rivers to Antonio Gates...then on the third play of the Ravens' next drive, Shawne Merriman recorded a sack and forced fumble against Kyle Boller and Marques Harris recovered for the Chargers...four plays later, Nate Kaeding's 46-yard field goal stretched the lead to 12-7...a three-and-out by the defense, capped by an eight-yard sack by Jacques Cesaire on third down, set the stage for another touchdown drive, this one traveling 49 yards in nine plays with the Bolts scoring on a five-yard pass from Rivers to Chris Chambers...Baltimore's Mike Anderson couldn't handle the kickoff after the Chambers TD and right before the end of the half, San Diego made them pay with another Kaeding field goal and the Chargers led 22-7 at the half...the Chargers came roaring out of the locker room in the third quarter, taking the opening drive 72 yards down the field and Rivers' third TD pass of the game and second to Gates (25 yards) gave the home side a 29-7 lead...Baltimore did manage a touchdown to get within 29-14, but Kaeding's career-high-tying fourth field goal of the day in the fourth quarter from 41 yards, all but put things out of reach...Gates finished the day with 105 yards and two touchdowns receiving, while LaDainian Tomlinson rushed for 77 yards and became the 23rd back in NFL history to rush for more than 10,000 career yards...San Diego's defense recorded four sacks and held Baltimore to 210 yards of total offense.

San Diego Chargers 24, Kansas City Chiefs 10
Sunday, December 2, 2007 - Arrowhead Stadium (Kansas City, MO)

The Chargers rode a huge defensive effort that included a season-high eight sacks, three interceptions and a total of four forced turnovers as they won a key AFC West game at Kansas City to take a two-game lead in the division with four weeks left to play...Shawne Merriman had a season-high three sacks and Antonio Cromartie picked off two passes in the end zone to help with the winning effort...LaDainian Tomlinson rushed for 177 yards, scoring twice in the second half on runs of 31 and 28 yards to break a 10-10 tie and give the Bolts the victory...it was a historic day for Tomlinson, who topped 1,000 rushing yards for the seventh consecutive season and scored the 110th and 111th rushing touchdowns of his career to bypass his childhood hero, Walter Payton, for third place on the NFL's all-time list...San Diego overcame cold and blustery conditions, winning on a day when the wind-chill dropped the gameday temperature to 24 degrees.

San Diego Chargers 23, Tennessee Titans 17 (OT)
Sunday, December 9, 2007 - LP Field (Nashville, TN)

The Chargers overcame a very slow start and rallied from a 14-point fourth-quarter deficit for an improbable 23-17 overtime win on the road over the Tennessee Titans before a sellout crowd of 69,143 at Nashville's LP Field...the Chargers, who were held to 110 yards of total offense through the first three quarters, rallied for two touchdowns in the fourth quarter and one in overtime while gaining 231 yards during that stretch...Philip Rivers threw two touchdown passes in the fourth quarter, the first to LaDainian Tomlinson and the second to Antonio Gates to tie the game with nine seconds left...Rivers was playing on a badly sprained left knee and missed most of the game's second quarter, but he managed to drive the team 80 yards in 14 plays for the game-tying score...the Chargers sustained several other costly injuries in the game, including leading sacker Shawne Merriman, who had two sacks before he was forced from the game with a knee injury on a questionable hit after a play was over, and starting fullback Lorenzo Neal...in overtime, San Diego was forced to punt on its first possession, but a terrific punt by Mike Scifres combined with outstanding coverage by Kassim Osgood and Antonio Cromartie pinned the Titans back at their own two...after a defensive three-and-out, the Chargers got the ball back and drove 48 yards for the game-winning score, doing so on a 16-yard run by Tomlinson 7:31 into the extra period...the aforementioned Cromartie had an interception early in the game, his team-record-tying ninth of the season.

San Diego Chargers 51, Detroit Lions 14
Sunday, December 16, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers routed the Detroit Lions, 51-14, to improve to 9-5 and claim their second straight AFC West title and their third in the last four years...it was the most points scored by the Bolts in a game since 1985...LaDainian Tomlinson and Darren Sproles each rushed for over 100 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns in the win...they became the first pair of Chargers running backs ever to rush for more than 100 yards in the same game and the first two RBs to each score two rushing TDs in the same game since 1982...as a team, the Bolts rushed for 274 yards, the second-highest figure in team history...San Diego's defense forced six Lions turnovers, registering five interceptions and a fumble recovery...it also limited Detroit to 26 yards rushing in the game...five different Chargers had picks, the first time that had happened in a game in more than 27 years...Shaun Phillips returned one of the interceptions for a touchdown and Antonio Cromartie had his 10th of the season to set a new team record...the Chargers didn't even punt until late in the third quarter, scoring on their first seven offensive possessions...the Chargers led 17-0 after one quarter, 27-0 before Detroit got on the scoreboard for the first time and 34-7 at the half...San Diego's 41:32 time of possession was its highest in a game since 1992.

San Diego Chargers 23, Denver Broncos 3
Monday, December 24, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers earned their 10th win of the season before a Christmas Eve capacity crowd at Qualcomm Stadium on ESPN's Monday Night Football...the Chargers turned in a dominating defensive performance, holding the Broncos to three points while forcing three turnovers and collecting four sacks...Denver started the game with an impressive offensive drive, but a sack and forced fumble by Luis Castillo set things in motion for the home team...the Chargers jumped out to a 16-0 lead at halftime, scoring on three Nate Kaeding field goals, including one after the sack and forced fumble, and a 17-yard touchdown run by LaDainian Tomlinson, who played only into the first series of the third quarter...Chris Chambers added another touchdown on a 14-yard catch to open the third quarter...by the conclusion of the Chambers touchdown drive, San Diego held a 314-55 edge over the Broncos in total yardage and 35 of the Broncos' yards were attained on their opening drive of the game...Denver remained scoreless until Jason Elam hit a 23-yard field goal with 2:47 remaining in the third quarter... quarterback Philip Rivers had a solid night passing the football, throwing for 189 yards and a touchdown while completing six of his eight third-down passes for first downs in the game.

San Diego Chargers 30, Oakland Raiders 17
Sunday, December 30, 2007 - McAfee Coliseum (Oakland, CA)

The Chargers locked up the No. 3 seed in the 2007 NFL Playoffs as they closed out the season with a 30-17 win over the Raiders...rookie linebacker Jyles Tucker had a huge afternoon for the Bolts, sacking JaMarcus Russell three times, including a third-quarter sack, forced fumble and fumble recovery in the end zone for a touchdown that gave the Bolts a 24-10 lead...Igor Olshansky set the tone of the game early, intercepting a Russell pass on the very first play to set up a Philip Rivers seven-yard touchdown pass to LaDainian Tomlinson that put the Bolts up 7-0...despite the early touchdown, the game remained close in the first half though as Oakland tied it 7-7 late in the first quarter...the Bolts didn't retake the lead until late in the second quarter when Chris Chambers caught a 19-yard TD pass from Rivers and the Chargers went up 14-7...the Bolts never trailed again...they tacked on 10 more points in the third quarter as Nate Kaeding kicked the first of his three field goals and Tucker added his touchdown on the recovery...a Jerry Porter touchdown late in the third cut Oakland's deficit to seven (24-17), but the Chargers added another field goal to up the lead back to 10 and then the defense salted away the game as it ended successive Raider drives on downs...the Bolts took advantage of a late fourth-quarter muffed punt by Oakland and added the last of Kaeding's field goals for the final points in the win...Oakland ended its season 4-12 while the Chargers improved to 11-5.

2007 AFC Wild Card Playoffs • San Diego Chargers 17, Tennessee Titans 6
Sunday, January 6, 2008 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers won their first playoff game since 1995 on a cool day with intermittent rain showers before a capacity crowd at Qualcomm Stadium...the Bolts overcame a slow start and a 6-0 deficit at the half to rally and outscore the Titans 17-0 in the third and fourth quarters to win the game, 17-6...Chris Chambers and Vincent Jackson became the first pair of Chargers to each record more than 100 yards receiving in a playoff game since 1983 as Chambers went for 121, while Jackson tallied a career-high 114, including a touchdown catch that proved to be the eventual game winner...the Bolts trailed 6-0 at the half, but a Nate Kaeding field goal to open the third quarter cut the deficit in half...after a defensive stop, the Chargers drove 78 yards in seven plays and Philip Rivers capped the drive with the 25-yard TD pass to Jackson...Rivers, who went 4 of 4 for 55 yards on the drive, passed for 292 total yards against the Titans...Tennessee drove deep into San Diego territory on their next drive, but Rob Bironas pushed a 38-yard field goal wide to the left and the Chargers made them pay...Rivers engineered a 12-play, 72-yard drive and LaDainian Tomlinson scored from one yard out on a fourth-and-one play to put the game away...Chambers helped set up the score with a 39-yard catch on a third-and-10 play...Tennessee was stymied by a three-and-out and a Drayton Florence interception as the Bolts put the game away...the Titans finished their year 10-7, while the Chargers advanced to face Indianapolis in the AFC Divisional Playoff round.

2007 Divisional Playoffs • San Diego Chargers 28, Indianapolis Colts 24
Sunday, January 13, 2008 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 28-24 win over the Indianapolis Colts...the contest included multiple comeback efforts that were sparked by a handful of reserves who were forced into action after key starters were sidelined with injuries...with the Colts already up 7-0 and driving deep into Chargers' territory, Marvin Harrison fumbled after making a catch and Marlon McCree recovered the loose ball to end the threat...the Chargers capitalized on the takeaway, driving 78 yards in 10 plays on the ensuing possession and tying the game on a 14-yard touchdown pass from Philip Rivers to Vincent Jackson...up 10-7 late in the second quarter, the Colts were looking to score again, but Antonio Cromartie intercepted a tipped pass intended for Reggie Wayne...he returned the interception 89 yards for what appeared to be a go-ahead score, but a holding call during the return brought the play back to midfield and the teams went to the locker room with Indy up 10-7...the Chargers scored on their opening possession of the second half when Rivers and Chris Chambers connected on a 30-yard TD pass that gave the Chargers their first lead of the game, 14-10...Indianapolis responded by driving to the Chargers' four yard-line, but another turnover doomed the drive, this time Eric Weddle intercepting a Peyton Manning pass that was intended for Kenton Keith...after the teams traded possessions, Indy did reclaimed the lead when Manning and Wayne connected on a nine-yard TD pass...Indy's lead didn't last long however, as Rivers tossed his third touchdown pass of the game, a short screen pass to Darren Sproles who took it 56 yards to the house to give the Bolts a 21-17 lead on the final play of the third quarter...the excitement was temporarily dampened however as Rivers sprained his right knee on the TD pass to Sproles and he would not return to the game...with 10:16 remaining in the fourth quarter, Indianapolis reclaimed the lead, 24-21, on a 55-yard touchdown catch by Anthony Gonzalez...with Rivers out and LaDainian Tomlinson also battling a sore knee, backups Billy Volek and Michael Turner were called on to carry the load...four Turner runs and a 27-yard catch and run by Legedu Naanee set up what proved to be the game-winning score, a one-yard quarterback sneak by Volek with 4:54 remaining...Indianapolis had two chances to re-take the lead late in the game, but both times the Chargers' defense forced the Colts to turn it over on downs...the first series ended at the Bolts' seven-yard line with just over two minutes remaining in the fourth quarter and the second ended on four plays with 58 seconds left after Mike Scifres had boomed a team-playoff-record 66-yard punt to force the Colts to start their final drive from well inside their own territory.

2007 AFC Championship Game • New England Patriots 21, San Diego Chargers 12
Sunday, January 20, 2008 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

The Chargers magical run through the postseason came to an abrupt end following a 21-12 loss to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game at Foxborough, Massachusetts...despite playing with a torn ACL in his right knee, Philip Rivers started and played the entire game...the contest was played in subfreezing weather with a kick-off temperature of 23 degrees and a wind-chill factor of nine degrees...the Chargers were doomed by their inability to score touchdowns inside the red zone, instead settling for four Nate Kaeding field goals...NFL rushing champion LaDainian Tomlinson, who was suffering from a strained MCL in his left knee, tried to go, but was unable to complete the game...the teams traded possessions early in the contest and the Chargers struck first with a 26-yard Kaeding field goal following a Tom Brady interception...the Patriots answered right back though with a touchdown run by Laurence Maroney, but another Kaeding field goal trimmed the lead to 7-6...the Chargers were also hurt by turnovers as a second-quarter interception thrown by Rivers resulted in another TD and a 14-6 lead for the Pats...the Chargers added a late second-quarter field goal by Kaeding and trailed 14-9 at the half...the Chargers made another run at the Patriots in the third quarter, intercepting Brady on the opening drive of the third...it would lead to one of the game's most critical plays...after the turnover, the Chargers drove all the way down to New England's four-yard line, but facing a third-and-one, Michael Turner was tackled for a two-yard loss back to the six by former Bolt Junior Seau and the Chargers had to settle for another field goal...unable to take the lead, New England made the Chargers pay three series later as Wes Welker caught a six-yard pass from Brady and the Patriots extended their lead to 21-12...the Chargers drove as far as New England's 36 on their next drive but were forced to punt and it would be the last time the Chargers had the football...New England took the ball with 9:13 to play in the fourth quarter and killed the entire clock, overcoming a second-and-18 early in the drive...the Patriots won the game, 21-12, and advanced to Super Bowl XLII to face the New York Giants.

TRAINING CAMP AT CHARGERS PARK

On Dec. 16, 2004, the Chargers announced that beginning in 2005, training camp would take place at Chargers Park, the team's year-round training facility that opened in 1997.

Chargers Park is one of the newest and most state-of-the-art training facilities in the National Football League. It has three practice fields, including two 100-yard natural-grass fields and a 60-yard Field Turf synthetic turf field. Chargers President Dean Spanos invested more than $100,000 to install the FieldTurf in April 2005.

Chargers Park is the ninth training camp site in the 45-year history of the San Diego Chargers. The team held its initial training camp in 1960 at Chapman College in Orange, California, before moving to the University of San Diego from 1961-62. In 1963, the team trained at Rough Acres Ranch in Boulevard, Calif., located in the rugged hills east of San Diego. The Chargers also trained in Escondido (1964-68), the University of California-Irvine (1969-73), United States International University (1974-75), the University of California-San Diego (1976-02) and the Home Depot Center in Carson, California (2003-04).

YEAR-BY-YEAR STATISTICS

Billy Volek came off the bench to lead the Chargers to an improbable 28-24 win over the Indianapolis Colts in the AFC Divisional Playoffs. Subbing for an injured Philip Rivers, Volek's one-yard touchdown on a quarterback sneak late in the fourth quarter proved to be the game's deciding score.

HISTORY

In July, Chargers President-CEO Dean Spanos announced that Fred Dean had been chosen as the 34th member of the Chargers' Hall of Fame. He will formally be inducted into the team's Hall of Fame at halftime of the Bolts' Oct. 12 game against New England. Dean is also being inducted into the Pro Football Hall of Fame in 2008. A second-round draft choice by the Chargers in 1975, Dean helped the Chargers win back-to-back AFC West championships in 1979 and 1980.

2007 AFC Championship Game
Sunday, January 20, 2008 - Gillette Stadium (Foxborough, MA)

The Chargers magical run through the postseason came to an abrupt end following a 21-12 loss to the New England Patriots in the AFC Championship Game at Foxborough, Massachusetts...despite playing with a torn ACL in his right knee, Philip Rivers started and played the entire game...the contest was played in subfreezing weather with a kickoff temperature of 23 degrees and a wind-chill factor of nine degrees...the Chargers were doomed by their inability to score touchdowns inside the red zone, instead settling for four Nate Kaeding field goals...NFL rushing champion LaDainian Tomlinson, who was suffering from a strained MCL in his left knee, tried to go, but was unable to complete the game...the teams traded possessions early in the contest and the Chargers struck first with a 26-yard Kaeding field goal following a Tom Brady interception...the Patriots answered right back though with a touchdown run by Laurence Maroney, but another Kaeding field goal trimmed the lead to 7-6...the Chargers were also hurt by turnovers as a second-quarter interception thrown by Rivers resulted in another TD and a 14-6 lead for the Pats...the Chargers added a late second-quarter field goal by Kaeding and trailed 14-9 at the half...the Chargers made another run at the Patriots in the third quarter, intercepting Brady on the opening drive of the third...it would lead to one of the game's most critical plays...after the turnover, the Chargers drove all the way down to New England's four-yard line, but facing a third-and-one, Michael Turner was tackled for a two-yard loss back to the six by former Bolt Junior Seau and the Chargers had to settle for another field goal...unable to take the lead, New England made the Chargers pay three series later as Wes Welker caught a six-yard pass from Brady and the Patriots extended their lead to 21-12...the Chargers drove as far as New England's 36 on their next drive but were forced to punt and it would be the last time the Chargers had the football...New England took the ball with 9:13 to play in the fourth quarter and killed the entire clock, overcoming a second-and-18 early in the drive...the Patriots won the game, 21-12, and advanced to Super Bowl XLII to face the New York Giants.

2007 AFC Divisional Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 28, Indianapolis Colts 24
Sunday, January 13, 2008 - RCA Dome (Indianapolis, IN)

The Chargers advanced to the AFC Championship game with a 28-24 win over the Indianapolis Colts before a capacity and boisterous crowd of 56,950 at the RCA Dome...the contest included multiple comeback efforts that were sparked by a handful of reserves who were forced into action after key starters were sidelined with injuries...on the opening drive of the game, Peyton Manning led the Colts on a 76-yard march that culminated with a 25-yard touchdown pass to tight end Dallas Clark and gave the defending Super Bowl Champs a quick 7-0 lead...after a Philip Rivers interception, about the only mistake he made on the day, the Colts were threatening to make it a 14-0 contest, driving to the Chargers' 17-yard line, but Antonio Cromartie forced a Marvin Harrison fumble and Marlon McCree recovered to end the threat...the Chargers capitalized on the takeaway, driving 78 yards in 10 plays on the ensuing possession and tying the game on a 14-yard touchdown pass from Rivers to Vincent Jackson...up 10-7 late in the second quarter, the Colts were looking to score again, but Cromartie delivered his second turnover of the day for the Bolts when a slightly overthrown Manning pass went off Reggie Wayne's fingertips and landed in the arms of the All-Pro cornerback... Cromartie returned the interception 89 yards for what appeared to be a go-ahead score, but a holding call during the return brought the play back to midfield and the teams went to the locker room with Indy up 10-7...for the 12th time in 18 games this season, the Chargers scored on their opening possession of the second half when Rivers and Chris Chambers connected on a 30-yard score that gave the Chargers their first lead of the game, 14-10...Indianapolis responded by driving to the Chargers' four yard-line before another Indianapolis turnover doomed the drive, this time rookie safety Eric Weddle intercepting a Manning pass that was intended for Kenton Keith and the Bolts had their third forced turnover of the game...with the game still 14-10 though, the Colts went back on top late in the third quarter when Manning connected with Wayne for a nine-yard score...the Chargers returned serve on their next drive as Rivers tossed his third touchdown pass of the day, a short screen that Darren Sproles took 56 yards to the house to give the Bolts a 21-17 lead on the final play of the third quarter...the euphoria was temporarily dampened however as Rivers sprained his right knee on the play and did not return to the game...with 10:16 remaining in the fourth quarter, Indianapolis reclaimed the lead, 24-21, on a 55-yard touchdown catch by Anthony Gonzalez...with Rivers out and LaDainian Tomlinson also battling a sore knee, backups Billy Volek and Michael Turner were called on to carry the load...four Turner runs and a 27-yard catch and run by Legedu Naanee set up what proved to be the deciding score in the game, a one-yard quarterback sneak by Volek with 4:54 remaining...Indianapolis tried to retake the lead, driving to the Chargers' seven yard line, but the Bolts' defense buckled down and forced the Colts to turn it over on downs...the Chargers had a chance to run out the clock, but went three-and-out and had to punt, but a 66-yard bomb by Mike Scifres created a long field for the Colts to work with and another four-down stop by the Chargers' defense on the final drive allowed them to escape with a 28-24 victory.

2007 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 17, Tennessee Titans 6
Sunday, January 6, 2008 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers won their first playoff game since 1995 on a cool day with intermittent rain showers before a capacity crowd at Qualcomm Stadium...the Bolts overcame a slow start and a 6-0 deficit at the half to rally and outscore the Titans 17-0 in the third and fourth quarters to win the game, 17-6...Chris Chambers and Vincent Jackson became the first pair of Chargers to each record more than 100 yards receiving in a playoff game since 1983 as Chambers went for 121, while Jackson tallied a career-high 114, including a touchdown catch that proved to be the eventual game winner...the Bolts trailed 6-0 at the half, but a Nate Kaeding field goal to open the third quarter cut the deficit in half...after a defensive stop, the Chargers drove 78 yards in seven plays and Philip Rivers capped the drive with the 25-yard TD pass to Jackson...Rivers, who went 4 of 4 for 55 yards on the drive, passed for 292 total yards against the Titans...Tennessee drove deep into San Diego territory on their next drive, but Rob Bironas pushed a 38-yard field goal wide to the left and the Chargers made them pay...Rivers engineered a 12-play, 72-yard drive and LaDainian Tomlinson scored from one yard out on a fourth-and-one play to put the game away...Chambers helped set up the score with a 39-yard catch on a third-and-10 play... Tennessee was stymied by a three-and-out and a Drayton Florence interception as the Bolts put the game away...the Titans finished their year 10-7, while the Chargers advanced to face Indianapolis in the AFC Divisional Playoff round.

2006 AFC Divisional Playoffs
New England Patriots 24, San Diego Chargers 21
Sunday, January 14, 2007 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' record-breaking season came to an end in heartbreaking fashion when the New England Patriots overcame an eight point deficit in the fourth quarter to defeat the Chargers, 24-21 in an AFC Divisional Playoff game before a record crowd of 68,810 in San Diego...after a sluggish start by both teams, San Diego took a 14-3 lead in the second quarter on touchdown runs by LaDainian Tomlinson and Michael Turner, but the Bolts defense gave up a late score and the Patriots trailed only 14-10 at the half...New England added a field goal in the third quarter to climb within a point, but the Chargers drove 83 yards in nine plays early in the fourth and took a 21-13 lead when Tomlinson scored from three yards out...the game appeared to be all but over when Marlon McCree intercepted Tom Brady on the following drive, but the Patriots' Troy Brown made a heads up play to strip McCree and the Patriots recovered...five plays later, Reche Caldwell caught a four-yard touchdown pass and the Pats tied it up on a successful two-point conversion...the Chargers got the ball back with a chance to reclaim the lead but instead went three-and-out, leading to a Patriots drive that ended with rookie Stephen Gostkowski kicking a 31-yard field goal with 1:10 left in the fourth quarter...the Chargers had one last-gasp drive, but Nate Kaeding's 54-yard field goal attempt with just a few seconds left came up short and the Patriots escaped with the win.

2004 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
New York Jets 20, San Diego Chargers 17 (OT)
Saturday, January 8, 2005 - Qualcomm Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers' 2004 postseason came to an early end when they were knocked out of the AFC Playoffs after suffering a 20-17 overtime loss to the New York Jets in a Wild Card Playoff Game at Qualcomm Stadium. A sellout crowd of 67,536 braved the elements as Drew Brees led a furious fourth quarter comeback during which the Chargers outscored New York 10-0 in the fourth quarter to send the game into overtime. Given new life by a roughing-the-passer penalty on what appeared to be San Diego's last play of the game, Brees found Antonio Gates in the end zone for a one-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds left to send the game to the extra period. It was only the second overtime playoff game in team history. Both teams traded possessions in the extra period before Nate Kaeding's 40-yard field-goal attempt sailed wide right, opening the door for New York to drive down and kick the game winner with five seconds left in overtime. Keenan McCardell scored the game's first touchdown on a 26-yard pass play. He was initially ruled out of bounds, but San Diego challenged the call and the ruling was reversed. It was McCardell's sixth-career touchdown catch in the postseason. Brees opened the game by completing his first eight passes. On the McCardell touchdown drive, Brees was five of five for 61 yards and the touchdown. He finished the game 31 of 42 (.738) to set team postseason records for completion percentage in a game (min. 10 att.) and for a career (min. 40 att.). His 31 completions were the second-most in a game in team playoff history and his two touchdown passes tied for the second-most. Eric Parker led the team with nine catches for 93 yards, tied for the third-most in a playoff game in team history. LaDainian Tomlinson equaled Parker with nine catches for 53 yards. He also led the team with 80 yards rushing on 26 carries, a team record for rushing attempts in the postseason.

1995 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
Indianapolis Colts 35, San Diego Chargers 20
Sunday, December 31, 1995 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Colts came to San Diego for a New Year's Eve showdown and knocked the defending AFC Champions out of the playoffs in the Wild Card round with a 35-20 win at Jack Murphy Stadium. The Chargers outgained Indianapolis in total yardage, 429 to 333, but the Colts chalked up 178 yards rushing, including 147 yards and two touchdowns by rookie running back Zack Crockett, on their way to the win.

The game was a seesaw battle that included six lead changes, however Indianapolis scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to seal the win. Chargers quarterback Stan Humphries finished the day with 292 yards passing and two touchdowns, but four interceptions proved costly in the defeat.

Super Bowl XXIX
San Francisco 49ers 49, San Diego Chargers 26
Sunday, January 29, 1995 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers were no match for the high-powered San Francisco offense as the 49ers scored early and often en route to handing San Diego a 49-26 defeat. San Francisco quarterback Steve Young passed for four first-half touchdowns, including two to Ricky Watters and one each to Jerry Rice and William Floyd as the 49ers jumped out to a 28-10 lead at halftime. The barrage continued in the second half as Young connected with Rice for two more scores and Watters added a nine-yard touchdown run. Young finished with 325 yards and six touchdown passes while completing 24 of 36 attempts, and Rice caught 10 passes for 149 yards and three touchdowns. Young also added 49 yards on five rushes and was named the game's MVP. The Chargers' offense was forced to play catch-up most of the game, and as a result, quarterback Stan Humphries passed 49 times, completing 24 for 275 yards, one touchdown and two interceptions. Running back Natrone Means became the youngest player in Super Bowl history to score a touchdown when the 22-year-old dived over the 49ers' defense for a one-yard scoring plunge in the first quarter. Chargers rookie Andre Coleman tied a Super Bowl record for the longest kickoff return when he went 98 yards for a touchdown in the third quarter. Following the kickoff return, Humphries passed to Mark Seay for the first two-point conversion in Super Bowl history. Following a 30-yard Humphries to Tony Martin touchdown pass late in the fourth quarter, Humphries completed his second two-point conversion of the game, this time to Alfred Pupunu. Linebackers Dennis Gibson and Junior Seau led the Chargers with 11 tackles a piece, and Seau added one sack. Defensive end Raylee Johnson paced the Chargers with two sacks.

1994 AFC Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 17, Pittsburgh Steelers 13
Sunday, January 15, 1995 - Three Rivers Stadium (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers advanced to the Super Bowl for the first time in franchise history with a stunning 17-13 upset victory over the heavily-favored Pittsburgh Steelers in Three Rivers Stadium. San Diego started the game slowly and Pittsburgh led the Bolts 10-3 at the end of the first half, while outgaining San Diego in total yardage, 229 to 46. The Steelers opened the scoring in the second half with a 23-yard Gary Anderson field goal to extend the lead to 13-3. Later in the quarter, Stan Humphries connected with Al Pupunu on a 43-yard touchdown strike to close the gap to 13-10. The score remained as such until late in the fourth quarter when Humphries threw another 43-yard touchdown pass, this one to Tony Martin, and the Bolts claimed their first lead of the game at 17-13. Pittsburgh took the ensuing kickoff and drove to the Chargers' nine-yard line with two minutes left in the game, but San Diego's defense stopped the Steelers on downs, including a dramatic pass defensed on fourth down by linebacker Dennis Gibson.

1994 AFC Divisonal Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 22, Miami Dolphins 21
Sunday, January 8, 1995 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers advanced to the AFC Championship Game with a 22-21 victory over the Miami Dolphins in front of a San Diego-record home crowd of 63,381 fans. The win moved the Chargers to the AFC title round for only the third time in team history and the first time since 1982. Dan Marino threw three first-half touchdown passes and the Dolphins led 21-6 at the half. San Diego's offense came alive and dominated the third quarter. The Chargers took the opening drive of the second half and marched 15 plays to the Dolphins' one-yard line before losing the ball on downs. But on Miami's first play from scrimmage, Reuben Davis stopped Bernie Parmalee in the end zone for a safety to make the score 21-8. San Diego took the ensuing kick and Natrone Means finished a 54-yard drive with a 24-yard scoring run, breaking several tackles along the way and the Dolphin lead was trimmed to 21-15. The teams traded possessions through the fourth quarter before Stan Humphries drove the team 61 yards in 10 plays and hit Mark Seay for the game-winning, eight-yard scoring pass. Trailing 22-21 with 35 seconds left in game, Marino moved the Dolphins to San Diego's 30-yard line and positioned Pete Stoyanovich for a 48-yard field goal attempt, which sailed wide right. San Diego dominated the game's time of possession, controlling the ball 39:20 compared to Miami's 20:40. The main factor was San Diego's running game, which rolled up 202 of the team's 466 total yards. Means rushed for a personal best 139 yards on 24 carries and scored one touchdown. Humphries completed 20 of 26 attempts in the second half.

1992 AFC Divisonal Playoffs
Miami Dolphins 31, San Diego Chargers 0
Sunday, January 10, 1993 - Joe Robbie Stadium (Miami, FL)

The Chargers history-making season ended with a 31-0 loss to the Miami Dolphins in Joe Robbie Stadium. Intermittent downpours and a soggy field slowed both teams early as each squad was forced to punt on their first four series. The second quarter proved disastrous for San Diego. Stan Humphries was intercepted three times with each leading to a Dolphins touchdown and a 21-0 halftime lead for Miami. San Diego also suffered a fumbled snap on a punt attempt in the period. The Chargers could not get on track in the second half either, as Miami chalked up 10 more points and forced two more San Diego turnovers. The Chargers' defense was on the field most of the game (37:08). Junior Seau recorded a personal-best 19 tackles in the game. The Dolphins special teams put the Chargers in poor field position on several occasions, including punts, which pinned San Diego's offense back on its own five-, six-, four- and 15-yard lines.

1992 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 17, Kansas City Chiefs 0
Saturday, January 2, 1993 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

San Diego defeated the Kansas City Chiefs, 17-0, in the AFC Wild Card playoffs in San Diego's Jack Murphy Stadium. It marked the first shutout in the history of Wild Card games. It was also the first shutout by the Chargers over Kansas City and the first time the Chiefs were shut out in a non-strike game since 1985. The two defensive powerhouses battled to a scoreless half. The Chargers gained 130 total yards to the Chiefs' 122 yards in the half, but were sacked four times for 47 yards in losses. San Diego scored first when Marion Butts dashed up the middle a career-long 54 yards for a touchdown. On the Chiefs first play of their next possession, a tipped pass by Blaise Winter was intercepted by Leslie O'Neal to set up a 34-yard John Carney field goal. Up 10-0 in the fourth quarter, the Chargers put together an 11-play, 91-yard drive and culminated the series with a five-yard scoring plunge by Steve Hendrickson. The Chargers gained 192 yards on the ground, the second-most productive effort of the 1992 season. The defense harassed the Chiefs passing game causing two interceptions and sacking Dave Krieg seven times to tie a season high. Burt Grossman had two-and-a-half sacks and O'Neal and Shawn Lee each had two.

1982 AFC Divisional Playoffs
Miami Dolphins 34, San Diego Chargers 13
Sunday, January 16, 1983 - Orange Bowl (Miami, FL)

San Diego and Miami met for the second-straight year in the playoffs with the Dolphins turning the outcome around, winning 34-13. The game matched San Diego, with the league's top offense averaging 450.4 yards a game, versus Miami and the NFL's top defense, allowing 256.9 yards a game. Miami took a 24-0 lead in the second quarter as San Diego did the year before in the first quarter. San Diego tightened the score on a 28-yard touchdown pass from Dan Fouts to Charlie Joiner and a one-yard touchdown run by Chuck Muncie, but it wasn't enough as the Dolphins marched on to victory.

1982 AFC Wild Card Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 31, Pittsburgh Steelers 28
Sunday, January 9, 1983 - Three Rivers Stadium (Pittsburgh, PA)

The Chargers, the fifth-seeded AFC team in the Super Bowl Tournament, played the opening round of the playoffs on the road for the first time, facing the AFC's fourth-seeded team, Pittsburgh. Trailing 14-3 with 4:54 remaining in the first quarter, the Chargers took a 17-14 lead into the locker room at halftime on the strength of an 18-yard James Brooks touchdown run and a 10-yard scoring pass from Dan Fouts to Eric Sievers. With 14:10 remaining in the game, Fouts threw an eight-yard touchdown strike on fourth down to Kellen Winslow to move San Diego within four points at 28-24. With 3:59 left to play, San Diego mounted its winning drive, an eight-play, 64-yard march that climaxed when Fouts hit Winslow on a screen pass that Winslow carried 12 yards to victory. The workhorse of the Chargers' offense was Chuck Muncie, who gained 126 yards on 25 attempts. It was Muncie's third-straight 100 yard performance and second-straight against the league's number one rated run defense. Fouts threw for 333 yards against the Steelers, his fifth career 300-yard effort in the playoffs.

1981 AFC Championship Game
Cincinnati Bengals 27, San Diego Chargers 7
Sunday, January 10, 1982 - Riverfront Stadium (Cincinnati, OH)

The Chargers lost to Cincinnati in the AFC Championship game on the coldest day in NFL history. Temperature in Cincinnati dipped to nine-degrees-below-zero with the wind chill factor measuring 59-below zero. Cincinnati won the coin toss and elected to kick off, forcing San Diego to go into the wind in the first quarter. The Bengals moved ahead 10-0 before the teams switched directions in the second period and the Chargers scored on their first possession on a 33-yard screen pass from Dan Fouts to Kellen Winslow, and Cincinnati led 17-7 at half-time. The Chargers were the statistical leaders in the first half, but three turnovers within the Bengals' 33-yard line proved the difference. San Diego turned the ball over to start the third quarter leading to another Cincinnati score, and a three-yard touchdown pass from Ken Anderson to Don Bass culminated an 8:08 drive in the final period to clinch the Bengals victory. Wes Chandler led all receivers with six catches for 79 yards and Chuck Muncie led all rushers with 23 carries and 94 yards.

1981 AFC Divisional Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 41, Miami Dolphins 38 (OT)
Saturday, January 2, 1982 - Orange Bowl (Miami, FL)

The Chargers traveled to Miami's Orange Bowl to face AFC East Division champion Miami and won an epic struggle, 41-38, on a 29-yard Rolf Benirscke field goal at the 13:52 mark of the first overtime period. San Diego jumped out to an early 24-0 lead, only to have the Dolphins close the gap under the direction of substitute quarterback Don Strock. The score was 24-17 at halftime and in the second half the Dolphins knotted the score at 24 and again at 31 before assuming their first lead, 38-31, on a 12-yard run by Tony Nathan. The Chargers took a Dolphin turnover and converted it into a 10-play, 82-yard drive, climaxed by a nine-yard pass from Dan Fouts to James Brooks with 58 seconds remaining in regulation. A Dolphin 43-yard field goal try with four seconds remaining was blocked by Kellen Winslow, forcing the game into the overtime period. In overtime, both teams had the opportunity to clinch victory on field-goal attempts. Benirschke missed a 27-yard attempt and Uwe Von Schamann had his attempt blocked by Leroy Jones. The Chargers' game-winning drive was highlighted by receptions of 20 and 29 yards by Wes Chandler and Charlie Joiner, respectively. Dan Fouts' passing performance resulted in records for completions, attempts, and yards in a division playoff, and Winslow's 13 receptions broke the division playoff record of 10 receptions, set by Pittsburgh's John Stallworth in 1978. Chandler had a 56-yard punt return for a touchdown for the Chargers, the first punt return for a touchdown in an AFC divisional playoff game. The Chargers broke 15 divisional playoff team records and tied two others.

1980 AFC Championship Game
Oakland Raiders 34, San Diego Chargers 27
Sunday, January 11, 1981 - Jack Murphy Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Oakland took a 28-7 lead in the first half and then held off a late San Diego bid to beat the Chargers for the American Football Conference championship. On the third play from scrimmage, Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett had a pass bounce off the hands of his intended receiver, Kenny King, and into the grasp of Raymond Chester, who took the pass in for a 65-yard score. San Diego's initial drive was halted when John Jefferson slipped on the wet turf and Dan Fouts' pass zipped into the hands of defender Lester Hayes. The Chargers tied the score minutes later on a 48-yard pass from Fouts to Charlie Joiner. Oakland retaliated with a 76-yard scoring drive, aided by a Plunkett pass to Cliff Branch for 48 yards and a pass interference penalty. By the end of the first quarter, Oakland led 21-7, and the two quarterbacks had combined for 314 yards passing. Oakland later scored on a three-yard run by Mark Van Eeghen, making the score 28-7. San Diego scored near the end of the first half on an eight-yard pass from Fouts to Joiner. Rolf Benirschke kicked a 26-yard field goal and Chuck Muncie scored from six yards to narrow Oakland's lead to 28-24 in the third quarter. Oakland then marched 68 and 37 yards to set up two Chris Bahr field goals while running 10:38 off the clock. Trailing 34-24, Fouts took the Chargers 72 yards in 12 plays, getting a field goal from Benirschke that left them one touchdown behind with 6:52 to play, but Oakland controlled the ball for the final 6:52 and held on for the victory.

1980 AFC Divisonal Playoffs
San Diego Chargers 20, Buffalo Bills 14
Saturday, January 3, 1981 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Quarterback Dan Fouts connected with Ron Smith on a 50-yard touchdown pass with 2:08 remaining in the fourth quarter. Fouts completed the pass on a third-down-and-10 situation with the Chargers trailing 14-13. The Chargers advanced to the American Football Conference championship against Oakland. Fouts completed 22 of 37 passes for 314 yards and two touchdowns. This was the 20th time in Fouts' career he passed for more than 300 yards in a game. The Chargers' defense held Buffalo to 97 yards rushing. The 50-yard, game-winning touchdown pass was the longest reception of Smith's career. He had caught four passes for 48 yards during the 1980 regular season. The Chargers trailed at halftime, 14-13. Momentum changed after halftime with the Chargers going 70 yards in four plays for a touchdown on the first series. Chuck Muncie ran for 18 yards, then Charlie Joiner caught a 45-yard pass, the next play resulted in a two-yard loss and then Joiner capped off the drive with a nine-yard scoring reception, making the score 14-10. A 22-yard field goal by Rolf Benirschke narrowed the gap to 14-13 in the fourth period. The Chargers started their final drive at the Buffalo 31-yard line with 3:59 to play. Two passes, two yards to Mike Thomas and 17 yards to John Jefferson got the ball to the 50-yard line.

1979 AFC Divisonal Playoffs
Houston Oilers 17, San Diego Chargers 14
Saturday, December 29, 1979 - San Diego Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The Chargers 1979 season, featuring one of the best teams in franchise history, ended in disappointment as the Bolts fell to the Houston Oilers, 17-14, in a Divisonal Playoff game at San Diego Stadium. The Chargers were rolling early and took a 7-0 lead on Clarence Williams' one-yard touchdown on the Bolts first offensive possession of the game. Houston scored 10 unanswered points in the second quarter and led at the half, 10-7. On the opening drive of the third quarter, San Diego reclaimed the lead when Lydell Mitchell capped off a six-play, 65-yard drive with an eight-yard touchdown for a 14-10 lead. Houston came back later in the quarter as Mike Renfro caught a 47-yard touchdown pass from Gifford Nielsen and the Oilers jumped out to a 17-14 lead. The Chargers tried to fight back in the fourth quarter, but two Dan Fouts interceptions proved costly and Houston upset the Chargers and eliminated them from the playoffs.

1965 AFL Championship Game
Buffalo Bills 23, San Diego Chargers 0
Sunday, December 26, 1965 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

It was the same two teams that met in the 1964 Championship game with the scene shifting from the East to the West Coast. But there obviously was no hometown advantage for the San Diego Chargers. Coach Lou Saban's Buffalo Bills found the 59-degree weather much to their liking in San Diego's Balboa Stadium, rolling to a 23-0 victory before 30,361 downhearted fans. San Diego's offensive unit was unable to generate any type of serious attack after the first quarter and the Jack Kemp-led Bills broke loose in the second period. Kemp teamed with end Ernie Warlick for the initial score, an 18-yard pass play capping a 60-yard drive. Just 2:20 later, the Bills struck again on a 74-yard punt return by Butch Byrd and at halftime, Buffalo was ahead 14-0. In the second half, the Chargers were able to contain Buffalo's ground game and Kemp's passing, but couldn't stop the talented toe of placekicker Pete Gogolak. His soccer-style kicks connected twice in the third quarter from 11 and 39 yards and once more in the final period from 32 yards.

1964 AFL Championship Game
Sunday, December 26, 1964 - War Memorial Stadium (Buffalo, NY)

Lou Saban sent his Buffalo Bills out for a post-Christmas gift after three lean years and one near miss in the American Football League. The Bills found what they were looking for and wrapped up the defending champion San Diego Chargers, 20-7, for the AFL Championship before 40,242 howling hometown fans. The Chargers started out as if they meant to repeat their 51-10 conquest of the Boston Patriots in the 1963 title game. They boomed from their own 20 in four plays with the payoff a 26-yard strike from retiring quarterback Tobin Rote to tight end Dave Kocourek. Keith Lincoln's PAT at 2:16 of the first period was the last time San Diego got on the scoreboard. Disaster soon struck the visitors when Lincoln was forced out of action with a broken rib on "the tackle heard around the world" by Buffalo linebacker Mike Stratton. Coupled with the absence of Lance Alworth, the injury to Lincoln left the Chargers offense impotent. Buffalo forged to a 13-7 halftime lead on field goals from 12 and 17 yards by rookie ace Pete Gogolak and a four-yard touchdown run by halfback Wray Carlton. The Bills tallied again in the final quarter on a sneak by quarterback Jack Kemp.

1963 AFL Championship Game
San Diego Chargers 51, Boston Patriots 10
Sunday, January 5, 1964 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

Before 30,127 in Balboa Stadium and 30 million more on national television, Keith Lincoln ran, caught and passed like no other athlete ever has in a professional title match as the Californians crumbled the Boston Patriots, 51-10. The Chargers' offense produced 610 yards. Lincoln accounted for 349 of them in virtuoso performance that included a touchdown sprint of 67 yards, a touchdown reception of 25 yards, 206 yards gained rushing, 123 gained pass receiving and 20 gained passing. Lincoln's heroics were mightily abated by the others on a San Diego team that played with brilliance any professional team must respect, including the Bears. It was a powerhouse show by a team that had failed in two previous tries to win the AFL title. Houston outscored the Chargers, 24-16, in 1960 and beat 'em 10-3 in 1961. But the Patriots, with the league's proudest defensive outfit, were no match for the San Diegans. Splendidly prepared by Sid Gilman to combat Boston's almost constantly rushing linebackers, the Chargers scored on their fourth scrimmage play, on their sixth and on their 10th. The Patriots' ground attack suffered after fullback Larry Garron incurred a head injury midway through the second period. Garron later returned to the game but remained in it only briefly. The Patriots scored on a seven-yard run by Garron and a 15-yard field goal by Gino Cappelletti.

1961 AFL Championship Game
Houston Oilers 10, San Diego Chargers 3
Sunday, December 24, 1961 - Balboa Stadium (San Diego, CA)

The 1961 American Football League Championship game in San Diego's Balboa Stadium was a carbon copy of the previous season's title game in that the Houston Oilers beat the San Diego Chargers 10-3. On Jan. 1, 1961, the Oilers edged the Chargers, 24-16, in Houston's Jeppesen Stadium. A live audience of 29,556 fans and a nationwide television audience estimated in the vicinity of 40 million viewers withnessed a monument to defensive football at its best. The crowd at the stadium was limited because the game was played on Christmas Eve and the game was telecast into the Los Angeles area and many San Diegans received LA's ABC affiliate, Channel 7. The Oilers scored on a 46-yard field goal by George Blanda midway through the second quarter and added the clincher, a 35-yard touchdown pass by Blanda to Billy Cannon, late in the third quarter. The Chargers only scoring came on a 12-yard field goal early in the final period. Indication of the eveness of the ballgame is that both clubs had a total net offense of 256 yards.

Houston Oilers 24, Los Angeles Chargers 16
Sunday, January 1, 1961 - Jeppesen Stadium (Houston, TX)

The American Football League's first championship game took place Jan. 1, 1961 between the Eastern Divison champion Houston Oilers and the Western Division champion Los Angeles Chargers in Jeppesen Stadium, home of the Eastern titlists. The outcome: Houston 24, Los Angeles 16. In 50 degree weather with 70 percent humidity due to week-long rains, the Chargers took on the Oilers before a live crowd of 32,183 and a television audience of approximately 45 million viewers. Ben Agajanian kicked field goals of 38 and 22 yards to give the Chargers a 6-0 first quarter lead. In the second quarter, Houston's George Blanda hit Dave Smith on a 17-yard touchdown pass, added the conversion and kicked an 18-yard field goal. Agajanian kicked a 27-yard field goal with five seconds left in the half to make the score Houston 10, Los Angeles 9 at the half. In the third quarter, Blanda completed a seven-yard touchdown pass to Bill Groman and kicked the conversion. The Chargers responded when Paul Lowe slanted over from the two-yard line and with Agajanian's conversion the score was Houston 17, Los Angeles 16, at the end of three quarters. In the fourth quarter, Blanda and Billy Cannon teamed up on an 88-yard pass-run touchdown play to conclude the scoring. Player of the game honors went to Cannon, with Blanda and Lowe deadlocked a vote behind. On the day, Cannon gained 50 yards on 18 tries, caught three passes for 128 yards and returned three kickoffs for 81 yards. Blanda completed 16 of 31 passes for 301 yards. Lowe netted 165 yards on 21 carries, caught three passes for five yards and returned four kickoffs for 101 yards. Lowe's total yardage on the day was 271 yards compared to Cannon's 259. The inability of the Chargers to take the ball in for touchdowns early in the game, settling for three first-half field goals on each occasion, and several bad breaks late in the game proved to be the difference.

Aug. 14–First meeting of proposed football league is held in Chicago with representatives of six teams, including Los Angeles entry headed by Barron Hilton.

Aug. 22–Second meeting of proposed football league is held in Dallas with announcement that league will be known as "American Football League."

Oct. 14–Frank Leahy, former Notre Dame football coach, is named general manager of Los Angeles team.

Oct. 28–Gerald Courtney of Hollywood wins expenses-paid trip to Mexico City and Acapulco for submitting "Chargers" in name-the-team contest. The organization liked the name, Chargers, because "Charge" is what fans yelled at USC games in the Coliseum.

1960

Jan. 7–Sid Gillman signs three-year contract to become head coach of Chargers.

March 20–Owner Barron Hilton unveils Chargers uniforms, blue and gold with lightning bolts on sides of helmets and trousers, at a cocktail party at Hilton's Santa Monica residence. Jack Kemp and Ron Mix model the uniforms. Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated a "Charge" of lightning with a lightning bolt. He also liked the bolts that were on the helmets of the Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so he had the "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed them on the uniforms.

April 9-12–A total of 207 candidates is reduced to three who are invited back to summer training camp after four-day tryout camp in Burbank.

June 9–AFL teams sign five-year contract with American Broadcasting Company for televising selected games.

July 1–General manager Frank Leahy resigns because of poor health.

July 8–Chargers open training camp at Chapman College, Orange, 30 miles Southeast of Los Angeles.

July 9–Sid Gillman assumes dual role of coach and general manager.

Sept. 10–The Chargers overcome 20-7 deficit in fourth quarter to defeat Dallas 21-20 before 17,724 persons in Coliseum in opening league game.

Dec. 10–A crowd of 9,928 at Coliseum watches Chargers top Denver 41-33 to clinch AFL Western Division title.

Dec. 23–Hilton says he will accept invitation to visit San Diego for possible move of Chargers from Los Angeles.

1961

Jan. 1–A crowd of 32,183 in Jeppesen Stadium and a national television audience sees host Houston defeat Chargers 24-16 for AFL Championship.

Jan. 6–Civic leaders form Greater San Diego Sports Association to attract major-league sports following Hilton's visit to San Diego.

Feb. 10–AFL gives Hilton formal approval to move Chargers to San Diego.

May 1–Workers begin enlarging the Chargers future home, Balboa Stadium, which will add an upper deck and increase capacity from 23,000 to 34,000.

July 22–The Chargers open training camp at University of San Diego.

Aug. 6–Balboa Stadium is reminiscent of ancient Roman ruins as Chargers defeat Houston 27-14, on a 93-degree afternoon before paid crowd of 12,304 in first preseason game.

Nov. 19–Chargers defeat Dallas 24-14 to clinch AFL West title with five games remaining; Charlie McNeil makes club's 43rd pass interception, a professional record.

Dec.17–The Chargers lose to Boston 41-0 in Balboa Stadium, but Dick Harris intercepts Babe Parilli's pass to Gino Cappelletti, the Chargers 49th interception of the season, setting a new NFL record.

Dec. 24–Houston defeats Chargers 10-3 before 29,556 in Balboa Stadium to win second AFL championship.

Jan. 7–West defeats East 47-27 in Balboa Stadium in first AFL All-Star game, featuring 11 Chargers players and the team's coaches.

Nov. 26–Tomlinson scores his 20th and 21st rushing TDs of the season to set a new team record.

Dec. 10–Tomlinson scores three touchdowns against Denver to set a new NFL record for single-season touchdowns (29). The Chargers win the game, 48-20, to claim their second AFC West title in the last three seasons.

Dec. 17–Tomlinson scores the 99th and 100th rushing touchdowns of his career becoming the fastest player in NFL history to reach 100. On his first touchdown of the game, Tomlinson break's Paul Hornung's NFL record for points in a season, which was set in 1960. He scores his second touchdown of the game on a career-long 85-yard run to set new NFL single-season record for rushing touchdowns (28). The 85-yard run is the third-longest in team history and the longest since 1962. Tomlinson sets a new NFL record with eight consecutive multi-touchdown games.

Dec. 24–The Chargers set a new team record when they win their 13th game of the season. The Bolts defeat the Seattle Seahawks, 20-17, at Qwest Field on a 37-yard touchdown pass from Philip Rivers to Vincent Jackson with 29 seconds left to play. The Bolts would go on to close out the season with a win over Arizona for their 14th win of the year.

Dec. 31–The Chargers defeat the Arizona Cardinals, 27-20, clinching home-field advantage in the playoffs as the number-one seed for only the third time in team history (1979 & '80). Marty Schottenheimer wins the 200th regular-season game of his career. Tomlinson finishes the season with 1,815 yards to claim his first NFL rushing title. Shawne Merriman records his 17th sack of the season to claim the league's sack title. The Bolts finish the season with 492 points, most in the NFL and a new team record.

Jan. 4–LaDainian Tomlinson is named the NFL's Most Valuable Player and the Offensive Player of the Year by the Associated Press. He is the first player in team history to be named MVP by the AP. Tomlinson scored an NFL-record 31 touchdowns in 2006.

Jan. 14–A team-record 68,810 fans fill Qualcomm Stadium for an AFC Divisional Playoff game against the New England Patriots. The Patriots win the game, 24-21.

Feb. 2–Tomlinson and former Chargers quarterback Drew Brees are named co-recipients of the 2006 Walter Payton NFL Man of the Year Award. It is the only league award that recognizes both off the field community service as well as playing excellence. Tomlinson is the fourth Charger to be named Man of the Year.

Feb. 10–A new team-record 10 Chargers appear in the 2007 Pro Bowl. Quarterback Philip Rivers is also selected to play but does not participate due to a foot injury.

Feb. 12–Marty Schottenheimer is relieved of his duties as head coach of the Chargers.

Feb. 19–Norv Turner is hired as the 14th head coach in team history. He immediately hires Ted Cottrell as the team's defensive coordinator.

March 14–The Chargers unveil new uniforms for 2007 and beyond at a private fashion show at the U.S. Grant Hotel in San Diego. The new uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder Blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. The most noticeable change is a metallic-white helmet that features a Gold bolt which is outlined in both powder blue and Navy.

Sept 9–Wearing their new uniforms, the Chargers win their season opener, defeating the defending NFC Champion Chicago Bears, 14-3, before 67,837 at Qualcomm Stadium, the largest crowd ever to watch a home opener in San Diego.

Oct. 7–The Chargers snap a three-game losing streak with a convincing 41-3 win at Denver's Invesco Field. It was the Broncos' worst home loss in 41 years, as well as the Chargers' biggest win over the Broncos in Denver.

Oct. 14–LaDainian Tomlinson ties a team record with four touchdowns as the Bolts shut down the Oakland Raiders, 28-14.

Oct. 23–As wildfires rage throughout San Diego County and the air in San Diego is filled with smoke, the Chargers fly to Phoenix and spend the next three days practicing at the Arizona Cardinals' Training Facility in Tempe, AZ.

Oct. 27–Alex and Dean Spanos pledge $1 million to aid victims of the wildfires and support the community's firefighting efforts. It's the largest personal financial commitment to the relief effort. The Spanoses made a similar donation following the fires of 2003.

Oct. 28–Just days after Qualcomm Stadium is cleared as an evacuation site for residents evacuated during the wildfires and with a smoky haze still enveloping the city, the Chargers return home to host the Houston Texans and win the game, 35-10. Antonio Cromartie and Antonio Gates both score two touchdowns for the Bolts.

Nov. 4–Cromartie sets an NFL record for the longest touchdown in NFL history, returning a missed field goal 109 yards for a touchdown on the final play of the first half at Minnesota.

Nov. 11–The Chargers defeat the defending Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts, 23-21, on a cool and rainy night in San Diego in front of a national television audience on NBC's Sunday Night Football. Darren Sproles electrifies the home crowd by returning a kickoff and a punt for touchdowns and Cromartie intercepts reigning Super Bowl MVP Peyton Manning three times in the first half, including a highlight-reel-worthy leaping one-handed interception. Manning throws a career-high six interceptions on the night.

Dec. 9–The Chargers overcome a 14-point fourth-quarter deficit and defeat the Tennessee Titans on the road in overtime, 23-17. The Chargers score the game-tying touchdown with nine seconds left in the fourth quarter and win it on a 16-yard run by LaDainian Tomlinson in overtime.

Dec. 16–The Chargers rout the Detroit Lions, 51-14, to capture their second-straight AFC West title and their third in the last four years. Norv Turner becomes only the second Chargers coach to win the AFC West in his first season at the helm. Following the game, he presents President-CEO Dean Spanos with a Game Ball in the locker room.

Jan. 1–Chargers President-CEO awards General Manager A.J. Smith with a five-year contract extension thru 2014.

Jan. 6–The Chargers overcome a 6-0 halftime deficit and score 17 unanswered points to beat the Tennessee Titans in an AFC Wild Card Playoff game at Qualcomm Stadium. LaDainian Tomlinson scores two touchdowns, including a leaping score from one-yard out to put away the game midway through the fourth quarter. It's the Chargers' first playoff victory since 1995.

Jan. 13–The Chargers shock the football world by knocking the defending Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts out of the playoffs in a Divisional Playoff game, 28-24, in what will be the last-ever game played at the RCA Dome. With Philip Rivers and LaDainian Tomlinson both sidelined with injuries, Darren Sproles and Billy Volek score key late touchdowns, including Volek's game-winner with 4:50 left in the fourth quarter. San Diego's defense makes two late-game stands, including one inside the Bolts' 10-yard line with just over two minutes remaining in the contest.

Jan. 20–The Chargers magical playoff run comes to an end as the Bolts fall to the New England Patriots, 21-12, on a frigid day at Gillette Stadium. Philip Rivers turns in a heroic performance, playing with a torn ACL in his right knee, but the Chargers can only muster four field goals against the Patriots and fall in the conference title game.

HISTORY OF THE CHARGERS UNIFORM

The helmet was white with a gray facemask. It had a dark blue bolt and black numbers that were outlined in gold. The Chargers home jersey was Collegiate blue. It had white numbers on the front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. There was also a white strip on each shoulder that had a dark blue bolt outlined in gold. The Chargers road jersey was white. It had Collegiate blue numbers on the front, back and sleeves outlined in gold. There were white lightning bolts on the sleeves outlined in gold. There was also a Collegiate blue strip on each shoulder that had a white bolt outlined in gold. The pants were white and had a dark blue lightning bolt outlined in gold running down each leg. Owner Barron Hilton chose lightning bolts because he associated a "Charge" of lightning with a lightning bolt. He also liked the bolts that were on the helmets of the Air Force Academy football team, but wanted something slightly different, so he had the "Chargers Bolt" designed to be different and placed them on the uniforms.

The bolt on the helmet, shoulders and pants is changed to gold. On the home jersey, helmet and pants, the bolt is outlined in blue and on the road jersey, it is outlined in white.

1966

The bolt on the helmet is changed to dark blue. The pants are changed to gold and they have a solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in blue. The stripe replaces the lightning bolt.

1967

The gold bolt is placed back on the helmet with a blue outline. The home jersey is a darker shade of blue and has white numbers on the front, back and sleeves. There was also a white strip on each shoulder that had a gold lightning bolt. The road jersey had the darker blue numbers also on the front, back and sleeves. There was a blue strip on each shoulder with a gold lightning bolt. The lightning bolt is placed back on the pants. It's dark blue in color and outlined in white.

1968-71

The home jersey is changed to Powder blue with white numbers on the front, back and sleeves. There was a white strip on each shoulder that had a gold lightning bolt outlined in blue. The road jersey is still white with Powder blue numbers on the front back and sleeves. There is a Powder blue strip on each shoulder that had a gold lightning bolt outlined in white.

1972

The lightning bolt on the pants is again replaced by a solid white stripe running down each leg, outlined in Powder blue.

1973-78

The numbers on the home uniform are changed to gold and outlined in white. The numbers on the road uniform remain Powder blue and are outlined in gold.

1979-83

The helmet is changed to Navy blue with a gold facemask. It has a gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. The primary jersey is white with Royal blue numbers outlined in white and gold. The secondary jersey is Royal blue. It features gold numbers on the front, back and sleeves outlined in blue and white. The lightning bolt is brought back to the pants. It is white with a Royal blue outline.

1984

The white lightning bolt on the pants is placed inside a blue strip. A patch is worn on the front of the jersey celebrating the Silver Anniversary of the Chargers being an original American Football League franchise.

1985

The home jersey is changed to Navy blue. It has gold numbers on the front, back and sleeves outlined in Navy blue and white. There was a white strip on each shoulder that had a gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue. The road jersey is white. It has Navy blue numbers on the front, back and sleeves outlined in white and gold. There was a Navy blue strip on each shoulder that had a gold lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and white. The strip on the pants is changed to Navy blue. The lightning bolt on the pants is gold with a Navy blue and white outline.

The number on the front, back and sleeves of the home jersey is changed to white with a Navy blue and gold outline.

1988-89
The lightning bolt on the helmet is changed from gold to white. It features a Navy blue and gold outline. The facemask on the helmet is changed from gold to Navy blue. The white strip on the Navy blue home jersey is removed, leaving a white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold. The lightning bolt on the shoulders of the road jersey is changed to white with a Navy blue and gold outline. It remains on a Navy blue strip. The lightning bolt on the pants is removed and replaced with a Navy blue strip outlined in white and gold.

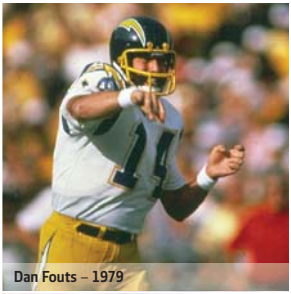

1990-91 The road pants are changed to Navy blue. They have a white stripe down each pant leg outlined in Navy blue and gold.

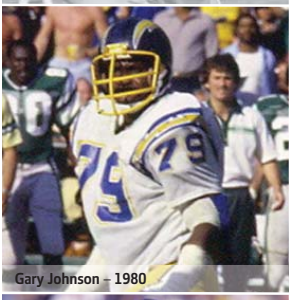

1992-06 The white lightning bolt is returned to the pants. On the home white pants, it is outlined in Navy blue and gold and is in a blue strip down each pant leg. On the road Navy blue pants, there is just a white lightning bolt outlined in Navy blue and gold down each pant leg. There is no strip on the road pants.

The Chargers' new uniforms feature Navy blue jerseys and white pants for most home games, white jerseys and Navy pants for road games, and Powder blue jerseys with white pants for designated home games. On all the jerseys, the bolt has been moved down the sleeve, below the shoulder. The bolt is Gold and outlined in both powder blue and Navy. On the Navy and Powder blue jerseys, the bolt is in a white strip and on the white jerseys, the bolt is in a Navy blue strip. The numbers are now on the shoulder above the bolt. The front of all the jerseys have Chargers scripted across the front above the numbers and below the NFL shield. The team name, the numbers and the player's names all feature a new font. The home white pants feature a strip down the side of each pant leg with a curved bolt in a Navy strip to be worn with the Navy jerseys and a Powder blue strip to be worn with the Powder blue jerseys. The Navy pants feature the same bolt inside of a white strip down each pant leg. The helmet is changed to metallic-white that features a Gold bolt which is outlined in both Powder blue and Navy.

In 2005, the Chargers signed a five-year partnership with Clear Channel Communications (thru 2009) and Rock 105.3 FM became the new flagship station for all San Diego Chargers games, including preseason, regular season and postseason. The partnership includes an enhanced programming and promotional relationship with all seven Clear Channel stations in San Diego.

Josh Lewin calls the play-by-play, former Chargers player and coach Hank Bauer handles the color commentary and former Chargers linebacker Jim Laslavic reports from the sidelines during home games.

Fans outside of San Diego can tune into the Chargers Radio Network, which includes AM570 KLAC in Los Angeles, KTMQ 103.3 FM in San Bernardino, Temecula and Riverside; KNWQ 1140 AM in Palm Springs; KNWZ 970 AM in the Coachella Valley; KXO 1230 AM in the Imperial Valley and Yuma, Arizona; KSPA 1510 AM in Ontario, Rancho Cucamonga and the Inland Empire; KWDJ 1360 AM in Ridgecrest; KGEO 1230 AM in Bakersfield; KNWH 1250 AM in the Yucca Valley; KOSS 1380 AM in Palmdale and Lancaster, ESPN Radio 1100 AM in Las Vegas, Nevada; and Sirius Satellite Radio.

JOSH LEWIN

Josh Lewin became the radio play-by-play voice of the Chargers in July 2005. He has been the television play-by-play announcer for the MLB Texas Rangers since 2002. Since 1996, Josh has broadcast baseball, divisional playoffs, championship series, NFL and NHL games for FOX Sports. From 1998-01, Josh called Detroit Tigers games on Fox Sports Net Detroit and Chicago Cubs games on WGN-TV in 1997. He broadcast Baltimore Orioles games on radio from 1995-96. Josh's NFL experience also includes play-by-play on the SportsUSA Radio Network. He has broadcast Conference USA Football, CCHA Hockey, college basketball at Michigan State and SMU, and the Big 12 Basketball Tournament. Josh began his broadcasting career at the age of 16 with the Rochester Red Wings, the Baltimore Orioles Triple-A team in the International League. In 1994, he was the sports director at the Orioles' flagship station, WBAL. Josh graduated from Northwestern in 1990 and has written two books, "Getting in the Game" and "You Never Forget Your First." Josh and his wife, Dana, have a daughter, Kelsey, and a son, Coby.

HANK BAUER

Former Chargers running back, special teams captain and coach, Hank Bauer handles color commentary on the team's radio broadcasts. He signed a new five-year contract in July 2005. Bauer has been with the Chargers for more than 400 games as a player, coach and broadcaster. A member of the Chargers 40th Anniversary All-Time Team, Bauer played seven seasons for the Chargers. He was a team captain who was voted Most Inspirational Player in 1978 and Special Teams Player of the Year in 1980 and 1981. Bauer scored 21 touchdowns during his career and set an NFL record with 52 special teams tackles in 1981, before a broken neck forced him off the field in 1983. Following his retirement, Bauer spent four seasons (1983-86) as the Chargers special teams coach. In 1987, he accepted a job as a sports anchor at News 8 in San Diego and remained there until March 2003. Bauer graduated cum laude from California Lutheran University in 1976 with a degree in physical education. In September 2003, Bauer was inducted into Cal Lutheran's first Hall of Fame class.

Former Chargers linebacker Jim Laslavic is in his third season as the sideline reporter for all home games. This is Jim's second-stint on the Chargers radio broadcast team. From 1989-97, he served as a color analyst while anchoring the pregame and halftime shows. "Laz" is a native of Etna, Pennsylvania and a graduate of Penn State University where he played for legendary coach Joe Paterno. After graduating from Penn State, the Detroit Lions selected him in the third round of the 1973 NFL Draft with the 71st overall selection. In 1978, he was traded to the Chargers for a fifth and sixth-round draft pick and he spent the 1978-81 seasons in San Diego. Laz spent his 10th and final NFL season with the Green Bay Packers in 1982. From 1983-89, he was the weekend sports anchor and a reporter at KFMB-TV (CBS) in San Diego. In 1989, he became the sports director at San Diego's NBC affiliate, KNSD-TV.

JIM LASLAVIC

Over the past 17 years, Laz has covered Super Bowls, the World Series and the Olympic Games. He resides in Coronado with his wife, Susan, and their two children, Hayley and James.

CHARGERS EN ESPAÑOL

In March 2007, the Chargers signed a new three-year partnership with the Uniradio Group for Spanish Radio broadcast rights. XHFG 107.3 FM is the flagship station for all Chargers games in Spanish. The Chargers' Spanish Radio broadcast is simulcast in Los Angeles on KWKW 1330 AM. In 2008, the Spanish Radio team added a new member when Adrian Garcia Marquez was hired to team up with Jorge Villanueva.

JORGE VILLANUEVA

Jorge Villanueva is in his 16th season as the Spanish voice of the Chargers. He is also a sports anchor on KBNT-TV (Channel 17) Univision in San Diego. Villanueva has 24 years of experience in sports journalism. His play-by-play experience includes soccer, baseball and boxing. Villanueva handles the Spanish play-by-play for the Holiday Bowl and the NCAA's Bowl Championship Series. He spent the 2001-03 seasons as the football play-by-play voice for the USC Trojans and the 1994-96 seasons with the San Diego State Aztecs. In 2004, Villanueva received an invitation to join the American Sportscasters Association.

ADRIAN GARCIA

Since 2005, Garcia has been the play-by-play voice and the pre and post-game host for FOX en Espanol's coverage of Major League Baseball's regular season and the World Series. His football play-by-play experience includes three seasons (2000-02) of broadcasting Sunday Night and Monday Night Football on ESPN Deportes and ESPN International and four seasons (2003-06) as the Spanish Radio voice of USC Trojan football. Garcia also hosted ESPN's NFL Primetime en Espanol and NFL Films en Espanol. Garcia has worked as a reporter for ESPN, Fox Sports Net and ESPN Radio, and has been a sports anchor for Telemundo, Univision and Telefutura. His play-by-play experience includes covering the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece, and baseball for the Los Angeles Angels of Anaheim (2005-06) the Boston Red Sox (2001) and the Oakland A's (2000).

QUALCOMM STADIUM

Qualcomm Stadium, the stadium that the Chargers have called home since 1967, underwent an expansion in 1997 that included the addition of 11,500 seats, a club level, 37 new suites and a new west-end Jumbotron screen.

The centerpiece of the renovated stadium is the Chargers Club level. Chargers season ticket holders who purchase seats on the former loge level of the stadium enjoy amenities exclusive to Club members. The 7,800 Club seats are wider, padded and come equipped with an attached drink holder. To enhance the Club experience, members have wait service at their seats, featuring a menu complete with a variety of food specialties. Members also enjoy the comfort of four fan-friendly lounges where they can relax in an air-conditioned setting before, during and after the game. Restrooms on the Club level also have been upgraded.

The former Jack Murphy Stadium was renamed Qualcomm Stadium after the Qualcomm Corporation contributed $18 million for naming rights. Additionally, the total number of parking spaces at the stadium was increased to 19,000, including 461 handicapped spaces, making the parking lot at Qualcomm Stadium the second-largest in the National Football League. There was a significant increase in restroom capacity at the stadium, with the number of women's facilities almost doubled and the men's restroom capacity increased by 33 percent.

San Diego Stadium was originally built in 1967 as a home for the Chargers at a cost of $27 million. It was dedicated at a Chargers-Lions game on August 20, 1967, before a crowd of 45,988. The 1997 renovation marks the second major facelift to occur at the stadium. Originally built to a capacity of 52,000, the stadium was expanded in 1984 to increase seating capacity to 60,100. The most recent renovation increased the seating capacity at the stadium to approximately 70,000.

The team played before its first-ever sellout crowd on December 3, 1967, when 52,661 turned out to see the Chargers battle the Oakland Raiders. On January 14, 2007, the Chargers played before the biggest home crowd in team history when 68,810 fans filled the stadium for a playoff game against the New England Patriots.
